

Lavers-Reid Vows Pledged School Band Auxiliary Formed At Kensington

Tall white lighted tapers in silver candleabras and baskets of white mums was the setting for a wedding at Trinity United Church, Charlottetown, on Saturday, February 10, when Rev. John G. Lavers and Mrs. Edith Reid were united in holy matrimony. Andria B., second eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Earl Lavers, to Douglas Wendell, son of Brigadier and Mrs. W. W. Reid, Charlottetown.

The bride entered the church on the arm of her father to the strains of Johnnie's Wedding March, played by George Thompson. Her floor length gown of white tulle was embellished on sheer lines with full cathedral train and light point lace. Her hair was styled in pearl buns. She carried a bouquet of white carnations and red roses, and her French bridal illusion veil was held in place by a jewelled crown of brilliants and pearls. Her only ornament was a single strand of tiny cultured pearls, a gift of the groom.

Her sister, Mrs. Edward L. Mara, as matron of honor, wore a street length gown of white satin pen de sole with pleated overskirt and white pillbox hat. Her hair was styled with white centre and side streamers. The bridesmaid, Rhonda L. Mara, wore a gown of green, Carol MacCallum's gown. Mrs. Ron Storey, and the bride's bridesmaid, a young woman, wore similar dresses of red satin pen de sole with matching hats and white carnations with red centres.

Floral Craig was best man. Users were Sterling Laver, brother of the bride, John Reid, brother of the groom, and Mrs. Mars, B. R. Storey, cousin of the bride and Ron Storey, cousin of the groom.

During the ceremony, Mrs. David Cox sang the hymn, "The Prayer" and at the signing of the register. The Wedding Prayer, Lavers and Reid were officiated at the Charlottetown Hotel. The bride's table was centered with a four tier wedding cake topped with two hearts and a white doves carrying rings, a daisy chain and a pair of white holders and sprigs of baby's breath. During the reception a band of music was furnished by the organist, Ray F. Lavers was responded to by the groom who proposed a toast to the bridesmaids.

For her daughter's wedding in Mrs. Reid, mother of the bride, gave a shell brocade satin with matching gloves and shoes. Her hair was styled in a bun and organza flowered hat in pastel shade, and china mink jacket.

Karen Lavers was in charge of the guest book. Several telegrams were read by the best man.

Out of town guests were Const. William and Mrs. Reid, Truro, Mrs. and Mrs. Harry Fraser, Moncton; Mr. and Mrs. Ray F. Lavers, Kensington, and Mrs. Edith Reid, Charlottetown; Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Reid, Moncton; Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Reid, Moncton; Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Reid, Moncton.

Following the reception, Mrs. Reid, mother of the bride, travelled a wool coat of cranberry and white, and a double knit wool with maroon hat, white kid gloves, and a corsage of white roses. On return they will take up residence at the B. R. Storey home.

The bride and groom are both graduates of Trinity United Church. The bride is employed at Trans Canada Credit and the groom is employed at the B. R. Storey home.

WOMEN'S ORGANIZATIONS Hand Sewing Displayed To Greenvale Institute

Jean MacLain, president of the Greenvale Institute, was hostess to the club in February.

Project for the evening was the putting together of programs which had been printed by Ruth MacPherson and Joan Bernard. Last night's program was to decorate the covers of these programs by editing a White.

Plans were made to conduct prizes for the winners of the last and crocheted tournaments whose last game is scheduled for Feb. 21. A financial success, eight or nine tables have been in play each night.

NAVY STILL POPULAR

HALIFAX (CP)—The navy's Halifax recruiting office, Lt. Colonel Ben Weber, denies that the service has a recruiting pool in the area.

"The number of applicants is as high as it ever was," he said Friday, "but we are taking on fewer recruits." Figures issued at Ottawa have indicated the navy signed only 21 recruits in December, 1963, compared with 213 in December, 1962.

ELLEN'S DIARY Soft Snowfall Creates A Featherly Fairytale

Snowfall, the night gives, to close out the week. We walked in the snow, and the shoulders of a pair of lads, as they made their way homeward.

Why the night is usually strikingly beautiful, we said. A fairytale setting in a winter wonderland, and wire, was maddled fetching in a featherly white. Indeed, branches drooped, burdened by the imposed weight.
