Happenings Of The Week

Marjorie, Lady Pentland and her daughter the Honourable Margaret Sinclair entertained at a family house party at their home in Surrey on V. E. Day. The guests included Lord and Lady Dudley Gordon, Lady Sinclair and Mr. David Lindsay.

Lady Pentland is a daughter of the late Marquess and Marchioness of Aberdeen and Temair and as a young girl lived at Rideau Hall, Ottawa, where her father was Governor-General of Canada. Lady Pentland has visited this Province on her various trips to Canada.

The impressive graduation in Centennial year of the Charlotte-tova Hospital School of Nursing, followed by a most delightful reception at this modern hospital recalls traditions upon which the hospital is founded.

When the epidemic of small-pox visited Charlottetown in the year 1885, three sisters from the City Hospital volunteered their professional services.

A quotation from a poem of that era is as follows:

"Three Sisters vowed to charity,
Out of the well-trained city band,
Skilled nurses they, and fit prepared,
Came forward as with life in hand."

Sister St. Thomas never recovered from the effects of her labours in the improvised hospital. She died in Montreal the following Spring.

So in the Charlottetown Hospital the Florence Nightingale tradition is kept alive by the Sister St. Thomas tradition.

Four hundred attended the dance held at the Rolloway Club sponsored by the Nurses Alumnae of the Charlottetown Hospital in honour of the Centennial Graduating Class. Dr. Cameron introduced the lovely young graduates. The chaperones were: Mrs. J. E. Corrigan, Mrs. Robert Bradley and Mrs. Edward McGuigan.

Senator and Mrs. J. P. MacIntyre arrive this week-end from Ottawa and will be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred McNeill.

Judge and Mrs. Harold Palmer have been in Halifax for the graduation of their daughter, Miss Suzanne Palmer, who received the degree of Bachelor of Arts from Dalhousie University.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hyndman have returned from Halifax where they were attending the graduation exercises of Dalhousie University. Their daughter, Miss Nancy Hyndman received the degree of Bachelor of Science.

Mr. and Mrs. N. H. DeBlois, Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Hutcheson, and Mrs. William Massey, have returned from Halifax where they attended the graduation exercises of the Royal Victoria School of Nursing. Miss Norah DeBlois, Miss Helen Massey, and Miss Katherine Hutcheson received their diploma and pin. Dr. Penfield addressed the graduating class.

Dr. and Mrs. P. A. Creelman left Friday for Toronto, to attend the graduation at the Toronto University of their daughter, Carol. After the graduation they will visit their daughter, Mrs. William M. Naus, their grandchildren and Lieutenant Naus in London, Ont. Then Dr. and Mrs. Creelman will proceed to Winnipeg where Dr. Creelman will attend the annual meeting of the Tuberculosis Association. The doctor will also visit hospitals en route. Dr. and Mrs. Creelman will be away for a month.

The Executive of the Swingers Club entertained Thursday evening at a reception at Dr. and Mrs. J. A. MacMillan's in honour of Mr. Frank L. Kaltman, International Authority on Folk and Square Dancing.

The fourth year class of the Prince of Wales College held a delightful dinner on Wednesday evening at Shining Waters, Cavendish. Dr. Frank MacKinnon spoke on behalf of the Faculty. Mr. John Bonnell, President of the fourth year class, was chairman for the evening. Mr. Goodwill MacDougall, President of Student Council and Mr. Warren Hood, class prophet were also speakers of the evening.

Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Hartlen, Longworth Avenue, spent last week-end in Toronto and New York City.

Mrs. Fulton Coffin, entertained at her residence Friday evening at bridge.

