THE GORDON HIGHLANDERS AT DARGAL.
 [From the 'Witness']
 Oh, gallant Gordons, tried and true,
 For evermore renowned,
 Who on Dargal's fatal ridge
 Your former valor crowned.
 'Twas yours to add a lustre bright
 To the annals of the brave,
 Who in that fierce and deadly fray
 First found a soldiers grave.
 Oh, Ghoukas, Dorsets, Derbyshires,
 Your valor was not vain,
 For though the ridge you did not win,
 Your bodies strewed the plain.
 'Twas then brave Kempster called a'out,
 And ordered to the front,
 The killed Gordon Highland men
 To bear the battle's brunt.
 And when Mathias, wise and bold,
 His final order gave,
 No doubt was in his martial tone,
 'Twas yours the day to save.
 'Men of the Gordon Highlanders,
 Our general says that post
 Must, ere this day is past, be ours,
 Whatever be the cost.
 'And to him now I here reply,
 For I know and truly feel,
 The Gordon Highlanders will take
 That ridge with British steel.'
 The charge was made across the plain,
 And while the bullets hailed,
 Your gallant ranks held bravely up,
 Their courage never quailed.
 To cheer you on, a good old strain
 The pipers blithely played,
 The Gordon's tune 'Cock of the North,'
 As heard at each parade.
 And soon upon that terraced ridge,
 Your colors boldly wave
 In triumph o'er your beaten foe,
 Who fled their lives to save.
 But ere the summit you have gained,
 One hero in your throng
 Did make for evermore a name
 In story and in song.
 Like Witherington, of ancient fame,
 Brave Findlater played on
 His war-pipe shrill, altho' his legs
 Were shattered to the bone.
 Then high among your killed ranks,
 Where every man was brave,
 First honor give that piper true;
 Who bled, but played his stave.

 According to the New York World, President Dole of the Hawaiian Republic has admitted that the institution cannot stand by itself, and that the hope of the republic lies in the United States taking possession. The Hawaiians are against it; the Japanese, the largest of the foreign elements, are against it; the Portuguese are against it; the British are not in favor of it. The Hawaiian Republic is supported only by a handful of foreign adventurers, who are in turn kept in their places by the moral force of the United States, to which they desire to transfer the property they have seized.

ST. PATRICK'S HALL—The attendance at the Benevolent Irish Society's concert in St. Patrick's Hall last night was large, and the rendering of the programme was so pleasing that most of the numbers were encored. Vocal solos were well given by Misses Benoit, Nicholson and Smith, and Mr. Charles Bell and Mr. J. H. Macdonald, of St. Dunstan's College. The Misses Robin and McMillan and the Masters Payne contributed instrumental selections with their usual skill and expression; and the literary end of the programme was held up in an excellent manner by Mr. R. F. Madigan who gave two readings. The prologue and chorus by the pupils of St. Joseph's Convent was a very pleasing item; and the views projected by Mr. Gillis were greatly enjoyed. Accompaniments were played by Mrs. Kelly, Miss Payne, Miss Sweeney and Mr. Gallant. Owing to unavoidable causes the numbers opposite the names of C. B. Warren, E. H. Hill, Geo. Hennessy and Brent McLeas were not given. The National Anthem brought a most enjoyable entertainment to a close.
