MANY of our readers will be pleased to know that the Rev. E. A. Telfer arrived here last evening from England, and has consented to lecture on Monday evening, in St. James' Hall, on "The Scottish Covenanters," and on Tuesday evening in the Second Methodist Church. Subject: "Recollections of Queen People."

THE new bell for St. Patrick's Roman Catholic Church at Grand River, arrived in the steamer Carroll yesterday afternoon. It is of copper, stands about four and a half feet high exclusive of supports, and weighs 1,002 lbs. On one side is a cross and on the other the imprint of the makers—the McShane Bell Founding Co., Baltimore, Md.

A CASE of abusive language between two women occupied the attention of the Stipendiary Magistrate this forenoon. The complainant stated that the defendant had called her several bad names, the defendant denied that she did so. Two witnesses testified that both used bad language, and as a result the Magistrate was obliged to dismiss the case.

MR. JNO. S. AUSTIN, of the J. F. Pease Furnace Co., of Syracuse, N. Y., and Toronto, Ont., Heating Engineers, will be at the Rankin House till Monday next, and will cheerfully give estimates and plans for heating dwellings, churches, schools, &c., by the J. F. Pease system of heating, use of cheap, the most perfect and cheapest furnace in the world.—A. White & Son, are the Agents.

A SLIGHT error crept into the concluding sentence of our report of what Dr. Johnson said at the Board of Health meeting, held on Tuesday evening last. Instead of saying that "there was but one case of typhoid fever in the city this season, and in that case the patient died," the Doctor said that there were several cases which were not of a malignant type, and that but one of the patients had died.

OFFICER BRADLEY arrived from Summerside last evening, after an unsuccessful search after the woman Macdonald, who is "wanted" for child desertion. He searched the steamer for Point du Chene, as well as every place where the girl would have been likely to call, but could not find a trace of her. It is supposed that she left the train at some of the intermediate stations in order to elude pursuit. She will likely keep quiet until she supposes the matter forgotten, when she will "leave the country for the country's good."

A WINNIPEG despatch says that the news from Wood Mountain is to the effect that a party of half-breeds just arrived from Fort Belknap report serious troubles between Gros Ventres and Piegan Indians immediately south of the line. It appears that horses straggling on an extensive scale has been going on for some time. Last week a party from each tribe met in a neighboring grass hill and a fight lasting two hours took place. Six Piégans were killed, the victors carrying off the scalps as trophies. It is believed that further trouble will result.

A VIOLENT storm of thunder, lightning, wind and rain, visited Yarmouth on Monday. It was the worst storm of the kind experienced for several years. Rain fell in torrents. The barns of James Trask and John Churchill, near the Narrows Bridge, were struck by lightning and consumed with their contents. Trask's barn contained three cows, a horse, a pig, about twenty tons of hay and farm utensils. Churchill's cattle were in the pasture. The house of Farnham Hill, between the two barns, was also struck by lightning and completely destroyed. No persons were injured.

ON THE ROAD

THE NEW KILN.

MILLING AT HILL VIEW.

Among other things worthy of notice "on the road" are our Island industries.

Hill View furnished a sight of a carding mill the other day, in full operation. These are the premises owned and worked by Mr. P. M. Bourke, and it is interesting to watch the various processes of washing, dyeing and carding. Two huge carding mills take the wool "in the rough," and send it out in fine, soft rolls, ready for further handling by the fingers of the "good girls and women at home." Rolls of cloth pass through the brush and shearer, and come from the press things of beauty fit to wear. Staff of every quality and color pass through skilled hands all the time, and the story is, that business is brisk.

This village is certainly much improved during the last few years, and shows some very fine farms. A noticeable feature is the handsome, well-fitted and well-filled store erected three years ago by Mr. John R. Bourke, Jr.

