A number of representatives to the Grand Lodge are expected here on Monday evening next. The remainder will arrive the following night.

A new organ has been placed in Oddfellows Hall.

The members of the order here will assemble at their Lodge Room on Wednesday morning next at 8.45, and march, accompanied by the Citizen's Band, to the Hotel Davies, where the grand representatives will assemble and be conducted to the place of meeting, leaving on parade at 10.15 a. m.

SPECIAL DESPATCHES TO THE EXAMINER.

Halifax Carnival.

HALIFAX, Aug. 9.

It is estimated that fully twenty thousand people came to Halifax to see the carnival, and that they left not far from $100,000 in the city. The largest proportion of this was gathered in by the hotels and the cabmen.

The events of the fifth day of the carnival included baseball, cricket matches, firemen's tournament, another grand concert in the gardens, walking match, the informal opening of the dry dock by Mr. Brookfield, excursions on the harbor, and concluded by a grand ball in the province building, which was handsomely decorated for the occasion. The weather was most enjoyable. A great many of the remaining visitors left the city by yesterday's trains, and most of the others will leave to-day. The hackmen have reaped a rich harvest, and the Street Car Company have carried from 40,000 to 50,000 passengers during the week, not only scooping in enough extra to build and equip the Spring Garden extension, but also to largely increase their dividend. The Carnival wound up by a ball given in the Province Building. The seat of Government was gayly decorated, the committee in charge, aided by five blue jackets, having, in about twenty-four hours, transfomred the solemn-looking halls of legislation into an ideal dancing ball.

Boulanger's Trial.

PARIS, Aug. 9.

The trial of Boulanger before the high court of the Senate was resumed to-day. The Procureur General, continuing his address, charged that Boulanger held a veritable political court at Clermont, formed when in command of troops there; of originating secret intrigues for electoral agitation, and a system for corrupting the officials. Notwithstanding these acts, he had written the war office disclaiming any connection with what was done in his name. The Procureur General declared that there were documents before the court which clearly marked the downward path of Boulanger from insubordination to intrigue, falsehood and conspiracy. The Government had evidence to show that Boulanger tried to have conveyed to Prince Bismarck information that Boulanger only desired to be appointed consul for life.

An Investigation.

QUEBEC, Aug. 9.

An investigation is likely to be ordered by the Government into certain charges brought by the English Board of Trade against the Shipping Office here. It is asserted that the proceeds of certain bills of exchange drawn for the relief of Captain Thomson and the crew of the bark Peeress, wrecked near Gaspe, some time ago, by collision with an English cruiser, were never applied to legitimate objects.

Poisoning Case.

MONTREAL, Aug. 9.

Regarding the poisoning case reported yesterday, it now transpires that a child five years old was also given morphine instead of quinine. The doctor blames the druggist for interfering with the prescription, while the druggist says the doctor was to blame in bringing a wrong prescription. No money has yet been paid. The child's parents and lawyers still have charge of the matter.

Weather Bulletin.

New Mode of Collecting Bad Debts.

THE New World Uniform Collecting Co., Head Office for Canada in Toronto, has opened a branch at Charlottetown. The plan of operation is as follows:

Business men may become members by paying $10. Then, if they have any poor accounts to collect, a notice is sent to the debtor that, unless the debt it paid by a certain date, a uniformed collector will pay him a visit. The collector wears a blue uniform, glistening with brass buttons, and if he fails to get the money the first time, he promises to appear again. After three calls, he comes before the delinquent with a badge upon his hat, reading "Collector of Bad Debts." This generally brings the money. If not, he goes on collecting until a settlement of the account be made, the creditor paying a percentage on amount collected.

The company do not make it a business to prosecute sick or distressed people, who, by their affliction, are unable to pay; but trust to the good sense of the merchant not to inflict annoyance on the helpless, but who, in justice to their own families, will not be imposed upon by tough customers and those who can't, but won't pay.

Another much-needed want is supplied by the facilities afforded to members for recovering bad debts from parties who have left the Island, but who may now be in a position to satisfy their obligations.
