

THE DAILY EXAMINER. NOVEMBER 27, 1882.

Editorial Notes.

We clip to-day from the Winnipeg Free Press a poem on "The Great Lone Land," by Mr. W. C. Harris, jr., lately of this city. The poem was reprinted by the St. John Telegraph and highly commended.

In eleven years Ontario has considerably more than doubled its yield of its staple articles of agricultural produce; and the yield is still increasing, though the farmers are, according to the Grit organs, being ruined by the National Policy.

Advices from Dublin report that widespread distress is feared in Ireland this winter. It is said that the districts most seriously affected are Sligo, Ballina, Salford and the greater portion of Galway. There is also much destitution in West Clare and Connought.

The Bank of Nova Scotia give notice in the Halifax papers that, pursuant to resolution, passed at a special general meeting of its Shareholders, it will apply to the Dominion Parliament for authority to amalgamate with the Union Bank of Prince Edward Island; also for authority to reduce the nominal value of its shares from two hundred to one hundred dollars, doubling the present number of shares.

Each of the European potentates, as he meets the representatives of his subjects, protests his pacific disposition and his ardent desire for peace. If we could forget that they are all armed to the teeth, and are still arming, we might imagine that we have just entered upon the Peace Era. Better than their protestations would be the knowledge that their swords are being beaten into pruning hooks.

The Patriot works too hard to make THE EXAMINER jealous of the Herald. Our Iago is not cunning enough by half. Newspaper men rarely know the secrets of Government; and even if the Herald is more intimately connected with the Local Government than THE EXAMINER, we shall not growl about it. In our opinion a newspaper is better out of the control and confidence of politicians whether of the Government or of the Opposition. The public interests are not likely to be promoted by a Press in the confidence of such a man as—Ex-Governor Laird, for instance.

The Globe congratulates Toronto on its rapid growth and prosperity, and says:—"The marvellous extension of population to the west and north-west which has taken place in the last few years is such as to rival the growth made by the most phenomenal of Western cities and to excite the most favourable anticipations for the future." Nor is the Globe at all fearful, though the National Policy has been endorsed; for it declares that "there is every indication that the rate of progress of the past, great as it has been, will be far outstripped by the developments of the next decade."

Referring to the Governor General's recent speech at Victoria (B. C.) the London Times says "the tone of the speech is sanguine and optimistic, betraying no sign of the existence of the tension between the eastern and western Provinces of the Dominion which a few years ago was one of the chief difficulties of Canadian statesmen. The Canadian Pacific Railway, then the stumbling block, is now apparently the powerful agency for union. The Times reviews the great natural resources of British Columbia, and says it is impossible to escape from a feeling of almost bewilderment at the thought of the future of North America.

The London Standard says that: "so heavy have been the marine insurance losses from which Lloyds have suffered that as much as £750,000 has lately been paid by the underwriters there. Quite a number of them, says the Pall Mall Gazette, have withdrawn from business altogether; some perforce because their means were at an end, others, because they saw no hope of doing a more profitable business in the future, preferred to keep what was left of their fortunes. The competition of the outside marine insurance companies is blamed for this state of things. They have knocked rates down, it is said, till it no longer pays to take risks."

The artificial flowers that adorn the bonnets of the women of the United States, cost more it is stated, than all that is paid for the support of Christian missions. Alas for christian zeal! What about the expenditure for the same purpose in Canada, or New Brunswick? What would be the result of an investigation as to expenditure in any church near home—your own for instance? Or, to bring the matter down to the individual, are there not many Christian women who spend much more each year for artificial flowers than they give for the spread of the gospel which they say saves them?—Religious Intelligencer.

A FATAL railway accident occurred on the Intercolonial Railway on Friday night. A freight train ran into an express at Millstream. The tender of the freight struck the Pullman of the express with such force as to raise the tender up and force it against the caboose, crushing the driver so badly that he died in a short time afterwards. A fireman named Fraser was almost instantly killed, and another brakeman all attached to the freight, is very badly injured.

THE "Jersey Lily" who is now creating a furore in New York can be seen (in water colors) at the Diamond Bookstore. Judging from his many fair customers, the enterprising proprietor of the D. B. store is led to believe that Mrs. Langtry would not create any enthusiasm in Prince Edward Island. Our women, he says, are so beautiful, that the appearance of Mrs. Langtry in Charlottetown would be tantamount to "bringing coals to Newcastle."

