Couple Presumed Drowned Are Held By Ontario Police

KIRKLAND LAKE, Ont. (CP) A former Royal Canadian Navy petty officer and a woman, both presumed drowned in Lake Ontario last Aug. 6, were taken into police custody here during the weekend.

Police said Russel Falshaw, 30, of Hamilton and Margaret Faye Johnston, 21, of Burlington — a laboratory technician at a Hamilton hospital — have been living in Kirkland Lake since a sports car and clothes bearing their identities were found on a lonely beach near Bronte, between Toronto and Hamilton.

Falshaw will be taken back to the naval base at Hamilton to face desertion charges. Miss Johnston was placed in the custody of her parents who arrived here Sunday.

Police Constable Peter Delenardo recognized Miss Johnston from a photograph issued when the couple disappeared.

The disappearance touched off a police search of the lake near where their belongings were found.

Police said Falshaw had been employed at a local soft drink factory. Miss Johnston was unemployed.

When the couple went missing Miss Johnston was a member of the Royal Canadian Navy Reserve at HMCS Star, Hamilton.

Bonn Backs Polaris Deal

BONN (Reuters) — West Germany will co-operate with President Kennedy's plan to set up a multilateral nuclear force for NATO, Chancellor Konrad Adenauer told U.S. State Undersecretary George Ball here.

Unofficial West German reaction was shown in the newspaper Frankfurter Allgemeine Zeitung, which welcomed "support in Bonn for the American request to recognize the leadership role of the United States as a nuclear force."

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 ♦	Pass	1 ♥	Pass
2 ♥	Pass	2 ♠	Pass
4 ♥	Pass	5 NT	Pass
7 ♥

Opening lead—jack of hearts.

This hand was played in a team match. It features good bidding and good play.

South (Harold Ogust) responded to the diamond bid with a modest one heart. When North raised to two hearts, Ogust bid two spades, and when North then jumped to four hearts, Ogust realized that there was a good chance of making a grand slam.

About all he needed for that purpose were the A-K of hearts and a good diamond suit. Accordingly, he bid five notrump, deliberately by-passing the opportunity to use Blackwood.

The five notrump bid was a use of the grand slam force and requested partner to bid seven hearts with any two of the three highest trumps. North dutifully responded seven hearts, which became the final contract.

If West had opened the ace of clubs, Ogust would have made thirteen tricks without any trouble. He would have ruffed in dummy and discarded a diamond from his hand.

But West shrewdly opened a trump and Ogust now had to solve the problem of avoiding a diamond loser. He could not know at this point where the queen of diamonds was located; whether it was better to finesse one opponent or the other for the queen, or to play for the drop of the queen by cashing the ace and king.

After playing two rounds of trumps he cashed the A-K-Q of spades, learning in the process that West had started with two spades and East with four. This apparently insignificant clue led him to guess the diamond situation correctly.

After ruffing a spade in dummy he played a diamond to the ace and another one back to the ace. With the finesse succeeding, he could then claim thirteen tricks, worth 2,210 points.

Ogust reasoned that if West had been dealt eight clubs he would pretty surely have entered the bidding at some point. Since West had been silent throughout, Ogust credited him with two spades and a heart (both proven), seven clubs, and, hence, three diamonds

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.
