Hog Deficiency Payments Are Effective Jan. 11, 1960

OTTAWA—Hon. Douglas S. Harkness, minister of agriculture, advised the House of Commons last March 23 that the method of supporting the price of hogs under the Stabilization Act would be changed later in the year, from that of support by purchase to support by means of deficiency payments.

The minister Friday announced that the "deficiency payment" program for providing price support for hogs will go into effect Jan. 11, 1960, and the federal government will discontinue the present "offer to purchase" policy Jan. 9.

He said the method of support by purchase has resulted in a large increase in hog production, and thus the accumulation of a surplus among of pork, which it is becoming increasingly difficult to dispose of. The change to support by deficiency payments, with a quota on which each producer will be paid, is designed to bring production into line with the amount of pork which can be marketed.

Under the deficiency payment plan, the quota of 100 hogs which a producer may collect deficiency payments, will mean that at least 85 per cent to 90 per cent of farmers will, on the average, receive the same price for their A and B hogs as they are guaranteed under the present purchase method. These farmers produce 70 per cent of the hogs.

Under this deficiency payment method of support, the market price of hogs will be determined by the ordinary laws of supply and demand. When the price is below the support level the consumer will secure the advantage of the subsidy paid, through lower prices for pork.

The deficiency payment will be the amount by which the national average market price calculated on the marketing year beginning Jan. 11, 1960, falls below the support price which is equivalent to $23.65 per hundred pounds, warm dressed weight from Grade A carcasses at Toronto.

Herman and Lester, formerly on Harmony, are reported to be making their homes in Saint John, N. B., while Carl resides in Harmony.
