Testimonial From Duluth, Minnesota.

DEAR MRS. ROSS,—Having tested your "MAGIC HEALER," I wish to express my gratitude to you by this testimonial, which you can use, if you think it will assist you in selling it: Having cut my hand severely with a chisel, the corner of the chisel having entered the palm of my hand, making a long and deep cut. I applied your "MAGIC HEALER" at once, and after three applications I was able to go to work, and in three days the cut was healed up.

Yours truly,
ALONZO H. LAVERS.

What a Nova Scotian Captain Thinks of the National Policy.

THE ADVANTAGE OF HAVING DOMINION REPRESENTATIVES IN SYMPATHY WITH THE DOMINION GOVERNMENT AT OTTAWA.

Among the masters of Nova Scotian schooners at Cardigan Bridge this fall was Capt. William Ross, of Port LaTour, Shelburne County, N. S. Capt. Ross commands the schooner Edith A., of Pubnico, and is a fine representative of the hardy mariners of the Maritime Provinces.

Last spring he was sent to England by Mr. Fraser of Halifax to bring out the yacht Uviva from Southampton, a vessel of only sixteen tons burthen; and the log of the voyage, which was published in the Halifax papers, showed that the passage was accomplished in the good time of eighteen days.

Talking with Capt. Ross one evening, your correspondent happened to ask about Thomas Robertson, Esq, who formerly represented Shelburne County at Ottawa. This opened the way for the Captain to give his views on political subjects. After stating that Mr. Robertson—after being defeated in 1887—had left Shelburne County for New York to engage in insurance business, the Captain said that the present member for Shelburde County (General Laurie) was doing a great deal more for the people of that constituency than the Robertsons, either father or son, had done. Why, said he, during the three years since the General was elected, he has got more public money for Shelburne County than was got in twenty years before.

Can you tell us, Captain, what public works General Laurie has got for his County?

Yes, I know of some of them in our part of the country We have a fine whistling buoy at Port Latour built lately that is a great advantage to all the vessels passing the coast. Then the government wharf at Barrington has been extended out some 500 feet so that the steamer can come right up to it at any tide. Formerly the steamer had to wait until high tide before freight or passengers could be landed, but now no delay is occasioned. Then there is another public work at Port Negro that Colonel Laurie has got $5000 for, viz: the canal or haul over from Port Negro to Clyde River. This canal has been opened out and deepened, and rafts and scows drawing five feet of water can pass through it, and by this means poor men wanting lumber can get it more cheaply than by having to haul it by land or freight it in schooners. In fact, said the Captain, General Laurie has proved himself a right kind of representative. He can get what his constituents want, and he is getting more popular every day.

Will he be elected next election?

Yes, with a larger majority than he had before.

How does the National Policy affect the Nova Scotia fishermen?

Well, they don't grumble very much. Some say it would be better to have free trade with the States; but we don't want the Yankees to have it all their own way. Some years ago the Gloucester fish merchants used to supply all the fish for the lumbermen on the St. John River. They used to send it clear up to Canada. Now we send our codfish, that we have had in pickle until the 1st of September, over to St. John and sell it at good prices. You see, fish cured in that way only wants two or three fine days' drying, when it is merchantable for northern consumption; and it don't take many of those big thick fellows to make a quintal. The National Policy shuts out the Yankees, and St. John now supplies the fish that formerly came from Gloucester.

Well, how are the people over your way getting along? The Grits say that everyone is being ruined by the National Policy.

Oh! that is only political talk, said the Captain. The Nova Scotians are doing well. Look at the fleet of vessels out of Mahone Bay, Lunenburg, Shelburne, Pubnico, Yarmouth, all along the coast of Nova Scotia in fact. Why at Port Latour there is a place called Smith Town and every man in it is well off. They all have money more or less and own shares in vessels. The fishing vessels are nearly all owned in shares, and perhaps thirty or forty different owners will have shares in one schooner. They work on the co-operative system. As soon as a young man saves $50 or $100, he invests it in a schooner and then goes to work in her himself, if he can get a birth; and nearly everyone in the Nova Scotia fishing fleet own shares in the vessel they are in or in some others from the same port.

Don't the young men go away to the States as they do on this Island? No, very few of them go, and those that do go often come back to stay with their parents in the winter. The young men who stay right at home do the best in Nova Scotia.

The captain then branched off into other subjects, and the interview on public questions ended.

One thing is noticeable in what the captain says, viz: that it is a good thing to have an influential representative at Ottawa. Just compare what General Laurie has done for his county with what the Island members have done for this province.

