American Press Comments

NEW YORK, Sept. 2—(CP)—"Say out of Europe's war" chorused editorials in newspapers of the United States yesterday, while their front pages told of the outbreak of hostilities between Germany and Poland.

Invariably, also the editorials fixed responsibility for the fighting on Fuehrer Hitler and spoke sympathetically of the non-aggressor nations.

Following are representative excerpts:
Portland, Ore., Journal—(Ind.) The insane man of Europe has struck. Hitler cannot, as he once hoped, place the blame on the democracies. The peace from the United States is still for peace. Let the prayers of America and of Christendom support it. And while there is yet time, this country must take steps to stay out of Europe's war.

Oakland, (Calif.) Tribune—(Republican) Unquestionably the present sentiment of the United States is to remain neutral and in no way become involved in another struggle.

The Los Angeles Herald-Express—(Ind.) If there is any "wit of statesmanship" in this country it will keep us out of war. Because "wit of statesmanship" may fall in Europe is no reason it should fall in America.

New York Daily News—(Ind.) Majority American sentiment favors Poland at the moment, and will favor England and France if they are drawn into the fight. We feel the same way; can't help it. Spiritually and ideologically the United States is much closer akin to the democracies than to the dictators.

But sympathize with the democracies though we do, we cannot see how we or anybody else can benefit by American participation in this war.

New York Times—(Ind.) If ever a war was made by one nation on another, deliberately without cause and without justification, it is thus undeniably true that Germany was made on Poland.

Kansas City Star—(Ind.) As for the United States, its sympathies are all against the aggressor. But its vital interests certainly are not now threatened. It is up to the administration at Washington to keep the American people to keep their heads and not to be swept off their feet by emotion.

The Denver Post—(Ind.) We will be crazy if we do not attend strictly to our business, remain neutral, and keep out of European feuds.

Waterbury Republican—Since Congress expressed itself as opposed to permitting American trade in war materials to nations in conflict, Russia has made a treaty with Germany. We do not expect that the American people will support an over-whelming portion of the population that Germany and Hitler will be brought to their knees and the determination that this country shall not be forced or cajoled into active participation.

The Chattanooga News—Democracy! If our present neutrality laws are invoked we shall be partners in the hated German cause. One of the first effects of the embargo would be to cut off delivery of airplanes already contracted for by England and France. True by neutrality would be followed if we pursued the traditional custom of neutrals which have always considered it their right to sell materials to belligerents.

GERMANS INTERNED
HONG KONG, Sept. 3—German residents in this outpost of the British Empire were rounded up tonight for internment in a Catholic church school around which a barbed-wire fence was stretched.

Just how many had been thus held was not ascertainable; a majority had left before Great Britain's declaration of war. Several told newspapermen that they would rather get two meals a day in a Hong Kong prison camp than to return to the Fatherland.

Gwendolyn MacLean as Principal, Miss Amelia MacDonald, vice-principal, Miss Blanche MacIvor and Miss Tisie Sexton, assistants.

Miss Patricia Rogers left Borden, Thursday morning on a visit to friends in Halifax, N. S. A.

Stablemates Now At Capitol

Those who remembered Boys Town will like this new picture of Mickey Rooney teamed with Wallace Beery, in Stablemates, which is now playing at the Capitol Theatre, Saide.

Beery is seen in the role of a once brilliant veterinarian who changed to a race track bum because he was framed into a murder charge. Rooney, fresh from his triumph in "Boy Town", won more admirers, if possible, in his characterization of the stable boy and jockey who befriends Beery in order to get the latter to operate on his injured horse. The two join forces and tour the country with the race horse, which Rooney has been given in lieu of his salary.

When the horse is in perfect condition they start for Hollywood Park to participate in the big race broadcast and learns that his traveling companion is an escaped convict. Having learned to love Beery, he tries to persuade him not to come to the track without letting him know the reason. Beery goes along. There they meet the man who was responsible for Beery's framed charge. He is the former owner of Rooney's horse and takes it from the boy because he can't show ownership papers. Then things really start to happen with the start of the big race which the tempo of the climax.

Not only does the film show Hollywood Park, but gives sport fans a chance to see Santa Anita, home of the "Big Boy" Handicap. Bing Crosby's Del Mar track, and San Francisco's Tanforan.
