PARIS ON FIRE IN SEVEN PLACES. — The correspondent of the Boston Journal telegraphs under date, Versailles, Jan. 9, via London, Jan. 16, as follows:—

Paris is on fire in seven places. The Prussian batteries at Chatenay, Clamart and Chantilon are vigoriously shelling the Latin Quartier.

There is a large conflagration in the Rue Deuff. Shells are bursting in St. Cloud. There is also a great fire near the Arc de Triomphe.

Projectiles have fallen in the Place de la Concorde. The French artillery fire is more accurate than at any previous time, and it is hot work for the Prussians in the vicinity of Ville Doeray. It is a great mystery what the Prussians use in their projectiles to cause the frequent fires.

The King of Prussia in a letter to Prince Henry of Luxemburg, counsels him to be prudent and cautious, and asserts that Prussia has never intended to attack the independence of Luxemburg.

A despatch from Rome on the 8th to the N. Y. Herald states that the Pope's health is most satisfactory. He insures it by taking regular exercise daily in the Vatican Garden for an hour and a half in fine weather, or in the Sculpture Gallery when the weather is unfavorable out of doors.

THE NEW YORK Evening Mail says of England:—"She has been famous of old for her persistent leadership of hostile coalitions. No other European power has shown such persistence, pluck, liberality and patience in directing and sustaining these coalitions. It is not mainly by the number of her soldiers, or even by the prowess of her splendid navy, that she is formidable under such circumstances, but by her vast resources and her profuse expenditures in any war on which she enters in earnest."

THE IRISH CHURCH.

With the beginning of the year 1871 begins the operation of the Irish Church Bill. The year therefore will be a marked one in the history of England. It sees the partial reversal of the impolitic and unjust Establishment which had weighed so heavy upon a whole people, and created and perpetuated so much bitterness between the two races.

The Church-men have been making earnest but rather unsuccessful efforts to supply, by voluntary contribution and other means, the lack of the support of which the Bill deprived the "Established" Church, established no longer, in Ireland. The working of the Act, as well as the working of the Land Bill, remains yet to be seen. There is little doubt that two such measures can but have a most beneficial effect upon Ireland. They are not perfect of course, but a little time will reveal the weakness, and the justice and generosity which passed the Bill will not refuse to amend them.

INDEPENDENCE, SURE & COMPLETE.

MR. EDITOR —I think it cannot be denied that our present position among Nations is an anomaly, and the signs of the times indicate change. A change, when effected, will fit our destiny for some time to come, for good or for evil, and the sooner that change takes place the better it will be for all concerned. It is evident that the statemen of England desire to complete severance of this Dominion of all connection with the British Empire. England's present position demand this, and English statemen know it and fell it; hence their great desire to sever the connection, leaving no tie to implicate England in our future.

Then the question arises, shall we assist England in carrying out this great political change that we may have her as a friend?—my aswer is, yes! then again the question will arise how can this best be accomplished for the greatest good of all concerned? my answer again is—by declaring our independence as soon as possible, independence full and complete in the true sense of its meaning; let the question of independence be at once, or as soon as possible, be laid before the people of the whole Dominion let them freely and untrammeled decide for themselves, as they are the proper tribunal to settle this most important question, let us have no more Confederation humbugging.

Then the next important movement is, the form of Government; this, also the people must settle. All power should, and must emanate from them in order to have it free Government, (practically free) for we are not in a humor to indorse any half-way measures; we must have a Government, free and simple, in its broad st sense and meaning, an out-growth, and an improvement upon all other Governments now existing; some may say that I am nigh, yes, but not too high; the thing can be done, for we have the elements within our grasp, if we have the courage, and will to use them.

Then the next is our form of Government. What shall that be? It strikes me that there are only two forms of Government practicable, in order to secure true liberty to the subject, Republican or a Constitutional Monarchy, founded upon our present form of Responsible Government. A form of Government, when properly carried out, the freest now in existence; but this Continent was never made for kings, or a useless titled aristocracy. No, such plants cannot flourish in American soil. The very free air that we breathe forbids it. This continent is Republic, and only a Republican form of government would be satisfactory to the people. But as Republicanism is progressive, we want a higher form of government than that of the United States, we want a Republic, founded upon our present form of Responsible Government. Such a government would be an outgrowth of all other governments gone before, and would be the freest and highest form of government yet known to man.

The President should be elected directly by the people, for a term of at least 8 or 10 years, in order to give stability to the government, but subject to impeachment for acts as the Constitution or law might determine, the impeaching power to rest with his advisers, and the peoples representatives. His advisers should be as they now are under our present form of government, (responsible to the people) and elected every four years. The senate should also be elected by the people, to serve for a term of six years, to be so arranged as to be filled up at different periods, to prevent partyism in the senate. Thus all power would emanate from, and rest with the people, and the head of the government would then stand, as in relationship to the people, something like as the Governor Gneral now stands, only with this difference, that he would be elected by the people themselves and responsible for his conduct to the peoples representatives. The franchise should be extended: let brains be the qualification for voters, not stumps and rocks, and let the ballot system of voting be perfected, and we should have one of the freest, and best forms of Government, yet enjoyed by man.