The Charlottetown Business and Professional Women's Club Centennial week-end will have for their speaker on Saturday, July 2nd at the dinner at the Charlottetown Hotel a national officer, first vice-president, Mrs. W. F. Baylay. Although Mrs. Baylay is in Regina, she is a westerner, for she was born in Moose Jaw, Sask., where her father was a doctor. She received her education in the west and taught school in Moose Jaw before joining the Canadian Women's Army Corps in Regina. She was commissioned and posted to Halifax and in the next four years saw service with the CWAC in Halifax and Kingston, being demobilized with the rank of major. During 1947-49 she acted as national organizer for the Canadian Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs in the fields of Alberta, Saskatchewan, Manitoba and Ontario. At the end of that time she moved to Toronto and took a position as under-writer with Confederation Life Association. She is past president of her own club, Xana 100, Toronto, and was provincial president for Ontario from 1949-52 and national membership chairman, 1952 to 1954. Other vice-presidents of the B and P. are Miss Isabel Menzies, Senator Muriel McQueen Ferguson and Miss Una MacLean (president of the Alberta Young Liberal Association and the first woman to be elected president of any provincial young Liberal Association.)

Dr. and Mrs. J. P. Lantz are spending the week-end in Montreal with Mrs. Lantz's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Brodie.

Mr. and Mrs. P. L. Hurst and young son, Michael, have arrived in Charlottetown from Talara, Peru. They are at present guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Horne, Brighton Road.

Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Sellar accompanied by Mrs. H. V. Haslam arrived Friday from Boston. Mrs. Haslam will spend the summer months in this province.

The Alpha Chapter of the Beta Sigma Phi held a pantry shelf and recipe shower Wednesday evening at Mrs. William Thompson's in honour of Miss Mildred Cudmore. Refreshments were served by Miss Helen Cox and Miss Lucille Turnbull. During the evening, Mrs. Robert Gray, who leaves shortly for Winnipeg, was presented with a parting gift from her Sorority sisters.

Mrs. Percy Williams and Miss Louise Hazard are visiting Captain and Mrs. Sears Merrick and their children for three weeks at West Point.

The N. B. P. E. I., Public Health Association Meeting in Charlottetown this week recalls early Public Health efforts. In an old island volume there are notes headed "Whose Skill and Courage". These qualities refer to those who helped alleviate suffering in the small epidemic of 1885.

The following notes are in verbatim as they appeared in the volume published in 1883. "Dr. Richard Johnson, Health Officer, distinguished himself by unremitting devotion to his arduous duties; and also, along with Dr. Warburton, attended all cases in the City; while Dr. J. Jenkins, with his son, Dr. S. R. Jenkins, were in constant attendance at the Hospital. Notable also were Major H. Beer, and clergymen Caruthers, O'Meara and MacIntyre."

Miss Jean C. Gill has been attending meetings of the Maritime Library Association held this week in Fredericton, N. B.

Mrs. Sydney Lawson left Thursday by plane for Toronto to visit relatives.

Mrs. Allison Croken and daughter Janice left on Wednesday by plane to join her husband in Kingston, Ont., where they will reside. Prior to her departure she was entertained by Mr. and Mrs. John Duffy.

The Misses Dorothy and Shirley Duffy have returned from Halifax after spending an enjoyable week visiting friends.

Mrs. H. L. Sear, Junior, and Mrs. Robert Gray entertained recently at a miscellaneous shower at Mrs. Sear's residence in honour of Miss Mildred Cudmore, whose marriage takes place in the near future. The attractive buffet supper table was decorated with snap dragons and white tapers.

"The Boy Friend" by Sandy Wilson at the Wyndhams Theatre, Charing Cross Road, starring Joan Sutherland, Bennett, Anthony Hayes and Anne Rogers was one of the 1954 hits in London. "The Boy Friend" like "The Whole Town's Talking" by Anita Loos is a fast farce about the Roaring 20's, and London audiences love them. This latter play so creditably presented by the Spring Park Community Club at the Queen Charlotte Auditorium was fortunate in its authentic (not just professionally copied) 1920 dresses, which have been stored away in Prince Edward Island attics and wardrobes since that period.

Mrs. Wellington McNeill and Dr. and Mrs. Robert B. Able returned Thursday from a trip to New York, Dr. and Mrs. Able and their children will be leaving for Albany July 1st, where the doctor will take a course in pathology.

