

Wo-He-Lo Club Hold Bridge; Celebrate 25th Anniversary

Amid beautiful decorations of silver, pink and white, the Wo-He-Lo Club celebrated the 25th year of their founding, at a mixed bridge in the Y.M.C.A. Social hall on Tuesday and Wednesday evenings of this week, with 25 couples in attendance each night. Pink and white tapers in silver candelabra adorned the tea table, and to complete the artistic decorations was the proverbial stork, representing the nursery work for which this club is famous. The guests were welcomed by Mrs. Fulton Pierce and Mrs. Gordon Lea.

The name Wo-He-Lo comes from Work-Love-Help, this club was organized 25 years ago by Mrs. Hooper Horne, the first meeting was held at her home with 11 members. The present club membership is limited to 24 members. The first president was Mrs. Ivan Horne. The present membership includes four charter members. They are: Mrs. G.J. Tweedy, Mrs. W.N. Wilson, Mrs. Evelyn Cudmore and Mrs. A. H. Duvar.

The aims and purposes of the group are to maintain supplies for the nursery of the Prince Edward Island Hospital. Sewing is done by the members and other supplies are furnished by the funds of the club. A special project on the 25th anniversary year of the club will be to completely furnish a semi-private room at the new wing of the Prince Edward Island Hospital.

The members are grateful for the support the public has given to the various cake sales and bridge parties held by the Wo-He-Lo Club.

The Executive of the club are the following: Honorary President, Mrs. Lois MacDonald; President, Mrs. Fulton Pierce; Vice-President, Mrs. James Montgomery; Secretary, Mrs. Norman Stewart; Treasurer, Mrs. Gordon Lea. The members of the club are: Mrs. James Cery, Mrs. A. Cutcliffe, Mrs. Eric Found, Mrs. Tudor Gencheff, Mrs. Gilbert Houston, Mrs. Walter Hyndman, Mrs. Harry Hyndman, Mrs. Lemuel MacDougall,

Mrs. Finley MacLeod, Mrs. Alex Matheson, Mrs. Ronald Norman, Mrs. George Peake, Mrs. Harold Shaw, Mrs. Le Baron Tait, Mrs. Gordon White, Mrs. George Wood.

Schedule Picnic Supper For Spring Cleaning Day

By IDA BAILEY ALLEN
Have you recently checked your home for safety? Now is a good time when spring house-cleaning is at hand. It's not too difficult with family cooperation. Be sure the stepladder is secure. Repair frayed electric wiring and broken plugs. Give the heating unit a good going over. Check hanging fixtures for mirrors, pictures and kitchen utensils: sometimes they pull loose.

It's a good idea to plan just what is to be done in each room before starting to clean it. Send curtains, drapes and furniture covers to the cleaners or launder them at home.

CONCENTRATE ENERGIES
Concentrate on one room at a time. Get Father and the older boys and girls busy with paint and brush as needed. They can help clean windows and the glass fronts of pictures, vacuum, clean woodwork, wipe floors ready for re-waxing, shampoo furniture.

The kitchen needs special attention. Banish window curtains if they are likely to blow over the range and catch fire. Repair or discard worn-out floor coverings. Arrange knives in a special rack so nobody can grab them and get cut. Throw out all utensils with insecure handles and all enamelware pots with broken enamel; they are not safe to use. Your reward will be a house that is safe to live in.

"If you keep good-natured, all this is possible," the Chef observed. "Try to finish each day's work before everybody gets too tired, then wind up the evening with a substantial picnic-type supper. They should be very hungry, so I suggest plenty of 'franks, hamburgers-on-buns, cole slaw or

ELLEN'S DIARY

Sleepy Cat And Sleepy Boy Show Longer Days

So cold today's wind was. We came indoors to the warmth gratefully from our choring, which is of course now mostly nominal. The black cat was out attendant this morning when we trundled the fire-wood in the small barrow from the woodshed across the yard to the box on the back verandah. He was, we fancied, a bit sleepy because of a night-stroll which as we had noted earlier, returned him to us in the fresh of the new day from the direction of the mill and dam.

We heaped the woodbox. We never know when some item of the farming may require that a continuing night-fire be kept. ("Keep your woodbox full, and the kettle, and a house-keeper is ready for every emergency!") an oldish friend of ours was wont to say with a young chuckle as she brought in sticks to hers settled down big and sturdy to the rear of her high-ovened pioneer stove.)

