Korean 25th

The army's brigades are numbered from 1 so it is unlikely that the name 25th will re-appear, at least in peacetime. The name 25th for the Korean brigade was apparently plucked out of the air.

NEW HEADQUARTERS
Headquarters of the 4th Brigade now is at Camp Borden, Ont., where it was posted after the major portion of the 6,000-man 25th Brigade was pulled out of Korea last fall. There now are only some 1,000 Canadian soldiers in Korea.

The 25th Brigade, formed as a special volunteer force soon after the Korean war broke out June 25, 1950, left 309 dead on Korean battlefields. Another 91 deaths were due to non-battle causes. A total of 1,203 brigade members were wounded or injured in action and another 32 returned from Communist prisoner-of-war camps.

Fourteen brigade members were never definitely accounted for and the army has listed them as "for all official purposes presumed to have died as the result of enemy action." Their estates have been settled and the army has closed its casualty books on the Korean war.

Recommendations By United Church Presbytery

Addresses by Dr. George A. Little, secretary of the Board of Publications, and Dr. W. S. Godfrey, superintendent of Home Missions, as well as consideration of such matters as religious education in the public schools, the manner of sale of wood alcohol, a national evangelistic mission, report of Boys' Parliament and the proposed visit of the President of Conference were among the highlights of the recent meeting of the Prince Edward Island Presbytery of the United Church of Canada.

Devotions were conducted by Rev. George W. Tilley, of Cherry Valley. Dr. Little, at a supper meeting in the Social Hall of Trinity Church, outlined the Every-Family plan for placing the church parsonage in the hands of the congregations. Dr. Godfrey spoke of the expanding building programme of the church, which is requiring sacrificial giving on the part of many congregations, and for which help is being sought throughout the whole church. He also commended the manner in which the people of the Maritimes have met the financial challenge of increasing costs by raising salaries and lowering the grants required, while subscribing almost a million dollars extra for colleges and underwriting all local expenses. Due to the work of Lay Commissioners to the General Council meeting in Saskatchewan last September, the minimum salary is now $2,000 and is to be raised to $3,000 when circumstances permit. A travel allowance is also paid.

An example of the growth of the church was seen in the word picture painted by Rev. Kenneth Findley of Moncton, of a charge which began in 1950 with one minister, and is today divided into two charges, with supporting of its own minister and building new churches together worth $150,000.

LEADERSHIP TRAINING
David MacDonald of Charlottetown gave an interesting account of the Maritime Tuxis and Older Boys' Parliament, held in Sackville during the last week of December. He stressed the value of exchanging ideas and experiences for the increase of faith, leadership education and opportunity for service, of the deepening feeling of friendship with Jesus Christ, and commended the Share Selling Campaign for the support of the Maritime Religious Education Council. His report was part of the report of the Committee on Christian Education, which also included the Atlantic Christian Training Centre at Tatamagouche, Nova Scotia, where leadership education will be given in six weeks courses and at Summer School; and stressed the importance of Communicable classes.

Rev. L. M. Murray spoke of the need of recruits for the Ministry and other church vocations, calling for a greater concentration in local congregations. Announcement was made of an itinerary for the president of the Maritime Conference—Rev. James A. Fraser—who will visit the Presbytery in March in the interests of recruiting. A report of the Pine Hill New Residence Campaign was given by Rev. Frank MacLacnae, who stated that $600,000 had passed $500,000, and the Presbytery's allocation has been paid in cash. It is expected

"The next flight we make may be the one that counts. I want tight formations, no straggling. Test your guns as soon as you get to clear area. Make certain they are ready." "Remember this... we are not out looking for a fight... But if trouble is brought to us I want every pilot ready to meet it."

There have been reports Communist submarines were stalking the 7th Fleet, but Rear-Admiral Stanhope C. Ring, task force 77 commander, flattened the rumors. Edwards said Ring, if he knew of a single instance of non-American submarines operating in waters near the 7th Fleet and Ring replied: "I do not."

bring the Chinese Communists into a Security Council discussion of a cease-fire between the Communists and the Nationalists. With the Chinese Communists' refusal to join the proposed debate, some Commonwealth prime ministers are reported considering calling a conference on Formosa on the lines of last year's Geneva negotiations which ended the Indochina war.

NO RIGID POSITION

Others want no rigid positions to be adopted at this time in hope that any fighting which does occur can be limited to local clashes. Eventually, they feel, it may be possible to make new attempts at a solution.
The Chinese Nationalist and United States decision to evacuate the Tachen islands was welcomed with relief by Commonwealth sources Sunday. The sources said the Tachens were never really regarded as a military essential from the Western viewpoint.

