WORTH SEEING—A load of clay for nugs from Klondike will be exhibited at the Bank of England at London on next Monday.

PRETTY CALENDAR—A very prettily illustrated calendar has been presented to us with the compliments of Mr. W. W. Hatfield, who is here representing the New York Life Insurance Co.

ON THE ICE—The owners of fast horses in Pownal and vicinity are putting in some excellent work on Pownal ice. It is expected that a race meeting will be held here very soon.

AGED CLERGYMAN WEDS.—Rev. Henry Wood, of Maine Bay, and Mrs. Maria Wolfe, of West Dublin, N.S., were married at Bridgewater on Jan. 2nd. The groom is 73 years of age and the bride 45.

A LARGE ISSUE—According to the Publisher's Circular, 6008 new books were published in 1898, 236 fewer than 1897. Novels, including juveniles, numbered 1758, or a decrease of 202.

BRITAIN'S FOREIGN TRADE—The Board of Trade returns of Great Britain's foreign trade for the month of December show an increase over 1897 of £3,298,100 in imports and £2,153,400 in exports. The exports for the year amounted to £470,404,198, as compared with £451,028,860 in 1897, for the corresponding period of exports were £333,399,792, against £234,219,798.

ALL RIGHT AGAIN.—The Fort Bragg Advocate says: Dr. James Henderson is able to be out and a tend to his duties again, after a very severe sick spell. The doctor was taken ill about the first of October with the grippe, which developed into pneumonia, followed by inflammatory rheumatism. He is getting along nicely now, being able to attend to his professional duties. His many friends are glad to see him on deck again.

A QUEBEC TRAGEDY—News has reached St. Hyacinthe, Quebec, of a shocking tragedy at Yamaska. A man named Tonacourt had visited the neighboring village with his boy of twelve. Both returned home under the influence of liquor in the evening and they quarrelled; the father dealing the boy a terrible blow on the head with a bottle. The boy was unconscious at latest accounts, and the doctor had no hopes of his recovery.

A TERRIBLE DEATH—The list of disasters so far reported at Dawson is very small. The most sensational death is that of Dominion Surveyor J. H. Caldenhead, on October 27. He fell through the ice into the Klondike river near Dawson and was unable to pull himself out. He slowly froze to death, with his head sticking out of the water, his hands spread out on the ice and some important bill notes thrown back from the hole.

HORRIBLE ACCIDENT—A horrible accident is reported from Rockport, Dorchester parish, in this country. On Wednesday last Joseph Tower, a resident of that place, was cutting in the woods near his home when a tree lodged on a windfall, some feet above the ground. Mr. Tower climbed the windfall to free the tree, cutting off the top of a small fir beneath him to facilitate the work. The tree suddenly gave away and Mr. Tower was thrown down, falling directly on the sharp point of the fir which he had cut with such force that it pierced the body for several inches, reaching nearly to his kidneys. He was removed to his home and every assistance rendered without avail. He died on Friday morning leaving a wife and two children.—Moncton Times.

Burton and Tobacco.

Tobacco, divine, rare, superexcellent tobacco, which goes far beyond all the panaceas, potable gold, and philosophers' stones, a sovereign remedy to all diseases; a good vomit, I confess, a virtuous herb, if it be well qualified, opportunely taken and medicinally used; but as it is commonly abused by most men, who take it as tinkers do ale, 'tis a plague, a mischief, a violent purger of goods, lands, health; hellish, devilish and damned tobacco, the ruin and overthrow of body and soul.—"Anatomy of Melancholy."

An Appropriate Symbol.

"Snagsby is a member of the Vegetarian club, isn't he?"
"I guess he is. I notice he wears an 18 carat badge."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

It rains on an average of 208 days in the year in Ireland, about 150 in England, at Kezan about 90 days and in Siberia only 60 days.

THE PASTORAL ON RITUALISM

LONDON, Eng., Jan. 10.—The Archbishop of York has followed the example of the Archbishop of Canterbury and issued a long pastoral letter dealing clearly with the various questions of ritualism which have been causing so much confusion in the Established Church. He holds that the saying of daily services is an obligation on the clergyman, and insists upon the faithful observance of the holy days and seasons of the Christian year. On the other hand, there is no authority whatever, he says, for the observance of any other festivals than those contained in the calendar of the Book of Common Prayer. As to ceremonies, no clergyman has a right to introduce into his church any ceremony which the Prayer Book does not clearly authorize or sanction. The Ornaments Rubric, he says, ought not to be interpreted by any clergyman at his own discretion. The ceremonial use of incense, he declares, cannot be sanctioned. The sprinkling of water upon any congregation, or upon individuals, falls under the same condemnation as to the reservation of the Sacrament. He holds that but one course can be adopted—that of loyal obedience to the Rubric as it now stands. Meanwhile the Bishop of London, whose see is a hot-bed of the most advanced ritualism, has forbidden the clergy of St. Albans, Holborn, one of the "highest" churches in the Kingdom to indulge in requiem masses, the "asperges" and some minor observances. There was some expectation that the prohibition would cause trouble, but the clergy have recognized the Bishop's authority and submitted to it, while protesting against the exercise of it.

SUCCESSFUL MEN

MANY OF THEM ARE HANDICAPPED WITH CATARRHAL DISEASES.

Dr. A. W. CHASE

COMES TO THEIR AID.

Success in life is almost impossible for a man with bad breath. Nobody wants to do business with him. Nobody wants to associate with him. He is handicapped everywhere. Offensive breath comes from catarrh; sometimes from catarrh of the stomach, sometimes of the lungs, sometimes of the head, nose, and throat. It is from catarrh somewhere, and catarrh is another name for uncleanness.

Many men understand this, and make every effort to cure it, but it is beyond the reach of ordinary practice.

No self-respecting man can ignore catarrh. If he has it in any form he makes constant effort to be rid of it.

There is something about the manner of life and the climate of Canada that seems to breed diseases of the mucous membrane. Medical science ordinarily doesn't try to cure catarrh; it "relieves" it; but Dr. Chase has been curing catarrh for over thirty years, and his name is blessed by thousands who have shaken off the grasp of this insidious disease.
