Literary Notes.

The first issue of McClure's Magazine is a surprise in many ways. The cover is designed by the famous artist, Will H. Low, and, unlike the covers of most new magazines, it really ranks in beauty and effectiveness with the best magazines. Another surprise in the magazine is its price: it is just half that of its older rivals. Then, it is very fully illustrated. This first issue contains ninety-five pictures and fourteen different articles. The veteran journalist De Blowitz has written an article which will provoke thought and discussion on Europe at the present moment, in which he characterizes the men and measures of the great nations of Europe. The new department, invented by this magazine, "The Edge of the Future," contains some very interesting matter gained by interviews with Thomas A. Edison and Alexander Graham Bell. There are three short stories: one by the brilliant young writer, Gilbert Parker, one by Mrs. Robert Louis Stevenson, and a typical story by Joel Chandler Harris. The conductors of the magazine announce contributions for the next two or three issues: Stevenson, Kipling, Thomas Hardy, Octave Thuaier, Conan Doyle, W. H. Howells, Elizabeth Stuart Phelps Ward, Henry M. Stanley, Archibald Forbes and a series of interviews with the Venetian Architectural Engineer, Daudet, Emile Zola, Camille Flammarion; in short, the contributors to the magazine embrace nearly all the greatest names in literature. This magazine, with the completeness in illustration, the timeliness and interest of the articles at its extraordinary price, which is only $1.50 a year, and 15 cents a copy, make the advent of McClure's Magazine noteworthy. Published by S. S. McClure, Limited, 743, 745 Broadway, New York City.

With the June number Worthington's Magazine completes its first volume under the most favorable auspices. Its Table of Contents shows a remarkable variety of timely topics most of which will be of more than temporary value, and the names of contributors are such as would do credit to any magazine ten times its age. Among those are, Mary A. Livermore; Edgar Fawcett; Hon. S. G. W. Benjamin; Prof. G. Frederick Wright; Rev. George M. Stone, D. D.; Lillian Whiting; Helen Campbell; Mrs. Jean Porter Radd; Clinton Scouler; Rev. Francis E. Clark, D., President of the Society of Christian Endeavor; Richard Barton; William Francis Barnard; Charlotte Perkins Stetson; Eben E. Rexford; Lida A. Churchill; Robert Beverly Hale; Sara A. Underwood; Ella Wheeler Wilcox; Charlotte M. Holloway; D. B. Waggener; Martha McCulloch Williams; Mary Bradley; Spencer Leigh Hughes; Arthur Dudley Vinton; James Buckham; Imogen Clark; Kate Milner Rabb; Jean de Rué Burnett; Hester M. Poole; Alice W. Rollins, with many other names of gift and popular authors. It has been enlarged to sixteen pages, and shows steady advancement in everything that helps to make up an exceptionally bright, attractive, very entertaining and instructive Magazine. Indeed, in genuine interest no other magazine excels this ever welcome visitor to our table.

Donahoe's Magazine for June is as bright and cheery as the month of roses in which it comes forth. It is particularly rich in valuable and entertaining features, and adds additional emphasis to its claims as a monthly periodical of the very highest rank. A striking paper in this number is one contributed by Professor N. S. Shaler, of Harvard University, dealing with "The Undiscovered Mineral Wealth of the World," and the other striking features are: "Excellent papers on the 'The Woman's Club Movement,' by Estelle M. H. Merrill; 'Catholicity in the Maritime Provinces (illustrated), by John Boden; 'Twenty years of Ireland's 'Battle' (Part II.), by Hon. John F. Finlay; 'Irish Writers in London,' by Eugene Davis; 'A Bit of Home-spun,' by Herbert M. Sylvester; 'In American Studies,' by Henry Austin; 'The School of the Future,' by Rev. Joseph V. Tracey, and 'Where Columbus is Buried,' (illustrated) by Richard H. Clarke, L. D. The poetry of the number is contributed by James Jeffrey Roche, W. D. Kelley, J. C. and Charles S. O'Neill, while the regular departments are exceptionally bright, timely and interesting. It is a grand number of a grand publication. Donahoe's Magazine Co., Publishers, Boston, Mass.

The number of Harper's Weekly published May 24th, contains many timely and interesting features. Prominent among these is an article by Senator Wolcott, of Colorado, giving the Western view of the Silver question; a sketch by Julian Ralph, entitled "A Day with a Chinaman," a valuable paper on Nicaragua, accompanied by a portrait of the President of that Republic and numerous illustrations of scenery; a Decoration Day poem by Margaret E. Sangster, illustrated; an article, with illustrations, on the Swedish Tricentennial Celebration at Minneapolis; an illustration of the new steamship Campana, etc. etc. The illustrations of the World's Fair include views of the Macmonnies Fountain, of the Northern Entrance to the Machinery Building, and of the Obelisk and Stock Building. The usual variety of short articles, stories, thoughtful editorials, etc., aid in making this a very valuable number, unrivalled in the quality of its contents.

The Midsummer Number of "Tales from Town Topics" has just swept over the land with a cool breeze that is very grateful to a warm and languorous public. It is a remarkably gay assortment of short stories, sketches, poems and witticisms culled from the New York society journal, and contains, in addition to this olla podrida of reproduced material, a complete and original novel, entitled "Six Months in Hades," by Clive Irene Clingman. The story took the prize of $1,000 in a contest instituted by the publishers of Town Topics, and is a remarkably ingenious and well constructed tale. For a summer book with which to while away a lazy afternoon, "Tales from Town Topics" is peculiarly attractive.—Town Topics, 21 West Twenty-third street, New York.

