

Work.

No work is common in God's sight, I done with a great aim; The laborer, toiling for his bread, May glorify His name.

A woman in her lonely cot, Beset with want and care, May do a good and noble work For Him who placed her there.

A little child at home or school, His little work may do For Jesus, who was once a child, So loving, pure, and true.

The one great aim in life should be To do the will of God In daily life, as our dear Lord When on this earth he trod.

O Father, Son and Holy Ghost, We thank Thee for Thy love, And pray Thee fit us for the work, Thou hast for us above.

F. E. COZENS.

Lincoln and the Quakeress.

"Great thoughts come from the heart," said a French philosopher. He might have added, "and are expressed in few and fitting words." No American ever so truly illustrated this aphorism as did Mr. Lincoln in his speech at Gettysburg. He had the art of making a perfect speech in a few words. Another speech of his also illustrates his wonderful art.

During the war Mrs. Gurney, an eminent Quakeress, sought an interview with Mr. Lincoln in order to animate his spirit by exhortation and prayer. One rainy Sunday morning she, in company with three friends, saw the President in his private room at the White House.

In a short address she assured him of the sympathy which she and the friends felt for the burden-bearing Executive. She then knelt in fervent prayer for him and the country.

As Mrs. Gurney was leaving, the President took her hand, and, holding it for a few moments in silence, said: "I am glad of this interview. In the very responsible situation in which I am placed, as an humble instrument in the hands of my Heavenly Father, I have desired that all my words and actions may be in accordance with His will; but if, after endeavoring to do my best with the light which He affords me, I find my efforts fail, then I must believe that for some purpose unknown to me, He wills it otherwise.

"If I had had my way, this war would never have been, but nevertheless it came. If I had had my way, the war would have ended before this; but nevertheless it still continues.

"We must conclude that He permits it for some wise purpose, though we may not be able to comprehend it. For we cannot but believe that He who made the world still governs it."

MRS. SOPHIA POTTER'S Bone Rheumatic Liniment

IT is a fact worth knowing that Mrs. Sophia Potter's Bone Rheumatic Liniment cannot be excelled for removing pain and soreness. It is no worthless trash, as some may suppose, simply because they have been imposed upon by others but is positively the "King of Pain." Sore throat cannot stand before its power. All we ask is a trial that you may be convinced of the truth of our statement. Our experience is that one bottle tried also sells many more.

See circular for particulars and testimonials, and try a bottle—it will not fail to do all that is promised.
