Book Week Theme At W.K.S. Home, School Ass'n. Tonight

West Kent Home and School Association is observing Young Canada's Book Week by holding a book fair, featuring children's books, at its monthly meeting being held tonight.

A book fair of such books as are on display promotes the aims of Home and School program and is in accord with the purposes of Young Canada's wherever they may live. A fine selection of books will be available for examination by interested parents who will also have an opportunity to buy or order for home use or for presentation to classroom libraries in the school. A wide range of subject material and titles from well known classic to attractive picture books will be displayed, arranged according to age groups from grades one to six.

Book Week, which are: to arouse interest in good books for boys and girls; to encourage reading of worthwhile books, at home, at school, at the library; to make adults aware of the fine children's books available today; to remind adults of the important place good books have in a child's life; to stress the need for good library service to boys and girls.

This is a new Home and School venture in this province and is aimed at building up classroom libraries.

Also, feeder sales expanded sharply, apparently at the expense of medium and common slaughter cattle. Marketings of good and choice cattle, bulls and cows were also higher.

Although inspected slaughter up to September 20 was lower than a year earlier, the number of choice and good carcasses graded showed an increase. Consequently the proportion in these two top grades increased from 40 to 42 per cent of total kill.

During January - August 1957, Canadians consumed nearly as much beef as the nation's farmers produced, but this year, with output and prices both higher - domestic disappearance fell to only 82 per cent of net marketings, the remaining 18 per cent representing net export volume. No great change in this situation is expected before the year's end.

Exports of cattle to the United States, up to September 27 this year, totaled 334 thousand head, almost four times as many as a year earlier. Perhaps the most interesting recent development in the export trade has been the heavy increase in shipments of feeder cattle in the 200 to 700 lb. weight classification. This may be attributed to the liberal supplies of calves on Canadian farms and to the strong United States demand for cattle for "long feed."

ROME (Reuters)—Queen Zein, mother of King Hussein of Jordan, arrived here from Switzerland Monday on her way to the Jordanian capital of Amman. Originally Hussein was to have visited her in Europe. But the 24-year-old monarch cancelled holiday plans after Syrian jet fighters "buzzed" his plane over Syrian territory last week.

YOU MAY HAVE WORMS AND NOT KNOW IT!

Fidgeting, nose-picking and a tormenting rectal itch are often tell-tale signs of Pin-Worms or Round-Worms... ugly parasites that medical experts say infest one out of every three persons examined. Entire families may be victims and not know it.

To get rid of these ugly pests, they must be killed in the intestines where they live and multiply. And clinical tests have proved that JAYNE'S LIQUID VERMIFUGE kills both Pin-Worms and Round-Worms quickly and easily. Then they are expelled from the system in a normal manner and you are free of them.

JAYNE'S LIQUID VERMIFUGE has a pleasant, fruity taste. Children love it—take it without fuss or fret. Remember, Pin-Worms and Round-Worms are highly contagious and can spread through the whole family.

So, at the first sign of worms, be sure to ask your druggist for JAYNE'S LIQUID VERMIFUGE.

10 CHARLOTTETOWN GUARDIAN, NOV. 19, 1958. French Rush Efforts To Save Plan From Collapse

By HAROLD KING

PARIS (Reuters)—Intensive French efforts were under way here Sunday to save the year-old European free trade negotiations from a complete breakdown following France's rejection last week of the British plan for the 17-nation zone.

French experts were in uninterrupted session since Saturday, drafting counter-proposals for a cabinet meeting on the free trade plan.

An official at Premier de Gaulle's office said the government is "anxious to avoid any worsening of the position."

But he gave no indication of what the new proposals might be except that they would be aimed at reconciling the trading interests of the six-nation "Little Europe" Common Market with those of the other 11 nations belonging to the Organization for European Economic Co-operation.

EXPECT NOTHING NEW
Nor was it certain that any new French proposals would be ready in time for the next meeting of the OEEC ministerial committee which is negotiating the European "big family." The committee is scheduled to meet again Wednesday.

