FARM AND GARDEN

POINTS OF A BEEF ANIMAL.

Valuable Information Condensed Into Readable Proportions.

An experienced feeder gives the following description of the animals he selects to fatten:

"The nose should be broad that the mouth may close upon a goodly quantity of grass at each bite and thus save the time of the animal, for even in the work of eating time is money. Quickly filled, the steer is most of his time resting quietly, converting his food into tender, juicy flesh. The head should be short and broad, giving an ample breadth between the eyes. Long, dear-like faces belong to the ne'er do well. The head should be held well up and the carriage be spirited. The horn should be fine and short, and the eye should be bright and full. The neck should be short and fine; a thick, clumsy neck may be good enough for a hog, but is out of place in a steer. The brisket should come down deep and full, and there should be great width between the fore legs to give ample room for the lungs. Back of the shoulders the body should be full, the ribs springing well out, and the back be broad, straight and smooth, with no sinking between the chine and the rump. The hips should be straight and the flanks well filled and come down low. The hide should be soft and velvety; if thick and covered with a good coat of hair so much the better, as it will help to keep the animal heat and withstand the cold weather. The thigh should be full and the hind legs straight. All the legs should be short and the steer stand squarely on them; add a broad loin and rump, and a fine tail, and you have a steer which will take on fat easily and in a short time become a source of pleasure and profit to his owner.

"In selecting sires for improving a beef herd these same points shall be observed, for as 'like produces like' a judicious selection of the sire will give just the animals that feeders and butchers are constantly looking for and finding so difficult to secure."—Mirror and Farmer.

More Potash Needed.

1. Fodder crops, pasture grasses, corn stover and hay all remove large amounts of potash from the soil, and these crops occupy a large proportion of our improved lands.

2. The urine of our domestic animals contains about fourfifths of the total potash of their excrements.

3. When urine is allowed to waste, the manure is poor in potash.

4. When manures are exposed to rains, much of the potash, being soluble, is washed away.

5. Nearly all the special fertilizers are especially rich in phosphoric acid, and do not contain enough potash.

6. Superphosphates were the first fertilizers to come into general use among our farmers.

7. When the farmer buys a fertilizer, he still, nine times out of ten, calls for a phosphate.

8. As a result of the above conditions, our soils seem to be quite generally in need of more liberal applications of potash.

9. In the case of corn the need of potash appears to be particularly prominent.

10. For a good crop of corn the fertilizer used should supply 100 to 125 lbs. of actual potash per acre; 200 to 250 lbs. of muriate of potash or one ton (50 bu.) of good wood ashes will do this.

11. With ordinary farm or stable manure it will generally pay to use some potash for corn; 125 to 150 lbs. of muriate of potash has given profitable results.

12. The liberal use of potash means more clover in our fields, more nitrogen taken from the air, more milk in the pail, a richer manure heap, and storehouse and barns full to overflowing. It means also a sod which when turned will help every other crop.

13. For the potato crop the sulphate appears to be much superior to the muriate of potash, promoting both yield and quality in much higher degree; 300 to 400 lbs. of high grade sulphate of potash furnishes enough of this element.

14. For oats, rye and grass, nitrate of soda applied just as the growth begins in spring has proved very beneficial; 300 to 400 lbs. per acre should be applied.

Rules for Grading Hay.

The following rules for the grading of hay have been adopted by the New York produce exchange: Prime timothy hay must be pure timothy, properly cured, right natural color, sound and well baled. No. 1 hay shall be timothy, not more than one fourth mixed with other tame grasses properly cured, bright color, sweet, sound and well baled No. 2 hay shall include all timothy not good enough for other grades, not over one-third clover, but may be natural meadow free from wild or bog, sweet, sound and well baled. Clover mixed hay shall include all hay containing not over two-thirds clover and one-third timothy properly cured, sweet, sound and well baled. Clover hay shall be medium brown, properly cured, good color, sweet, sound and well baled. No grade or rejected hay shall include all hay badly cured, musty, stained or in any way unsound.

Ropy Milk.