One Commonwealth delegate, South Africa's deputy premier, Charles Swart, left by air Sunday for Capetown. He will be represented at the final sessions by South African high commissioner G. P. Jacobs.

that the next report will indicate that the allocation has been reached.
Resolutions were approved urging the Federal Government to set up a Canadian Council on Arts and Sciences, as recommended by the Massey Commission, to make such projects as the Dominion Drama Festival and Canadian Art independent of financial aid from the federal government; and urging Ministerial Associations to study ways and means of making religious education a part of the curriculum in public schools.

W. M. S. PRESBYTERIAL
Mrs. Hazen Howard gave a report of the recent meeting of the Women's Missionary Society Presbyterial, noting the increased reading of Missionary literature, interest in the Supply Department and the increased financial support the allocation was oversubscribed by almost two thousand dollars.

Mr. Gordon Avard gave the Missionary and Maintenance report, which indicated that the increased allocation would be met. He urged congregations to be more prompt in remitting Missionary monies, and to make every effort to increase Missionary spirit and enthusiasm, and to study and improve their means of raising Missionary money.

Approval was given to an application from Rev. E. J. O. Fraser, a Missionary to Korea, to retire at the end of the Conference year; to applications for consent to propose changes at Bonshaw and St. Peter's; and to a recommendation to make the Belle Valley-Orwell Head Pastoral Charge.

The committees on Christian Education and Evangelism and Social Service are instructed to study a proposal for a National Evangelistic Mission to Canada to be carried out after the General Council meeting in 1956. The executive was ordered to draw up a resolution to be presented to the Provincial Legislature at its spring meeting concerning the sale of wood alcohol; to make nominations for the new executive of Presbytery; and to nominate for two new secretaries in the Boards of the Church.

Symphony was expressed to the treasurer, Rev. Angus J. MacDonald, in the recent death of his mother in Boiestown, New Brunswick. The secretary was asked to convey the condolences of the Court to Rev. W. I. and Mrs. Green, both of whom are ill.
The next meeting of Presbytery will be held in May.

Doctors Feel Respiratory Infection Under Control

By STEWART MACLEOD
Canadian Press Staff Writer
ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—An outbreak of respiratory infection that spread to related work communities and took the life of one baby was described Sunday as being "pretty well under control."

Dr. Raymond Bugden, who was airlifted by helicopter to snow-blocked Lark Harbor Friday, said Sunday the outbreak was "certainly not a heavy epidemic" and it appeared to be "pretty well under control."
Hospital officials at Corner Brook, meanwhile, said only two babies were being treated as a result of the outbreak and they were improving. Six others have been treated in hospital for respiratory infection since Jan. 1 but all have been released in the intervening weeks.

The infection, similar to pneumonia, broke out in the neighboring communities of Lark Harbor and York Harbor about 10 miles from Corner Brook. The vessel

Brutal Murder In New York

NEW YORK (AP)—An attractive 23-year-old brunette was found stabbed to death Sunday in what police called one of the most brutal murders in New York's recent history.
The victim was Anne Yarrow. Her body, stabbed and torn at least 40 times, was found in a friend's sparsely furnished apartment on the top floor of a drab six-story tenement on the edge of bohemian Greenwich village.

Miss Yarrow had apparently been gagged and choked before being stabbed, police said. The body was found on a mattress on the bedroom floor, clad only in a sweater. Dr. Milton Helfers, chief medical examiner, said there apparently had been some kind of sexual assault upon the victim.
Inspector John J. Bradt Jr. stated he was inclined to believe Miss Yarrow was killed by a man, but did not eliminate the possibility a woman had committed the brutal murder.

Police Capt. William Schnabel called the case "one of the most brutal murders I've ever seen."

Alberta Group Has Approved Fluoridation

EDMONTON (CP)—The Alberta research council has approved unanimously a "unqualified endorsement" of fluoridation of Alberta's public water supplies.
The council's report, culmination of an exhaustive two-year survey, was issued Saturday by Highways Minister Taylor, council chairman. The main points stressed:

1. The fluoridation proposal calls for the addition to drinking water of only enough fluoride to aid in reducing tooth decay—not enough to be harmful to general health.
2. There is a "great loss by allowing endless investigations to delay the application of fluoridation" as a health measure.
3. It would have no adverse effect on industries.

Mr. Taylor commented briefly: "The government does not plan any immediate action on the report."
The report says the years of research into the possible ill-effects of consuming fluoride reveals that it is not "in any way harmful to health."
"This is a most impressive fact, and one which makes it entirely certain that if any untoward effect is ever revealed by future research it will be of a very trivial order."