The contents of the next number of Harper's Bazar, published June 3rd, will be of an especially attractive character. Among other things, there will be an elegant portrait of the Princess Eulalia; a delightful sketch of her visit to Havana, Cuba, written by Mary Elizabeth Springer; a pleasant article by Eliza R. Selmore, entitled "Planked Shad Dinners on the Potomac;" an article on "Women as Art Patrons," by Helen Livingston Smith; and one by Jesse Lynch Williams, entitled, "When Girls come to Princeton." There will also be a special eight-page supplement containing the third installment of Edna Lyell's popular story, "Up to Right the Wrong," handsomely illustrated.

Terrible Russian Atrocities.

HORRIBLE STORY OF THE TREATMENT OF OFFENDERS SENTENCED TO SIBERIA.

A terrible, if true, picture of the treatment of political prisoners in Russia is presented in a series of letters originally written on stray fragments of paper by Yavli Yagachoff and recently published in Berlin. Yagachoff was arrested in Moscow in February, 1882, on the denunciation of his house prisoner, and was promptly condemned to death, but was finally sentenced to the silver mines of Nerzhinsk for life. The journey to the mines occupied 18 months of unspeakable misery, and in less than a year afterward Yagachoff went mad and killed a guard, after which he was kept in a straight-jacket until his death. One of the letters telling of the voyage from Tumen to Tomsk runs as follows: "The prison yard at Tumen was almost full when we arrived, but since our arrival fresh carcasses of convicts kept coming from Perin and Jakaterinburg, so that we were getting more and more packed together, until we could neither move nor squat. The same fate awaited us on board the ship; 900 of us were put in an iron cage hardly capable of containing 400 had one wanted to assign a resting-place to each. The strongest of us offered to serve as bedding at night time for the women and the children, who otherwise would have had to stand up; others managed somehow to support each other. At the hour of our rest our eyes presented the appearance of an iron on the common grave or a battlefield. The typhoid fever was soon upon us, and the 900 of us were at the moment of starting, we arrived less than 700. From Tomsk we went on by land, and one night we were assailed by wolves; the escort and the locksmith who had the keys of our irons escaped, and when the daylight appeared we saw that the convicts, whose bloody remains hung yet chained to the survivors, had been devoured by the wolves. Having reached the mines in the valley of Algaistal, near Irkutsk, the male convicts were confined in cells dug out in the very mine and locked by iron doors, eight or ten in each cell. We slept on the frozen ground, unable to warm ourselves through the contact of our bones, for we were chained each to a barrow."

A FEARFUL EXPERIENCE—Albert Hansen, a seaman of the American fishing schooner Stranger, was brought to Halifax on Tuesday from St. Pierre, Miquelon. Hansen had a fearful experience and was the only survivor of a dory in which were himself and two Nova Scotian fishermen were going out to their vessel and they offered to take Hansen to the schooner. The wind developed to a gale, and Hansen, being unable to get on the schooner, was left on a rock known as Green Island, just outside of French St. Pierre. The dory was smashed, and Hansen never afterwards saw any of his companions; he managed to get on Green Island, but had his winter boots torn off, and for nearly three days went around the island without food or shelter, and had his feet badly frozen. He finally attracted the attention of a French fishing smack from St. Pierre, and was taken on board. Hansen does not know the names of his companions, nor what vessel they belonged to. His feet are still in bad condition.

FOR OVER FIFTY YEARS
AN OLD AND WELL-TRIED REMEDY.—Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup has been used for over fifty years by millions of mothers for their children while teething, with perfect success. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic, and is the best remedy for diarrhoea. It is pleasant to the taste. Sold by druggists in every part of the world. Twenty-five cents a bottle. Its value is incalculable. Be sure and ask for Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup and take no other kind.

The key with which Queen Victoria opened the Imperial Institute recently, was in itself a beautiful emblem of the Empire. The gold for the handle came from South Africa, for the stem from British Columbia, for the wreath and leaves on the stem from Victoria (Australia), for the bit from Queensland, while the silver came from Australia, the diamonds from Cape Colony, the rubies from Burmah and the pearls from Ceylon. Such are the things which educate public opinion as to the enormous wealth of the British realm.

F. W. HEATH, of Toronto, was cured of a cough that followed a gripe, by using Hawker's Tolu. He writes Mr. Hawker a grateful letter of acknowledgment.

1893 SWIFT!

"THEAT THE 'SWIFT' is the best wheel to none in AMERICA, and that it is second only to the 'SWIFT' is a fact which every man will say after a fair test of this Machine's powers.
Here are a few plain reasons why the SWIFT, made by the Coventry Machine Company, Coventry, England, the greatest Cycle Manufacturers in the world, is the acme of all that is great and good in a strictly high-grade wheel:—
BECAUSE it is simple, and the adjustment and bearings accurate.
BECAUSE it is light and strong, proportions not weight give strength.
BECAUSE its roller forged chain reduces friction to a minimum.
BECAUSE it is not possible to make a better wheel.

Many more equally strong reasons can be given why the "SWIFT" is the wheel. I will have a sample wheel here in a few days. Hold your orders until you have seen it. Now is the time to buy the "SWIFT."

COLUMBIAS.

I BEG leave to inform the people of Charlottetown and all creation generally that I am Sole Agent for the above Bicycles, and that this celebrated wheel can only be obtained through me as far as this Island is concerned. I am continually receiving letters and postal cards—sent to the Pope Manufacturing Co. and returned by them to me—from persons here, asking for catalogues and rates. One young man—a youth of 18 summers—signed himself "Brigadier Colonel," and another wanted a special reduction as he was "an orphan with a large family." It will be a shorter and easier way for brigadier colonels, orphans and other unfortunates to come to me direct for information, and thereby save their postage stamps. Please remember that there is only one price for Columbias the world over, and that the purchase of a cheaply constructed Bicycle is a most expensive experiment.