John Gould says that when ropy milk is found the remedy is to look up the unclean sources of propagation, take extra care of the milk pails and cans, and, if possible, give the utensils the benefit of a steam jet for two hours, or as long in a hot oven. The more the matter of milk going wrong is looked into, the more evident it is that a large part of the bad luck of the past in having bad milk to contend with, and things going wrong, was, and now is, the result of deficient use of hot water, and a general keeping of things at stable and milk house absolutely unclean, and when perfection is as nearly attained as it possibly can be, we will realize as never before the underlying truth of the old trite saying, "Cleanliness is next to godliness."

The Young Orchard.

With young trees a good plan of management is to cultivate during the early part of the season and much during the latter part, and after the trees get reasonably well established seed to clover and use as a hog pasture. If the clover makes a good growth either let it mature and rot down or cut with a mower and let it rot.

Dying on His Feet.

"That man is just dying on his feet."

How often the phrase is used with regard to persons brought to death's door by overwork and consequent nervous prostrations and debility. They cannot afford time to rest (so they will tell you) and gradually they reach the stage where their friends speak of them in the words above quoted. For all who have reached such a stage or are in broken health from any cause, there is a sure specific in Hawker's nerve and stomach tonic, the great nerve and brain invigorator, blood and flesh builder, and a perfect stomach tonic and aid to digestion.

Dr. G. C. Osgood, Lowell, Mass.

"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quack nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing opium, morphine, soothing syrup and other hurtful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves."

Dr. J. F. Kincheloe, Conway, Ark.

GAVE HER MORPHINE.

The story told by Mrs. Justice Mowry of St John, N. B

To a reporter of a St. John paper Mrs. Justice Mowry of that city told the following story: Mrs. Morwy was for two years a horrible sufferer from chronic indigestion. She could not sleep without the use of morphine. Her stomach was so weak she could scarcely eat any kind of food without suffering immediate pain. In fact she seemed to have pains and aches all over her body, and became so nervously weak and prostrated that she was unable to attend to her household duties. She tried a great many medicines and the doctors were prescribing for her nearly all the time, but she could get no relief. Sometimes for 24 hours at the time her sufferings from cramps would be almost beyond endurance. Many a night it was necessary to sit by her bedside and administer dose after dose of morphine. After such an experience she would be thoroughly exhausted and was never in good health. She could not eat or sleep, and these horrible attacks made even the dread of death seem less than the torture or living. To be sure morphine released her but the after effects of its frequent use were almost as bad. Words were powerless in describing her sufferings. Her friends feared she would die. Finally she told her husband to get a bottle of Hawker's nerve and stomach tonic and she would try it instead of morphine. Now mark the result. Before she had finished the first bottle, taken in conjunction with Hawker's liver pills, she could eat meat without discomfort, something she had been unable to do before for months. She only took three bottles of the tonic altogether, and it completely restored her to health. Mrs. Mowry is still in splendid health, with no return of her former troubles, and she states she has no hesitation in telling any one that these remedies have restored her from a state of horrible suffering to perfect health.

Fellow sufferer here is encouragment for you. Hawker's nerve and stomach tonic is a perfect nerve restorer and invigorator, and blood and flesh-builder, as well as a valuable stomach tonic and aid to digestion. It is a certain cure when faithfully used for all diseases arising from nerve exhaution, weakened or impaired digestion, or an impovershed or impure condition of the blood, such as nervousness, weakness, nervous-headache, sleeplessness, neuralgia, loss of appetite, dyspepsia, hysteria, and the prostrating effects of la grippe or any nerve weakness of heart or brain arising from worry, overstrain of mind or body or excesses of any nature.

Hawker's tonic is especially adapted to the diseases peculiar to women, giving tone to the nerves and stomach, vigor to the mind and body and strength to the blood, restoring the bloom of health to the pale and delicate. Hawker's nerve and stomach tonic can be obtained from all druggists and dealers. Price fifty cents a bottle or six bottles for $2.50.

The striking miners of Peoria County, Ill., are now face to face with hunger. Many of them, especially those with families to support, are without the common necessities of life.

"I have eight children, every one in good health, not one of whome but has taken Scott's Emulsion, in which my wife has boundless confidence."

A lady will sometimes spend hours selecting dress goods. She is not desirous of giving trouble at all. But there are conflicting claims. There are considerations of durability, of texture, of draping Priestley's dress fabrics have reached a niche in the popular esteem when conflict ceases to vex. It is enough to get Priestley's black dress goods to feel confident that you have the best. They wear better than any other make.
