The Dominion Archivist.

A very unassuming but withal extremely useful branch of the public service is that conducted at Ottawa by Mr. Douglas Bryn-ner, the Dominion Archivist. Up to 1871 no attempt had been made to preserve the historical records of Canada, or to provide for the careful laying by of those which were being annually issued respecting commerce, science, education or biography. In that year Parliament responded to a petition filed by literary men, requesting the Minister of Agriculture to organize a branch of the public service in connection with his department, after the character outlined by the petitioners. Mr. Brynner was selected for the work. An arduous and difficult task lay before him. He began his duties without a single document in hand, but so industriously has he applied himself to the work that now nearly 7,000 volumes of historical papers and publications are on the shelves of the apartments under his charge.
They represent a mine of information, upon which drafts have been made by authors and historians, not only from Canada, but all points in the United States. A more perfect record of the events of the American Revolution is perhaps to be found in the Canadian archives than anywhere else, seeing that copies of the papers referring to military movements in British America have been supplied by the War Office.
Thousands of yellow old manuscripts in the archivist's charge throw light upon disputed points of history, both in Canada and the United States. The work of the collection goes carefully and surely on, and year by year the collection becomes more valuable.

Training for Girls.

When a girl is ten years old she should be given household duties to perform according to her size and strength, for which a sum of money should be paid her weekly.
She needs a little pocket money, and the knowledge how to spend it judiciously, which can so well be given by a mother to her little girl. She should be required to furnish a part of her wardrobe with this money. For instance, if she gets ten cents a week, she should purchase all her stockings, or all her gloves, as the mother may decide; and doing this under the mother's supervision, she will soon learn to trade with judgment and economy. Of course the mother will see to it that the sum is sufficient to do this, and yet leave a trifle for the child to spend as she pleases. This will supply a healthy stimulus; it will give her a proper ambition and pride in her labor, and the ability to use money properly. As she grows older these household duties should be increased, with the proportionate increase of money paid for the performance of them. We know of a lady who divided the wages of a servant among her three daughters. There is a systematic arrangement of their labor, which is done with a thoroughness and alacrity rarely found, either with a hired girl or a daughter who feels that she has to do it with nothing to encourage and stimulate her in the work.

Henry George in New York.

Mr. Henry George has been the recipient of a good deal of complimentary notice from time to time from the American press.
When he charged himself with the duty of showing the absurdity of the land laws of England and the outrageous wickedness of riches, rank and so forth derivable in any way from land in that country, the New York press were showered quickly upon him. Cheered by these evidences of a belief in his theories Mr. George has decided to run as a candidate for the mayoralty of New York, and he is now beginning to learn the value of the commendation he aforetime received. He is subjected to every kind of criticism; he is accused of violating his own principles, of being a would-be class legislator, and indeed of being anything and everything except a proper person for Mayor of New York.
Mr. George in the abstract, while merely theorizing in books or denouncing English landlords, was all well enough, but Mr.
George interfering in the political ring of New York is quite another thing.

Unfermented Wine.

At the general Convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church at Chicago, on Wednesday, a message was received by the Deputies from the House of Bishops, declaring that in the judgement of the Bishops the use of unfermented juice of the grape in the sacrament is not warranted by the example of our Lord and was an unauthorized departure from the practice of the Catholic Church, and that the mixing of the water with the wine was not objectionable. A resolution was adopted providing for a joint committee of three bishops, three clericals and three laymen, to whom should be recommended the whole subject of marriage and divorce, to report thereon to the next general Convention on the second day thereof.

Free Trade.

The reduction of internal revenue and the taking off of revenue stamps from Proprietary Medicines, no doubt has largely benefited the consumers, as well as relieving the burden of home manufacturers. Especially is this the case with Green's August Flower and Boecher's German Syrup, as the reduction of thirty-six cents per dozen has been added to increase the size of the bottles containing these remedies, thereby giving one-fifth more medicine in the 75 cent size.
The August Flower for Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint, and the German Syrup for Cough and Lung troubles, have perhaps the largest sale of any medicines in the world. The advantage of increased size of the bottles will be greatly appreciated by the sick and afflicted, in every town and village in civilized countries. Sample bottles for 10 cents remain the same size.