Would Revise Crowsnest Pass Freight Rates

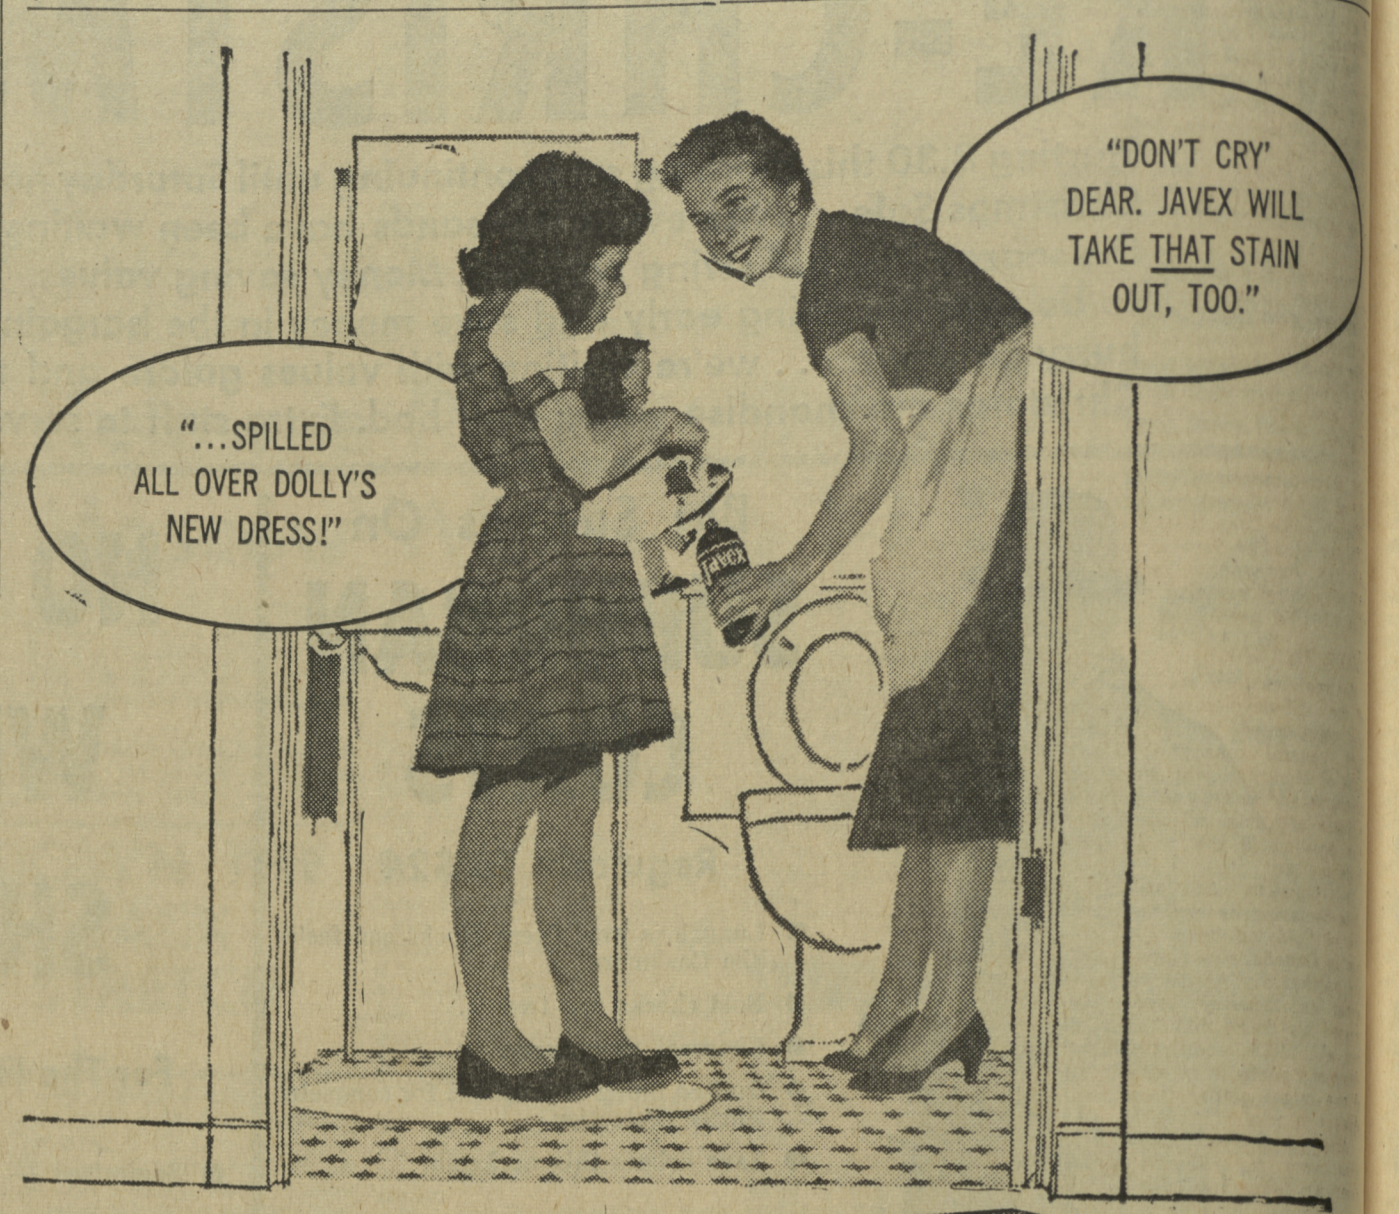

OTTAWA (CP)—Parliament should consider the question of future policy on the low Crowsnest Pass freight rates on grain in the West, a member of the board of transport commissioners said Monday.