Mrs. Arthur Avarad of Moncton, with her two children, Lynne and Louise, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Gordon M. Avarad. Mr. Arthur Avarad will be here for the week-end and Mr. and Mrs. Avarad and children will be returning on Monday to Moncton.

Mrs. Lorne Unsworth returned Thursday evening after a visit with her daughter, Mrs. Charles Robertson and Colonel Robertson of Fort Monmouth, New Jersey. Mrs. Unsworth was accompanied by her daughter, Mrs. Ruth Kennedy, who will remain on a short visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack MacEachern entertained at a supper party at their residence on Tuesday evening.

Wed In Kensington

St. Mark's Church, Kensington, was the scene on May 7 at 11 a.m. of the marriage of Audrey Jean Profit, R.N., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Profit, Kensington, to William Donald Tinney, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Tinney, Charlottetown. The ceremony was performed by Rev. W. E. Ingraham.

The church was decorated for this Spring wedding with yellow tulips, "mums, and daffodils. Soloist was Miss Eleanor Lockhart, R.N., and the wedding music was played by Miss Anna MacLaren.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose for her wedding a white floor-length gown of Chantilly lace over satin, and a finger-tip veil of nylon tulle. She carried a bridal bouquet of red roses.

Attending the bride were Mrs. Roy Clark as matron-of-honor and Miss Shirlee Livingston as bridesmaid. Mrs. Clark wore a floor-length dress of mauve net over taffeta and matching headdress and mitts. She carried a nosegay of mauve roses and white and mauve "mums. The bridesmaid's dress was of yellow floor-length net over taffeta. She also wore matching headdress and mitts and carried a nosegay of yellow roses and white "mums.

Best man for the occasion was Mr. Maurice Blake and ushering were Messrs. Ralph Profit and Mr. Myron Bell.

A reception was held at St. Mark's Hall, Kensington, for approximately 75 guests, after which the newly-weds left on a honeymoon trip to the New England States. The bride's travelling costume was a winter white suit and hat, with which she wore tan accessories and a corsage of red roses.

unreasonable or outmoded policy for parents to require fair payment for room and board from grown-up wage-earning sons or daughters, who are living under the parents' roof.

It wouldn't be doing these children any good, to indulge them in the habit or expectation of getting by at others' expense, when they are of an age to deal with life on their own. All experience costs something, in terms of constructive effort or discipline, or self-damaging acts of opportunism, as the case may be. The sooner they learn this, the better for them.

It is implicit in human history that you can't get something of value for nothing; and the person who tries to outwit this principle, will find in the end that he has simply cheated himself. He will be poorer, one way or another, in the final accounting, than those who need not prompting to behave generously wherever they are — who matter of factly give, and help and share the load, in their minimum duty to life in adult years.

I shan't attempt to outline how much board one's progeny should pay. Individual householders should decide for themselves what seems right in their circumstances, all things considered. But I do maintain that all mature minds polled on the subject, would agree that your stand is well taken — and that your son is mistaken in feeling unfairly treated. M. H.

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: I have a problem that has been vexing me for some time. Do you think it is unreasonable and outmoded to expect grown children to pay board when the children are employed full-time outside the home, making good wages?

I was brought up to believe that when one is working full-time, then one is supposed to pay his own way and not be a burden. But our son resents the idea of paying board. He does pay us when he is employed full-time outside the home, making good wages.

He expects to be reimbursed when he performs any service for us.

I love all my children, but I do think they should be made to realize that it costs money to live, and that they should do their part when they can. Or is there a new theory nowadays, that we parents should supply our children's daily needs as long as they stay under our roof? I would appreciate your views on the subject.

ELLEN'S DIARY

by an Island Farmer's Wife

Another "24th", we come to, a bit hastened this year to allow for a longer weekend. But still the same loved day as always. The first of the "summer" holidays to be anticipated pleasantly and to look back upon with intriguing memories... The Queen's Birthday.

"No the spring doesn't seem to be hurrying much this year," a city man, once a boy of the farm, who still much enjoys a spell at the trout or with a gun along the fields, commented to us the other day. "We think it's being backward but I remember back in the years, a number of us hired a fish on the 24th, and when we got there that morning the pond was frozen over — caught right across, so we had no fishing! There were late springs before this" he smiled.