What public works have they got built during the past three years? What influence have they at Ottawa?

Surely the people of this province will now see the fatal mistake they made when they sent opponents of the government to represent them; and will take the first chance to rectify the error.

Yours truly,
LIBERAL CONSERVATIVE.

Mr. Foster's Mission.

The Finance Minister is apparently doing good work in the West Indies. An Antigua newspaper of November 20 gives an account of a conference had by him with the Legislative Council of that Island, in which the question of reciprocal trade was fully discussed. Mr. Foster gave expression to the Canadian desire for freer commercial relations with the West India Islands, by differential duties on their sugar and other products, in return for which Canada would require a differential duty on the things the people of the West Indies buy—the products of the forest, coals, etc., sufficient to turn the trade of the West Indies from the United States to this country. In reply, most of the members of the Council spoke favorably of the proposal.

Mr. James Burns spoke and referred to the great drawbacks to a direct trade with Canada, viz, the non-existence of banking faailities. He pointed out that a Canadian house could not place an order here, nor vice versa, without the intervention of and paying toll to a London or New York bank. He also referred to the absence of a postal money order system and parcel post, and the necessity for sending out agents to learn our particular requirements.

Mr. Searville agreed with the remarks of Mr. Burns anent banking arrangements, money order and parcel post systems He had always advocated closer trade relations with Canada in his place in the council, and especially when reciprocity with the States was mooted. A long experience of the trade of the Island assured him that, with the exception of pitch pine lumber, all the supplies we get from the States could be obtained from Canada, and the only requirements would be to learn the quality and description best adapted to the use of our peasantry. For instance, pork used in other places for the table, with our people it took the place of butter or lard for frying purposes. Hence a very fat article was required. With reference to the produce of the island, the Maritime Provinces were at the present our best customers for molasses. The effect of the McKinley bill would be to make the Dominion our only customer for that article. He had for a long time desired to see an importation of Prince Edward Island horses, and was glad a trial had been made by a late arrival. With reference to manufactured goods—woolens, shoes, etc.—he was of opinion that Canada could also supply our requirements.

Other speakers, including the governor, favored Mr. Foster's proposal, and the Antigua paper says:—

"Mr Foster, in reply to the remark of Mr. Burns about banking facilities, stated that they would follow as a consequence of increased trade relations, that he saw no reason why the postal money order system should not be soon put in force. The difficulty about the parcel post was that there was no regular direct communication and they could not send the parcels by the steamers from the United States. On the general question he stated the interests of the Dominion were parallel with ours—he admired the conservativeness of the speakers. Of course it was necessary for them to consider their interests, and he hoped that arrangements would be arrived at to mutual advantage. He thanked the members of the council for the attention they had paid to his remarks, and the interest they had evinced and which he believed was sincere.

The Peter J. Macdonald Refrigerator.

In a recent number of the Cape Ann Breeze we notice a short description of this useful invention. Like all enterprises of a similar character, this machine had to meet and overcome many obstacles, and consequently it took a long time to convince the public of its utility and practibility. Now, however, there can be no doubt that it does possess these qualities; for Messrs. Vass & Haskell, of Gloucester, had one constructed a few weeks since on their wharf in that city, and it works admirably. What they say of its operation is this: It will make from twenty-five to thirty tons of ice a day; this ice will cost not more than one dollar per ton and probably much less; it will freeze bait of any description in four hours and keep it in perfect condition in any season or in any climate; it will either make ice or refrigerate at the same time, or do both at once.

This article is patented in Canada as well as in the United States. It will beyond a doubt confer immense advantages on all engaged in the fishing industry because now they will be able to bring their fish to the best markets fresh and in good order.

The inventor and patentee of this machine, whose name it bears is a P. E Islander, a brother to Michael Macdonald, of Goose River, King's County. He is therefore a son of the venerable old lady, whose centenary was celebrated with such eclat last June, and a nephew to His Lordship Bishop McIntyre.

Truro is after its delinquent tax payers. One hundred and sixty-three warrants of distress for taxes have been issued from the town office.

If Hon. Mr. Foster succeeds in negotiating such a treaty as he suggests, he will do an excellent thing for Canada, and for the West Indies as well. Unlike the United States, the West Indies are not our rivals in anything, nor we of theirs. One country is the exact commercial complement of the other. Indeed nothing better could happen both countries than political consolidation; so that the fullest and most permanent of reciprocity arrangement could be established between them.
