The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1♣	Pass	1♦	2♥
2♠	Pass	3♣

Opening lead—six of clubs.

Comparatively few deals played in team of four style wind up in the same contract and with the same result, even though the identical cards are held at each table. There seem to be always surprises in store, even with the most prosaic hands. Apparently, the imagination of man knoweth no bounds.

This hand occurred in a team match. At the first table, South, a player inclined to open hands with a club despite the presence of a more biddable suit, followed his inclination in this deal. The bidding then proceeded as shown in the diagram. West was so delighted with the final contract of three clubs that he forgot to double.

The outcome was that South missed by four tricks for a loss of 400 points.

When his teammates played the hand at the other able (holding the East-West cards), the bidding followed this peculiar course:

South	West	North	East
1 NT	Pass	2♦	3♦
Pass	4♣	Pass	4♥
Dble	5♣	Dble

North - South were playing weak notrumps (13 to 15 points). East's cuebid in diamonds was rather exuberant under the circumstances, though it is true he had a good hand. A double of two diamonds would have been more sensible, and East probably would have ended at three hearts, undoubled, for down one or two, if he had done this.

West's run-out to five clubs wasn't good either, though by this time most of the damage had already been done.

West did not fare well at five clubs doubled. He went down four, the same as his teammates at the other table, but since he had been doubled, the cost was 1,100 points.

The moral seems to be that some players should avoid club contracts at any cost, particularly in cases where both pairs of a team undertake high club contracts on the same hand — whether seated North-South or East - West. It is difficult for both pairs to be right in such cases.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

A Cryptogram Quotation

Q X Q W Y C D D E W R X Q D W N H D-
F Y O W S P W S H H F W E W Q J F G W X U
R X Q D W N H D.—O S P X R E W U X C R Z C O V
