

Some cough mixtures smother the cough. But the next breeze fans it into life again.

Better put the cough out. That is, better go deeper and smother the fires of inflammation. Troches cannot do this. Neither can plain cod-liver oil.

But Scott's Emulsion can. The glycerine soothes and makes comfortable; the hypophosphites give power and stability to the nerves; and the oil feeds and strengthens the weakened tissues.

On Keeping Promises.

The sacredness of promises is too carelessly considered. There seems to be a growing laxity in regard to keeping them, and very few realize that a promise made and accepted in good faith, when broken without good cause, comes dangerously near that point where it may be called a lie. The tendency towards broken promises seem to be on the increase, and not many are as scrupulous about keeping their word as should be. Occasionally one hears of a fellow-being who is so reliable that his or her "word is as good as a bond," but such cases are rare, and in most instances it is safest to know the character of the one concerned most thoroughly, before trusting too much to either his veracity or his sincerity.

Much of this indifference to keeping promises is the result of early training. Children have their sense of truth dulled by the too frequent habit some parents have of promising what they never intend to do. Unwise mothers, in their haste to promise or threaten their children, even from the cradle, with rewards and punishments which they never mean to give, and so imitative a period the children can hardly fail to be impressed by such examples.—Canadian Churchman.

God's Favors.

God multiplies His favors. Day by day and hour by hour they come trooping along according to existing need. So continuous and opportune are mercies and bounties that we too often take them as a matter of course, attribute them to secondary causes, and fail to trace them with due intelligence and gratitude, to their divine source. Never ought the Hand that feeds us and the Heart which responds in love, sympathy and kindness, be forgotten or acknowledged. Goodness ever deserves recognition.

Reverence in Worship.

In the course of a sermon preached on the occasion of the consecration of a new church the Archbishop of Dublin spoke some remarkable words on the growing want of reverence, which is one of the characteristics of the present day. He said: "It had been said by thoughtful observers of men and society at the present day that reverence was not a characteristic of the age they lived in, and he was afraid it must be admitted that the remark was true. He knew that many were disposed, as they approached the evening of their life, to draw an unfavorable comparison between society as it now was in its religious aspect and in other aspects and what it was in their early days. He did not undertake to assert that there was less of reverence for God and for sacred things prevailing in society now than there was forty or fifty years ago, though he was inclined to think that it was so. But at all events, as the world got older, and, as it considered itself, wiser, this spirit of reverence could not be said to be on the increase, but rather to be growing less. There was a special danger threatening religious life and the growth of true religion in the church, and it needed to be guarded against. A spirit of reverence was essential to the continued existence of vital religion in the soul—no man could be religious in any true sense of the word unless he believed in God and realized His presence. It was unbelief and disbelief, or indifference or carelessness, that made men irreverent and undevout, and a man's religion was genuine or unreal, according as the spirit of reverence filled his heart or was absent from it. The man of reverent spirit would have regard to the sanctity which attached itself to God's Word and God's house. What was the remedy for irreverent distractions in prayer and worship? The greatest help to reverence was to be found, he believed in prayerful meditation. If they approached the service of God without thought or preparation, came to church as they came to a concert, was it any wonder that outside things and interests which occupied their minds up to the church door should accompany them inside it; and that, no effort having been made beforehand to place themselves in the presence of God, they found it hard to fix their thoughts upon Him and His worship, and that they scarcely even made the attempt? That being so, was it any wonder that the traffic of the world trampled down the spirit of reverence and devotion?

You wouldn't allow the parson to dictate to you as to how to run your store, or office, or shop; or farm, or house. But there are a good many of you who are very fond of dictating to him how to run the parish. You pay him you say. And so you pay your butcher and your baker, your lawyer and your doctor, but that doesn't give you the right to tell them how to manage their own business. You get value for your money anyway.—Exchange.

Tortured by Itching

Women are almost driven insane.

Instant Relief in Dr. A. W. Chase's Ointment

One of the most distressing symptoms imaginable is the almost unbearable itching which is an accompaniment of Leucorrhoea or whites. The nerves are irritated by the poisonous discharge, and the result is an itching which is only rendered more excruciating by rubbing or scratching.

Especially at night, when the body is warm, the patient is tormented beyond the powers of human endurance. Sleep of rest is out of the question. Nervousness, irritability and despondency are a natural result.

In these offices there are on the file thousands of letters from grateful women who have found in Dr. Chase's Ointment a quick and certain cure for this itching to which women are subject.

During the expectant period many women suffer similar agony from itching of the parts, or itching piles, which are absolutely cured by Dr. Chase's Ointment.

The first application of this great discovery of Dr. A. W. Chase will afford prompt relief. At all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

OLD MAN'S EVIDENCE

Mr. H. S. Barnes, of Rat Portage, writes in no uncertain terms:

of Dodd's Kidney Pills

Rat Portage, Sept. 18.—No old gentleman in Rat Portage is better known or thought of than Mr. H. S. Barnes, father of ex-mayor Barnes, of this place.

"Some months ago," writes Mr. Barnes "my wife asked me to get her some of Dodd's Kidney Pills. She was suffering from kidney trouble and I got a box but she never lived to take them. I had long been suffering from symptoms similar to those of my wife and these now become severe, and having a box of Dodd's Kidney Pills in the house, I resolved to try them. The first box eased these symptoms, and continuing their use I was completely cured. Dodd's Kidney Pills possess genuine merit."

Weary of Experimenting

With salves, suppositories and ointments and dreading a surgical operation, scores and hundreds have turned to Dr. A. W. Chase's ointment and found it an absolute cure for the first application brings relief from the terrible itching, and it is very seldom that more than one box is required in effect a permanent cure.

For 30 Years

We have been studying paint—its best composition and its best application. We have only one aim. That is to make the best paint possible. The markets of the world are open to us. If all white lead or all zinc made the best paint it would be wise for us to make it so. But experience shows that a combination of these two substances makes far better paint than either one alone. Therefore, as we are neither white lead dealers, nor zinc dealers, we use enough of each to produce the best result, and with pure oil and the best drier, we make the paints that have made us.