DUCROT'S ACCOUNT OF HIS ESCAPE. — General Ducrot has written an account of his escape from the Prussians after the disaster at Sedan. He lays stress upon his refusal to sign the capitulation, and says that, being a prisoner, it was suggested by his captors that he should proceed in his own carriage on parole with his two aides-de-camp to the railway station at Pont-a-Mousson, and there deliver himself up. He duly arrived there, found the station in the hands of the Prussians, reported himself to the officer in charge, and thereby, he contends, redeemed his word. He was ordered to enter a train about to proceed to Germany, but could not find a vacant seat. He called attention to this, and asked for an additional carriage. The reply was that the train was already too long, and he must proceed by the next, which would start in two hours. He then asked if he might visit a friend in the town, and received permission, no pledge being either asked or given as to his return. At his friend's house he and his aides obtained peasant's dress, and a country cart with a load of potatoes. The swords and uniforms were buried under the potatoes. In a blouse and trousers, with a pipe in his mouth, a peasant's hat on his head, and with bare feet thrust into sabots, padded with a bit of straw, General Ducrot rode on the side of the cart with his legs dangling. An aide-de-camp, similarly attired, led the horse, and another sat on the potatoes. In this way the party passed safely through the Prussian lines, and reached a place in which they could reappear in their natural characters.

For loss of Cud, Horn Ail, Red water in cows; loss of appetite, rot, or murrain, in Sheep; thick wind, broken wind, and roaring, and for all obstructions of the Kidney in horses, use "Sheridan's Cavalry Condition Powders."

The chief officer, named John Osborne, a native of Bristol, and five hands put off in one of the ship's boats to endeavor to board her, but in the attempt the boat capsized, and Osborne and a seaman named Thomas Reilly were drowned. JOHN P. MOTT'S CHOCOLATE BROMA AND OTHER COCOA PREPARATIONS, APPROVED OF AND RECOMMENDED FOR MORE THAN A QUARTER OF A CENTURY BY THE MOST EMINENT PHYSICIANS OF BRITISH NORTH AMERICA.—To those who desire the best productions of Cocoa, free from deleterious substances, unsurpassed in quality, and more nutritious than Tea or Coffee, the undersigned offers the above articles manufactured by himself. His Broma, owing to the peculiar process of manufacture, by which the oil of the nut is completely neutralized, while all its virtues are retained, affords, as well to the robust as to invalids, and those whose digestion is impaired, a delicate and salutary beverage. That its value as an easily digested and highly nutritious article of diet is recognized by the highest medical practitioners in the Dominion, the following testimonials amply demonstrate.

JOHN P. MOTT.

Having tried the Broma made by Mr John P Mott, of Halifax, N. S., and having been made acquainted with its several ingredients, we are of opinion that it is a combination at once innocent and highly nutritious, not only to persons in health, but also to the weak and debilitated; and that, from the facility with which it may be prepared, and the salutary properties of its ingredients, it is a valuable compound, and we cheerfully recommend it to convalescents and all who require a mild and strengthening food.

We received a very pleasant letter of thanks from our friend Kendall, since his return home, for a bottle of "Johnson's Anodyne Liniment" which we gave him, and which he says has entirely cured him of the troublesome and dangerous cough he had when here.

IN NUMBERS there is safety, it was upon this principle that the formula of Judson's Mountain Herb Pills was prepared. It was not the result of one man's knowledge. Dr. Judson, intending to spend a fortune in advertising Pills, consulted the most intelligent and learned physicians of the age, and the result was the production of a simple but efficacious medicine the Judson's Mountain Herb Pills. These Pills cure Biliousness, Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Indigestion, Female Irregularities, &c. They have now been used many years by the Public and thousands of testimonials bear witness to their virtues. As a family medicine they are unrivalled. Give the Mountain Herb Pills a trial. Sold by all dealers.

An Irishman called at a drug store to get a bottle of "Johnson's Anodyne Liniment" for the Rheumatism, the druggist asked him in what part of the body it troubled him most, "Be me Soul," said he, I have it in every soul and corner.

Children whose brain development is unusually large in comparison with the body, are most frequently singled out for a premature final resting place. Why is this? Simply because the functions of the body are too frail to supply the waste going on the brain, consequent upon active intelligence. Fellows' Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites is so prepared that it imparts the vital principle directly to the brain, while it assists in developing a vigorous and robust body.

Holloway's Ointment and Pills.—Sure relife. The weak and enervated suffer severely from nervious affections when storms or electric disturbances agitate the atmosphere. Neuralgia gouty pangs, and flying pains, very distressing to a delicate system, may be readily removed by rubbing this Ointment on the affected part after it has been fomented by warm water. The Pills taken occasionally in the doses prescribed by the instructions keep the digestion in order, excite a free flow of healthy bile, and regenerate the impoverished blood with richer materials, resulting from thoroughly assimilated food, wanting which, the strongest must inveitably soon sink into feebleness, and the delicate find it difficult to maintain existence. Holloway's Ointment and Pills are infalliable remedies.
