Local and Other Items.

STILL THEY COME.—A London despatch says that the sixth batch (eighty-five) of emigrants has departed for Canada.

LOBSTERS.—The fishing continues good on the west side of the Island. Miminigash fishermen are averaging $4 a day since the fish struck.

PRINCE OF WALES COLLEGE.—The closing day of the Academical year 1888-89 occurs on Friday 31st inst. The exercises begin at 11 a. m., sharp.

IMPORTANT.—The time—18th of July. The place—Alberton. The event—the grandest tea of the season. Keep this excursion in view when planning out your summer enjoyments.

GOOD MOVE.—The Alberton Trotting Park Company are erecting a board fence, 9 feet high, around their splendid park. When fenced in, this will be one of the finest parks in the Province.

A GOOD DAY'S SPORT.—We learn from the Pioneer that Mr. Edward Holland had a big day with the brant on Wednesday last. He bagged fifty-six—an unprecedented day's shooting.

REMARKABLE.—An exchange reports that Mr. Joseph Wells, sr., of Point de Bute, has a ewe which has given birth to five, four and three lambs successively, in all twelve lambs, and all within two years.

CATTLE AND HORSES.—The Summerside Pioneer says that thirty head of cattle shipped by Messrs. Beamish & McGrath, and 6 horses were taken over by the St. Lawrence on Saturday morning last.

A BIG VERDICT.—The circuit court at Woodstock, N. B., has just concluded a breach of promise suit—Annie Laurie Bell vs. Thomas Giberson. A verdict for plaintiff of $4,000 was rendered, the full amount claimed.

The entering wedge of a complaint that may prove fatal is often a slight cold, which a dose or two of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral might have cured at the commencement. It would be well, therefore to keep this remedy within reach at all times.

A WESTERN SHOWER.—A cloud-burst occurred at Nashville, Ind., on Thursday. Great damage resulted from it, cellars being inundated and the first floors of business houses and residences being filled to a considerable depth with water.

The prevalence of scrofulous taint in the blood is much more universal than many are aware. Indeed, but few persons are free from it. Fortunately, however, we have in Ayer's Sarsaparilla, the most potent remedy ever discovered for this terrible affliction.

STRUCK BY LIGHTNING.—A barn owned by John Flemming, at Ketch Harbor, N. S., was struck by lightning on Wednesday night. The whole end of the building was demolished. Thos. Quigley, who was in the vicinity of the barn at the time, was knocked senseless.

DON'T LIKE KANSAS.—It is said that upwards of one hundred families from the States have settled in Manitoba during the past six months, and a farmer from Kansas is now in Winnipeg seeking land for himself and neighbors, they being dissatisfied with their present location.

MACKEREL CATCH.—Capt. Anderson, of Souris, thinking there might be mackerel about, set his nets last evening and went out early this morning to see the result. He was rewarded by getting fifteen or twenty fish from them. One of the mackerel weighed over 2½ lbs., and the remainder averaged 2 lbs. each.

ANOTHER RELIC.—Martin Stewart has shown the Amherst Record a musket ball which was found at Fort Lawrence, 22 feet below the surface of the marsh, while excavating with the steam shovel for the ship railway. It must have been used during the engagements between the English and French there 135 years ago.

THE VICTOR THIS TIME.—The yachts Valkyrie, Yaana and Irex sailed another race on the 24th. The finish was made with a good southeast breeze. After a splendid race the Valkyrie was the winner five hours, six minutes, 20 seconds; Yaana second, five hours, 13 minutes, 22 seconds; Irex third, five hours, 14 minutes, 10 seconds.

CLOSED ITS DOORS.—The Scranton (Pa.) City Bank closed its doors on Saturday afternoon. At a meeting of the directors it was found that the financial affairs of the bank were in a very bad shape. The vice-president, George A. Jessup, who was also acting as cashier, was arrested, charged with embezzling $100,000. Jessup gave bail in $25,000, the president of the bank becoming surety.

WHAT THE POST-MORTEM REVEALED.—One day last week, Meat Inspector Richardson, of Minneapolis, condemned a cow, and a post-mortem was held. When the stomach was opened it was found to contain a handful of nails, ranging in size from a tack to a ten-penny; a rubber ball, several beer corks, a sleeve button, a paper chip and a Nicollet House bar check, No. 5, besides several pieces of old leather. The cow had been fed on hotel swill.