The Eureka Mills at Newtown, owned by Mr. J. Anderson, rank among the finest grist and saw mills in the country. We were frightened almost out of our wits there the other evening. A long black thing was lowered at our very feet, all the way from Souris or farther! It wasn't a sea serpent by a long shot, for it was iron, and hollow as a drum. It might be "Roaring Meg, from Derry walls," or a section of the "Subway" from Cape Traverse, but it was neither. It was the newest thing under the sun, and nothing more or less than a "revolving kiln," destined to make a complete revolution in the grist mill business. It is altogether an Island affair—the conception of Island brains, the work of Island hands. The maker, Mr. Wm. Leslie, of Bayfield, has tested the new kiln thoroughly, secured a patent for it in the Dominion, is securing one in the States, and to Mr. Anderson belongs the honor of possessing the first ever manufactured. Its success once thoroughly established, the Province of Prince Edward Island will stand ahead of all Canada in this important improvement. The "revolving kiln," which your correspondent had the pleasure of examining, is a cylinder of iron 20 feet long and two feet in diameter. The grain goes in at one end, fed to the cylinder by a hopper and shoe, which is worked by the revolution of the cylinder. The grain will advance about 3 inches, each revolution and will be thrown back slightly, and mixed by a row of flanges, set inside the entire length of the cylinder, at about an angle of 45 degrees; finally, the grain comes out the other end—which is slightly depressed—into receivers, dry, ready for grinding, after being cooled. The cylinder is to be set in a furnace, specially arranged to receive it, and will turn out about 10 bushels per hour, thoroughly dried and free from every taint of smoke. In this instance water will give the motive power.

On these premises are also found Rotary Saw Mill, Shingle Mill and Planer. In the Grist Mill there are three runs of stones, and not to be outdone, Mr. Anderson has also put in a new mill which grinds by the roller process, and is the only one of its sort in the Province. The arrangements of the entire premises, their size, the quality and completeness of the fittings, are highly creditable in every respect, and don't look much like a curse on the N. P. or "any other man." After spending pleasant hours, we say "Good-bye."

Out "on the road" one becomes conscious very readily sometimes that there is a mortal machine which requires to be fed with fuel as well as any other machine, and we call for dinner. Half a dozen sit round the table besides the host and hostess. There are three of the stern sex and five of the gentle sex in the company, and the boys are on their best behavior, sometimes as dumb as a state of coma. Women are the most teasing, aggravating, argumentative, bewitching articles in creation. Just when a fellow thinks he has got them right round to his own way of thinking they will turn, and with a single word strike him all up in a heap, and launch an earthquake at all his sentiments, and when the little foot comes down, the rock of Gibraltar might be more easily shifted. One of them at this time asked the meaning of the word "friendship," and wanted to know "what sort of an article a friend was," and thereon hangs a tale which must come out some other time.

GEORGE.

September 21, 1886.

The following extract from the Queen, of Feb. 11, referring to Mr. Abercrombie, speaks for itself. "At morning service the anthem was for the solo 'My Hope is the Everlasting, that He will save you,' with the chorus, 'To Him who left his Throne on High,' from Dr. Stainers' 'Daughter of Jairus.' The solo was sung by Mr. Abercrombie of Her Majesty's Chapel Royal, St. James' in a style which, for true religious fervour and purity, has not been equalled in the history of St. Philip's, rich as are its musical reminiscences. The afternoon service comprised the Litany, and was largely attended, the galleries being filled by the teachers and scholars of the Sunday schools. The anthem was the recit, 'Deeper and deeper still,' and the air 'Wait her angels' (from Handels Jephtha), which the visitor sang superbly. Mendelssohn's 'Then shall the Righteous shine,' was the interesting feature to the musical portion of the large congregation assembled in the evening. Mr. Abercrombie's rendition of this well known solo was worthy alike of the music and the singer." Mr. Abercrombie accompanied the Court Musicians, and sang bravely at the Lyceum on Oct. 6th and 7th.

Consumption.—Notwithstanding the great number who yearly succumb to this terrible and fatal disease, which is daily winding its fatal coils around thousands who are unconscious of its deadly presence, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will cleanse and purify the blood of scrofulous impurities, and cure tubercular consumption (which is only scrofulous disease of the lungs). Send 10 cts in stamps and get Dr. Pierce's complete treatise on consumption and kindred affections with numerous testimonials of cures. Address World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y.

Another very large supply of good Tea, and with 100 lbs. of choice W. P. Coffee, for sale.