This statement by commissioner Howard B. Chase, one of the most outspoken statements by a federal official in years on the "Crow" rates, was in an opinion attached to a board decision awarding the railways a general freight rate increase of 17 per cent.

While signing the unanimous five-man judgment, commissioner Chase added that it is time for a new look at the Crow rates, based on turn-of-the-century rails and applying to export movements within the West. They were originally negotiated by the federal government with the Canadian Pacific Railway and ratified by a 1925 parliamentary statute for old railways.

LIVESTOCK REVIEW

Livestock farmers as a group had a better income, during the first half of this year, than they have had in any comparable period since 1951. Their improved situation has been the result of (a) a cyclic downturn in beef production in the United States which has reduced the total amount of meat available on the North American continent and stimulated a rise in the levels of meat and livestock prices, and (b) a further increase in Canadian livestock output which has grown steadily heavier since 1953.

Prices of livestock at public stockyards during January-June this year averaged almost ten per cent higher than a year earlier according to a price index published by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. Also, farm output of livestock is estimated to have increased 14 per cent. Consequently, farm cash income from sales of livestock was sharply higher than in January-June 1957 (Table 1).

Regionally, the gains in Saskatchewan, the greatest gains having occurred in the three prairie provinces.

Retail meat prices have risen more rapidly than prices of most other food items during the past year and, accordingly, most people have bought less meat. Domestic disappearance per person during January-August was about 3.0 per cent lower than a year earlier, but, owing to an increase in Canada's population, total domestic disappearance was practically unchanged.

CATTLE
The Canadian cattle situation so far this year has been dominated by two pairs of complementary factors: (1) the cyclic downturn in beef production in the United States coupled with record-breaking production in Canada; and (2) the super-abundance of feed in the United States coupled with below average yields of grain and fodder on the Canadian prairies.

The downturn of beef production in the United States, with no compensating decline in the demand for beef caused a substantial increase in prices of finished cattle. This, in conjunction with the bumper crops of grain and roughage, provided a strong incentive for United States farmers to rebuild their herds, thus a strong incentive for Canadians beef and all classes of Canadian beef cattle developed in the United States, a demand to which the Canadian industry was pleased to respond owing partly to the tighter fodder situation in this country, but could not satisfy even with the help of Mexico and overseas meat exports.

The national herd in Canada was smaller in June 1958 than a year earlier, declines having occurred in all provinces, after a continuous build-up since 1950. Numbers of steers and beef heifers declined more heavily than other classes of cattle, particularly in the prairie provinces, as a result of the heavy flow of slaughter and feeder cattle to the United States during the previous 12 months. However, numbers of beef cows increased in the three main cattle producing provinces (Ontario, Saskatchewan and Alberta) and numbers of calves increased in the four western provinces, thus maintaining a high potential for Canada as a whole.

FEEDER SALES
Net marketings (commercial output) of cattle during January-August were substantially greater than a year earlier. Regionally, increases occurred in every province, ranging from ten per cent in Alberta to 34 per cent in Nova Scotia. Seasonally, the increase was most pronounced in the first quarter; by August, monthly marketings were actually lower than a year earlier.

ANNUAL CHRISTMAS SEAL SALE DOES TUBERCULOSIS EXIST IN PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND?

- During 1957 —
- 13,280 — — received FREE X-rays
- 58 — — cases of tuberculosis requiring treatment were discovered in this province, most of them in the curable stage
- 88 — — tuberculosis patients are being treated at the Sanatorium.
- 18,000 — —

people attended the Tuberculin and X-Ray Survey. The Prince Edward Island Tuberculosis League has played a major role in these Surveys.

These figures are the answer, consequently, we must continue to work to control and eventually banish this disease from our country.

It is to help finance this essential work that Christmas Seals are sold each year by our Tuberculosis League. We need the help of every family on The Island.

Will you help us so we can help you — and your family — and your neighbors? Every gift, large or small will be appreciated.