HE MAY RECOVER.—Wm. Smith, a clerk in the Halifax Post Office, was, according to a recent despatch, a passenger on the brigantine Sarah Duncan, for Jamaica, in pursuit of recuperation from alcoholism. Two days out a storm arose, during which Smith, who was delirous, cut his throat with a razor. He was very violent and had to be put in irons. The ship put back to port to repair sails and land the unfortunate man. There is a possibility that he may recover.

THE MOSELLE ASHORE.—A telegram received by Peake Bros. & Co., states that the barque Moselle, Captain Murchison, is ashore near Bahia, South America, and will probably be a total wreck. She was bound north from Buenos Ayres. The Moselle is only ten years old, and was built at Mount Stewart. The nature of her cargo is unknown. Captain Murchison has been in charge of the Moselle about a year. She was partially insured.

O'Brien's Cross-Examination.

HE DISDAINS TO DECEIVE ENGLISHMEN BY A SHOW OF SHAM LOYALTY—IRELAND WOULD REBEL WERE THERE ANY PROSPECT OF SUCCESS.

The cross-examination of William O'Brien was continued on the 23rd by Attorney-General Webster. O'Brien declared that United Ireland, his paper, worked according to constitutional methods, and advocated nothing but peaceful means to attain the end sought by the Irish parliamentary party. He admitted writing an article which had been printed in United Ireland, in which it was stated that Queen Victoria was only known in Ireland by her scarcely decently disguised hatred of Ireland, and by her inordinate salary. He also admitted having written another article declaring that Earl Spencer would be the last strong Englishman who would attempt to rule Ireland by barbarism, paid perjury, butchery, and the use of sacred rope. O'Brien admitted the authorship of an article declaring that the chairman of the committee selected to receive the Prince of Wales on the occasion of his visit to Ireland would be hunted from public life. At this point O'Brien became excited, and vehemently exclaimed: "He has been. Rather than to allow Englishmen to be deceived by a show of sham loyalty I am resolved to tell them the truth." O'Brien said personally he had never spoken disrespectfully about the Prince of Wales. No people, he declared, ever suffered more for loyalty than Irishmen; none profited more by protestations of loyalty than the people who oppressed them. It was clear that England would not satisfy the aspirations of Ireland, and if there was any rational chance of success an attempt should be made to rebel. He declared the London papers more responsible for the actions of the dynamite party than Finerty or Ford. But for the views these papers expressed, £1,000 would not have been collected in America for the dynamiters. Referring to the articles concerning the Queen and Prince of Wales, previously mentioned in his testimony, O'Brien said they were justified at the time they were written, but not justified in the present state of relations between England and Ireland. The articles were not intended to calm the people's objections to British rule as then administered. He thought British rule hateful. The Parnellites when the visit of the Prince of Wales was under discussion passed a resolution advising the people that the visit, for party purposes, should not be made an occasion for trouble. O'Brien justified the articles written by him and printed in United Ireland to illustrate the brutal argument that, because the English numbered 30,000,000, and the Irish 4,000,000, the English were entitled to do as they liked.

Attorney-General Webster quoted from an article in United Ireland, headed "Allen Larkin and O'Brien honored by Chicago kindred," and asked witness whether it referred to the Manchester murderers.

O'Brien replied: "Not murderers, but men engaged in open warfare who shot policemen by accident."

Attorney-General—Was shooting at the police in the cab at Manchester legitimate warfare?

O'Brien—Not criminal. Men who openly take risks to release their comrades are no more murderers than anybody here. They acted from the highest and noblest motives.

Presiding Justice Hannen said he understood O'Brien did not consider the shooting at Manchester murder, but he wished to remind him the court did so regard it.

O'Brien's testimony was concluded.

T. D. Sullivan, member of the House of Commons for College division of Dublin, and formerly treasurer of the Land League, testified before the Parnell Commission, on the 24th. He stated that a portion of the League's books and documents had been taken to the residence of a Mrs. Maloney, of Dublin. Arthur O'Connor took some of them to London, and Egan took others to Paris.

Charlottetown Markets.

The attendance at the market to-day was small. Eggs still keep at 13 to 14 cents per dozen, the demand being slow at that price. Butter is much the same as last week. Below we quote prices:—

Morena.

