

10 Nurses Are Graduated From Prince Co. Hospital

By ROY TURNER
SUMMERSIDE — Ten graduates of the Prince County Hospital School of Nursing heard an inspiring address by Canon Mark Ferguson on ways of attaining fulfillment of a real and happy life. The graduation exercises last evening at civic auditorium were attended by large number of parents and friends.

President of the hospital board of trustees, Harry T. Holman presided and in his welcoming remarks noted with gratification the large attendance. Mr. Holman said it indicated not only the interest taken in the graduating class but also in the school of nursing.

The president said the nursing school was founded in 1925 with the first class graduating in 1935. He said this is the 40th class to have graduated from the school which has now turned out more than 200 nurses.

Mr. Holman paid tribute to the class and also to its teachers.

Dr. A.R. Grant, representing the hospital medical staff told the proud graduates "you are now members of a society with a proud record of achievement. A society he stated whose goals has illuminated every area of society.

Dr. Grant continued "it is a unique position you hold as part of a medical society" and urged the young women to continue to study as medicine never stands still and neither must you."

Mr. Holman paid tribute to the class and also to its teachers.

the fulfillment of a real and happy life asked the audience to think about the word "real" and what it means. He said the dictionary defines it as "sincere, straightforward, honest, are we any or all of these things?" he asked. "In our relationship with other people when they can see us as we do not see ourselves."

The principal speaker told his audience that being sincere is not trying to patch up something defective and make others think it is a real work of art.

As for being straightforward, the canon continued "it's a good thing but so often what we think is straightforward is blunted by the word 'honesty' he stated that there is nothing that can so readily create a lack of trust as dishonesty." It is all too easy for people to be dishonest with others and often with those nearest and dearest to us."

Canon Ferguson said it is very necessary for one to set up a scale of values and decide which values are to be sacrificed before others." We can succeed in living and working with others," he continued, "we must make a scale of values and act on it."

In summation he stated a "real" person is a person of honesty, who has a willingness to convey a true impression, has the courage, has a scale of values, has a sense of values, has a sense of duty as well as those of a real person," he concluded.

'Know Your Patients' Rehab Workers Urged

People who work in rehabilitating others, in order for their work to be useful must really know their patients, said Dr. John Theriault, when he addressed the P.E.I. Chapter of the Canadian Foundation for Polio-meliitis at its annual meeting held at the Charlottetown last evening.

J.L. Dewar, president of the Island chapter, presented the annual report and the financial report.

A report of the activities of the crippled children's camp was read by Judge St. Clair Trainor or Claude Carroll presented two wheelchairs to the chapter on behalf of the Charlottetown Air Force Association and a new sign of director was also elected.

It is important said Dr. Theriault that people involved in the rehabilitation of others understand the nature of their patients' illness and how they are affected by the illness. He said it was not uncommon for people who are paralyzed and yet they suffered no physical disability. A person he said that loses his body image from a broken neck, a heart ailment or a fractured skull may believe that he is useless, and unable to face his problems, become partially paralyzed. It is the job of the rehab workers to restore confidence in such persons and help them find a place in society.

Although some people who are unable to face their problems and become paralyzed or suffer from other mental disabilities, said Dr. Theriault there are other people who through the great power of their mind overcome great physical handicaps. Such men as Glen Cunningham who suffered serious injuries in his youth and later became a great American miler, Vince Scott, guard for the Hamilton Tiger-Cats was a victim of polio; Johnny Weismuller one time holder of many Olympic world swimming records and

Carrying Dangerous Weapon Charge Results In Jail Term

SUMMERSIDE — Charged with unlawfully carrying a knife for a purpose dangerous to the peace, Eldrie Gordon Hippensall, Summerside, was sentenced to four months in Prince County jail by magistrate R.S. Hinton, O.C. in police court yesterday.

Presenting the case for the crown, Police S.D.A. Wallace announced that the accused appeared at the court to be visited by his brother Wilbur, who was in custody.

Hippensall was refused admission and had then pulled a knife on Jailer Albert Gallant, with a demand to be allowed to see his brother.

He told Gallant to open the door to the detention area, and waited for the jailer to go to his room.

Gallant entered the detention area and quickly closed and locked the door behind him. Escaping through a side door he hailed a passing vehicle and asked the driver to notify the police.

The police were unable to apprehend the accused on the night, but the following morning Hippensall went to Chief Warrant Officer's office and admitted to the offence.

Hippensall testified in court that he had been on his way on his sister's home when he was arrested.

With the handing down of sentence the magistrate commented: "You are charged with an offence not as serious as the facts actually indicate the nature of the offence. You know how you behave when you have too much liquor, you will have to be more careful in the future."