Fishery Notes.

(From the Cape Ann Advertiser.) Good stock on a small trip.—Sch. Wm. V.
Hutchings, from North Bay with 30 lbs. mackerel taken by hook and line, sold here at $37 per bbl. for extras, $23 for ones and $13 for twos, grossly $850.
Fresh fish has greatly stimulated the Provincial fisheries, as is well known. Nine seiners now go out of Alberton, P. E. I.
Seven years ago there was none. Ten years ago there were only nine vessels engaged in Prince Edward Island fisheries. Now there are 53 vessels with 7,000 fathoms of seine.
This fleet will be largely increased next year.
The commander of the Canadian cruiser Critic represents the American fishermen as very anxious for a settlement of the fishery question, even by retaining the duties on fish. He reports that "Capt. Sol Jacobs, the king of the braggarts, says the present state of affairs must be brought to a speedy conclusion. He has already lost this season more than he will make the next five years by his duty on Canadian mackerel." A curious fish was recently captured with a hook and line near Cape Hatteras, North Carolina. The animal had 22 legs, its eyes standing out from its head about half an inch, and had a head about five inches long, and a sword protruding out of its mouth, a monstrous and was in eight pieces having two tails. The oldest fishermen and sailors say they have never seen anything like it before.

Temperance.

The following is the deliverance of the Synod of the Maritime Provinces on temperance:—
1. The Synod thankfully notes the steady growth of temperance principles throughout the church, and gratefully acknowledges the assistance of the press, and of the various temperance societies in forming and educating public opinion on the temperance question.
2. The Synod, in the line of previous deliverances in reference to the liquor traffic, again declares its conviction that said traffic as now existing is contrary to the word of God and to the spirit of the Christian religion, and that it is the duty of the state to prohibit and suppress it.
3. The Synod encourages and enjoins the members and adherents of the church to guard the purity and consistency of their lives by practising abstinence from alcoholic beverages and to use their best endeavors for the enforcement of the laws restricting their sale.
4. That while we encourage our people to exercise great care in the personal observance and general enforcement of our existing liquor laws, we, at the same time declare that, as a Christian community, the full measure of our duty in reference to the liquor traffic can be discharged only by its general prohibition and effective suppression.

What a Cane Did.

Galiponi tells that an Englishman, Sir James Nursey, was walking recently in the Park of La Granja, near Madrid, when he sat down on a bench to rest. Presently a handsomely attired nurse carrying an infant, came and seated herself near him.
The child at once fixed its eyes on the bright silver knob of the stick the Englishman was carrying, and stretched out its arms for it. The stranger abandoned the coveted object to the child to play with, but when a quarter of an hour later he wished to resume his walk the infant refused to give up the stick, and screamed with rage when the nurse attempted to take it from him. The gentleman was obliged to leave without his cane, but gave his card to the nurse, to return it. In the evening a domestic from the Court brought the stick back to Sir James Nursey, with a letter from Queen Maria Christina, thanking him for the pleasure he had caused her son. Sir James had made the acquaintance of the future King of Spain.

Good Times.

During last week not less than 100 establishments engaged in some branch of the manufacture of iron, and articles made of iron, have been put in operation in Pennsylvania alone, and iron ore tracts which have lain untouched for years are now the scene of busy labor. The car companies are turning out equipment as rapidly as possible, and are reported to have more orders than they can fill. The Pennsylvania Railroad Company will give orders this week for 1,000 additional cars, making nearly 4,000 cars constructed for them in the past eight months, and increasing the total number employed by them to 80,000.
The Baldwin Locomotive Works are turning out an average of thirteen locomotives a week. Notwithstanding the introduction of natural gas, the demand for fuel is enormous and has not diminished. The anthracite producers have been compelled to increase their output for the present month by 250,000 tons. All these facts are fair indications of the increasing prosperity of the country.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.—Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferer at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain; and the little shrub awakes as "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhoea, whether arising from teething or other causes. Twenty-five cents a bottle. Be sure and ask for Mrs.
Winslow's Soothing Syrup, and take no other kind.