Bank Records Case Begins

SAINT JOHN, N. B. (CP)—The preliminary hearing of H. Reginald Delany, a former manager of the provincial bank here, charged with unlawfully making or concurring in making false entries or omissions in bank records, opened Saturday in city police court with three officers of the bank giving evidence for the prosecution. The hearing was adjourned until next Saturday morning.

Alfred E. Styles, St. Lambert, Que., assistant general manager of the bank, Emile Rochon, Montreal, and Omer C. Gervais, also of Montreal, an inspector for the bank, testified they had found some accounts of the local branch, "tampered with" between March, 1953, and January, 1954.
They said the amount of $40,000 had been debited from one account and credited to George Mabee; and that the amount was re-credited to the original account by debiting from a third account, the latter being that of the provincial government.
"Irregularities" also included a number of Mr. Mabee's cheques which had been paid by the bank, "in cash," where they "should have been," the prosecution witnesses said.

Doctors Feel Respiratory Infection Under Control

Walter Finback broke through slob to take one infant out to hospital early last week.
15 BELIEVED TREATED
A helicopter chartered by the Newfoundland health department flew Dr. Bugden into Lark Harbor Friday. He said 15 children among the village's 600 inhabitants had contracted the illness and now were being treated at their homes.

The lone death occurred Friday shortly after the two-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Burns was flown to hospital from York Harbor. The tot died soon after a nurse flown into the hamlet Saturday.
Dr. Bugden said the number of cases at York Harbor was not known but that the nurse would remain in the district for several weeks treating the toddlers at their homes.

The helicopter that flew the doctor and nurse into the remote region has returned to Gander but it will probably go back to Corner Brook if there are further outbreaks before the highways are reopened.

Construction Slowed By Weather At Army Camp

CAMP GAGETOWN, N. B. (CP) An onerous mixture of snow, rain and mud has slowed the construction of Canada's biggest military base, vast expanses of which can't be spanned by the heaviest cannon in the army's arsenal.
But Camp Gagetown, where the army one day will deploy fledgling infantrymen in divisional strength, is being doggedly pushed square miles mired heavy equipment in December, say they hope to speed up the operation in the spring when their payroll is expected to swell to 3,500.

The last of four major-building contracts was awarded last week. They cover the construction of barracks, messes and administrative and training centres and are worth about $11,850,000.

THREE PHASES

The job is of such magnitude that it was divided into three phases:
1. Clearing huge tracts of bushland. This is still in progress.
2. Installing sewers and water-mains, building roads and digging the tunnels that will carry communication lines. This, too, is still going on.
3. Putting up the scores of buildings. The first of these have started rising over what used to be gently rolling southwestern New Brunswick farmland.

Construction crews spent a night-marish summer and fall. Rains turned cleared areas into seas of mud. Bulldozers and excavators bogged down hopelessly.

HEAVY SNOW

Then before frost had a chance to harden the ground, four feet of snow piled up in the woods and no more land could be cleared.
Since mid-December the pace has been slow.
Spring will see a start on two-apartment units and homes needed to accommodate 1,416 families. They will cost about $17,000,000 and half are scheduled to be completed by late 1956, the rest the following year.

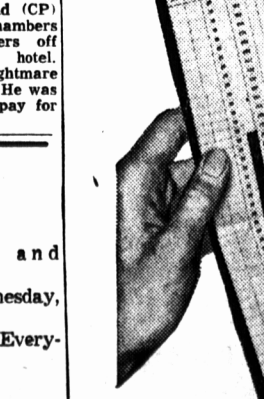

Four schools also have to be built. The shopping centre for this boom town will be put up by private firms closely supervised by the defence department which has asked for a theatre, hotel, restaurant, five large department stores, 30 smaller stores, offices for professional men, a community centre, a town hall and a bus depot.
A sector of the town has been reserved for the civilians who will go into business there.
It has not been decided when

Will Study Research

OTTAWA, (CP)—Members of Parliament this session will review their first opportunity since 1950 to examine in detail the activities of the government's main research agencies.
Trade Minister Howe, minister responsible for most government-sponsored research, has announced a special committee will propose to study atomic energy and research generally.

The committee will investigate research conducted by Atomic Energy of Canada Limited, which operates the Chalk River, Ont., atomic energy project, and by the National Research Council.
It also is expected the committee will study operations of Eldorado Mining and Refining Limited, the crown company responsible for production of the atomic fuel, uranium, and operations of the mines and technical surveys department.

The new committee is expected to concentrate its investigation on Canadian research in industrial atomic power.
Main witness to be called likely will be William Bennett, president of Atomic Energy of Canada and the Eldorado company.
There will be no lack of subjects for the committee to investigate. Besides design and construction of an atomic power plant in co-operation with industry, Chalk River now is completing construction of the new $40,000,000 NRU atomic energy reactor. The NRX reactor, which broke