Morena! I wept, when, thy sadness revealing,
The harp-strains, once joyful, came solemn and low;
Yet sweetness through sorrow-tones angels were breathing,
As sunbeams 'mid shadows on summer-tides flow.

Thy sunlight of morning has darkened ere noontide,
The waves' gentle music sounds dirge-like and drear;
They break o'er its cold brow; he owned thee his love-bride,
And thou,—but his dimmed eye ne'er seeth thy tear.

Reflecting heaven's blue arch, the broad lake is sleeping;
The sail, to the mast clinging, waiteth the breeze;
And clasped on thy bosom, their long vigils keeping,
White hands, whose last rest was in his, o'er the seas

Ye winds that sweep forth from the mountains, far sloping
In forest-clad terraces, up through the mist,
Waft homeward the grief-burdened life-blossom, drooping
Ere day-star's full radiance the joy-tints have kissed.

Morena! I weep when, thy sadness revealing,
The harp-strains, once joyful, come solemn and low;
Yet sweetness through sorrow-tones angels are breathing,
As sunbeams 'mid shadows on summer-tides flow.

ANON.

The Weather in Dakota.

Dakota is a sort of breeding ground of weather, and it would be strange if occasionally something unique in the atmospheric line were not produced there. The stories that come from there about recent meterological phenomena show that something of the kind has been prevalent there during the past week.

To begin with, there was a period of two or three weeks without rain. Then the wind arose and blew the soil like snow, so that a dirt storm occurred, which was like a snow storm in appearance, but far worse in its effects. Spring wheat was blown clear out of the ground and whole fields were cleared of their top soil to a depth of several inches. Drifts of sand and dirt occurred in partially sheltered places, which were in some cases three feet deep.

But more remarkable things remain. The atmosphere was so charged with electricity that it was dangerous to touch metallic bodies. An end of barbed wire that had become loose set fire to a field of grass. A cow passing along by a barbed wire fence would sustain a continuous fire of sparks from the barbs that looked in the dark like a fusilade of musketry. In fact, the Territory was pretty nearly in a state of spontaneous electrical combustion.

At last the welcome rain came—a genuine soaking rain—and all the wheat that was not blown out of the ground will grow finely. That which was blown out will come up, probably, but it will be on the roofs of houses, in dooryards, in city streets, and on the clothes of persons who got caught in the rain after being out in the dust storm.

Personal.

It is believed that the post of Lord Lieutenant of Ireland has been offered to the Duke of Westminster.

Eliza Duxbury, a leading member of the Wesleyan Church, London, and a strong Conservative, who died recently, has left in her will $10,000 to Mr. Parnell for his private use.

Among the students of Queen's University whose trials have been sustained, and who have been licensed by the Kingston Presbytery, is Mr. J. McKinnon, B. A. of this Province.

Robert Shields has just been awarded damages to the amount of $22,000,000 by the Supreme Court of the United States. The Omaha Town Site Company "jumped his claim,"—and he went to law about it.

On Saturday, says a despatch, a deputation from the various Irish Municipal Societies presented Mr. Parnell with an address congratulating him upon his success in disproving before the commission the many calumnies that had been heaped upon him. Mr. Parnell made a suitable reply.

Mrs. Gladstone was recently presented by the Womens' Liberal Federation, of London, with a diamond brooch containing a minature of Mr. Gladstone, copied from Millais' portrait. Mr. Gladstone, Mr. Parnell and other members of Parliament witnessed the presentation. Both Mr. Gladstone and Mr. Parnell made speeches.

While Mr. Gladstone was crossing Picadilly Junction, Berkeley Street, on the evening of the 23rd inst., he was knocked down by a cab turning into the street. He was immediately assisted to his feet by the spectators and, finding himself unhurt, ran after the cab, which he stopped and detained until the driver was taken into custody by the police. He attended the House of Commons on the 24th and appeared well.

SERIOUS ACCIDENT.—The Pioneer says that Mr. Alexander Millar, of Lot 16, sustained severe injuries on Friday, the 17th inst., by which he will be confined to bed for some time. On that day he was hauling manure out to a back field, and while shovelling it out (standing upon the heap in the cart for that purpose) the horse started and Mr. Millar fell backward. Being a fleshy man he fell heavily on the ground, sustaining such a shock as to render him unconscious for a time. He managed after some time to crawl to the house more dead than alive. Dr. McKay, of Summerside, was immediately summoned. Mr. Millar is severely strained about the back but no bones are broken.