"It was... I don't know what they exactly call it now, but those time we knew it as 'Victoria Day' another old-timer of a lad related to us one time obviously well pleased with that turn of events which had given him his faithful hearts' own to love and to cherish through many a year since. "Yes, that day we, my best girl and I came to an understanding... We had been pairing some before that — I had walked her home odd times, and had been" he smiled "quite impressed. So on that 24th, I took her to the country driving by 'pony-express.' It wasn't a bad way of getting places" he chuckled... "It was a nice day, sunny and warm for the time of year. And we took our time on the trip — if we came to a stream we fished a while or chatted. We lunched and I reckon carved our initials — that was something of a fad then — on some tree about... and became pretty well pleased with each other. And naturally the next thing I knew I was marrying her! So you can see why I'm always somewhat sentimental about the Day."

And we who will celebrate the Day, it is likely, at some usual task or interest about, will turn back the years in mind to chat with James of the Queens we on our time have known. Because ever a household word, their names have been as one of the family in homes we have known, to admire and respect.

Victoria, for whom the Day was made — Victoria the Good; in our memory a little old lady of England, much loved by her subjects and to be pitied in the bereavement, which had taken away from her side the Prince Consort her "beloved Albert", though it had been long years before. There was the beautiful Alexandra, the fairytale princess from one of the Vikings' Lands; and after her Mary of Teck, queenly, and in her convictions of right as strong as the raindrops of her country. And after her, sharing her King's hold on the hearts of his people, the little Scottish Queen, lovely and kind, with her timely smile and word and happy hand-wave. And then another Elizabeth, a great woman inheriting the gifts of these ladies of Queens before — all expressed now in one: virtue, beauty, queenliness, wisdom, kindness.

On the Anniversary of the day, which once more in the turn of the years honors the memory of Victoria the Good, what better can we wish for this young Queen than her line than the words we so often voice together with her face, sweet, strong, kind pictured in mind:

"God save our gracious Queen,
Long live our noble Queen,
God save the Queen.
Send her victorious,
Happy and glorious,
Long to reign over us,
God save the Queen."

MORNING SMILE

A doctor in Lima, Ohio, still hasn't gotten over his indignation. In a burst of frankness, he told a patient, "To be candid with you, I'm having a great deal of difficulty diagnosing your ailment. Maybe it's too much liquor."

"That's all right, Doc," said the man. "You can take another crack at it tomorrow when you're sober."

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery

Finds Healing Substance That Does Both—Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids

Toronto, Ont. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain. Thousands have been relieved—without resort to surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual retraction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of man months!

In 1000 results were so thorough the sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne)—the discovery of a famous scientific institute. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

Now this new healing substance is offered in convenient form for hemorrhoids under the name Preparation H. The price is only $1.19 a tube including an applicator. The name to ask for is Preparation H—at all drug stores. And remember — if not entirely satisfied — your money will be refunded promptly.

LET'S EAT

Paper-Thin Sandwiches For Formal Tea Parties

By Ida Bailey Allen

Throughout the country women's clubs and organizations are clamoring for the close of the season with a formal reception tea — a gracious function that has been in vogue for nearly a century.

The setting is traditionally elegant: a long table, fully covered with a beautiful linen cloth — plain, embroidered or decorated with lace — and lined napkins in triangular folds. At one end of the table there is an impressive silver tea service; at the other a silver coffee service, either the treasured property of the club or borrowed from cooperative members. The center piece is usually a silver bowl filled with choice garden flowers, or with carnations or roses from a florist.

On the tea tray are cups and saucers and sugar "dots." Close by are teaspoons, together with a plate of sliced lemon, studded with cloves and centered with preserved Kumquats or maraschino cherries, to be added to the tea.

Two honored appointees "pour" the tea and coffee. In shimmering array for buffet service, are silver dishes containing the daintiest of refreshments — paper-thin sandwiches, cakes and colorful confections.