WE see by the reward offered by the Marshal, in to-day's issue that some malicious scoundrel has amused himself by destroying all the glass in one window of the residence formerly occupied by James Peake, Esq. ONE HUNDRED pairs Acme Club Skates at W. E. DAWSON & Co's. [Nov 27 3iew 2w]

WE regret to learn that a fine young son of Mr. Michael King, Rocky Point, met with a terrible death a few weeks ago in the State of Wisconsin. He was studying telegraphy at Mineral Point. On the day of his sad death he left the latter place to visit some friends in Helena. Shortly after starting on board a train his attention was drawn to some letters which he forgot to post. On arrival at the next station he got off to post them, but the train started quick, and he was obliged to run on a forward platform, he slipped and fell between the rails. The wheels passed over his body lengthwise, and mangled it frightfully. The unfortunate young man lived but a short time after he was discovered. To his afflicted parents and friends we tender our sincerest sympathy.

THE lobster factory and meat packing establishment of Messrs Forest & Sherar at Cape Sharp, eight miles from Georgetown, was totally consumed by fire on Saturday morning between one and two o'clock. The premises consisted of seven buildings, viz: a paint room 8' x 27', a crack room 65' x 34', a packing room 35' x 25', a bath room 25' x 28', an office, stable, and coal shed. The fire originated from the furnace in the bath-room and spread so rapidly to the paint room, over which the hands were sleeping, that they were obliged to escape in their night clothes. When the fire was discovered the roofs were all ablaze, and as a gale was blowing from the southeast at the time, it was impossible to save any of the contents of the factory. All the fishing gear, cunnid mast, cunnid, &c., were destroyed, and every one of the buildings were reduced to ash within a half hour from the discovery of the fire. The building and stock is valued at from $9,500 to $7,900. If being partially insured, Messrs. Forest and Sherar's loss will amount to between $50,000 and $60,000.

Fire at Souris.

To the Editor of the Examiner.

DEAR SIR,—On Monday last as the good people of Souris were about to partake of their mid-day repast, the startling cry of fire was shouted in stentorian tones by a travelling agent of Aldermanic proportions who happened to be in town. At first the alarm was considered to be nothing more than a mere joke on the part of the humorous agent, as no signs of fire could be seen in any direction. In an instant, however, all doubts were speedily dispelled, as dark volumes of smoke were seen to arise in the direction of Mr. Sullivan's residence. It was soon discovered that a building in that vicinity occupied by Mr. C. D. Anderson as a work shop—but more commonly known as the Grit headquarters of Souris—was on fire. It appears that Mr. Anderson had been at work in the shop that day, and had just gone to dinner, apprehending no danger from a trifling fire which he left in the stove. But, unhappily, through some defect or other, in the flue, the ceiling took fire, and in a few moments the whole building was one seething sheet of flame. The good travelling agent was the first to discover the fire, and promptly gave the alarm, but although a large number of people had quickly gathered on the spot, nothing could be done to save the burning building. All efforts were therefore directed toward saving the adjoining houses, which, I am happy to say, were successful. Messrs. J. G. Sterns, C. C. Carlton, jr., and Captain Lawie well deserve the thanks of the community for their heroic efforts on this occasion in preventing the flames from spreading.

Much sympathy is felt for Mr. Anderson, whose loss, I understand, is but partly covered by insurance. As to the loss which the Grit party has sustained in being deprived of their favorite head quarters, the sympathy is not quite so widespread. By that party, however, its many reminiscences will doubtless be long cherished. It was here in 1878 that the Montague Demosthenes, Manoah Rowe, delivered his memorable philippic against protection. It was here, also, that the gifted Malcolm gave his learned disquisition on Cobden and the Corn Laws. It was here, too, at a later date, that the ill-starred disciples of Esculapius immortalized themselves by their matchless oratory on the affairs of state. And last, though by no means least, it was here that the redoubtable Simon Grouchy, of local fame, uttered his scathing invective against the Government for substituting wire for board fencing.

Alas! how fleeting are the affairs of life! In a word, Sic transit gloria mundi. Yours &c., OBSERVANDI. Souris, P. E. I., Nov. 27, 1882.