For her convenience there were then no shining faucets in the kitchen at which to fill her kettle. A sizable bucket let down and salad and B-I-G ice cream sundays."

TOMORROW'S DINNER
Stewed Tomato in Small Bowls
CROUTONS
Pork Chop Casserole
Noodles Polonaise
Beet-Cabbage Relish on Lettuce
Elberta Peaches in Orange Gel
Coffee Tea Milk
Measurements are level; recipes for 6.

Pork Chop Casserole: Heat 1 1/2 tbsp. salad oil. Add 6 pork chops about 3/4" thick, the fat removed. Sauté over medium heat until browned on both sides. Arrange in a shallow 3-pt. casserole. Combine 1 (8-oz.) can tomato sauce, 1/2 c. water, 2 small sections peeled, crushed garlic, 1/4 tsp. crushed caraway seeds, 1/4 tsp. powdered oregano, 1/4 tsp. crushed rosemary leaves, 1 tsp. onion salt, and 1/4 tsp. pepper. Spread over pork chops. Cover; bake 1 1/2 hrs. in a mod. oven, 350 degrees F.

Beet-Cabbage Relish: To prepare: Combine 1 qt. chopped, cooked beets, 2 c. packed, chopped raw cabbage, 1 chopped seeded green pepper, 1/2 c. prepared horseradish, 1/2 c. minced peeled onion, 1/2 tsp. black pepper, 1/4 tsp. cayenne or Tabasco and 1 1/2 tsp. salt. Cover with cold cider vinegar. Closely covered in glass jar and refrigerated, this keeps indefinitely.

Sweet-Sour Beet-Cabbage Relish: Follow the preceding recipe, but add 1/2 c. sugar.

CHEF'S NOODLES POLONAISE
Top drained cooked noodles with sauce Polonaise. To make, just brown 1 c. soft white bread crumbs in 1-3 c. melted butter. Add 1/2 tsp. lemon juice and 1 tsp. minced parsley.

lifted with a rattle and a creak by a windlass to the dug well in the yard supplied the needs of that home. We recall however that if one were brave enough to lean over and look down into its cool depth one could find intriguing mirrorings there.

She is gone, that woman of our young years—long gone, as has since so many of those years, both kin and friend. A merry heart she had. Many a fire that iron kettle knew. Many a steaming cup of tea was brewed in that quaint earthen pot. May they in that far strange bourne whence no traveller returns find a continuation of that happiness they most loved here.

With the black cat eyeing our efforts from a safe distance we made kindling from a round dry stick. Quietly he regarded our interest lifting his head only we noticed when a sparrow's shadow darkened for a fleeting second the bright of the open woodshed-door. He grinned when James, neither idle these days nor yet busy looked in at our pastime.

"Set your stick square on the block, Ellen" he advised. "And watch out that axe is pretty sharp! And" he offered with a chuckle after regarding us for a moment "don't jump like that when you go to 'strike'—keep both feet on the ground."

And this day so chilly saw the first of the trout. We suspect that when Mack looks back to the years of his childhood all of its chill will have vanished from his recollections. He will remember only of it that in a mother-son pact long planned and cemented in recent days, he rose at five and joined by Jeanie, the two went down to the stream and first fishin'. If strangely enough there were no takings from the clean wind-rippled water there was good promise later catches in the nibbles they got.

"Now, next word! "Pumping" we said a while ago when he brought his spelling-lesson by. "P-u-m-p-k."

"Ah ah!"

"P-u-m-p-k."

"But there's no "K" in pump-ling!" we said.

"Well," he offered weary we knew from his long day, "why isn't there! There is I'm sure in "Pumpkin". Oh" he yawned "I guess we'd better leave her for tonight. It will all come right in the morning."

We smiled. Yes, for tired little boys—for everyone. With the encouraging freshness of a brand new day, "It would all come right in the morning."

Until tomorrow—Diary—Good-night.

GLENWOOD W. I.

The Glenwood Women's Institute met at the home of Mrs. Elberta Betts on Monday evening, March 30th with the president Mrs. Elmer Betts presiding. Meeting opened with the Institute Ode and the Mary Stewart Collect in unison.

Roll call was answered by eight members. Minutes of last meeting were read and approved. Correspondence was read and discussed. Committees gave their reports and new ones appointed.

It was decided to make candy to be sold at the Charles Caseley show held in O'Leary. Next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Harry Gorrill.

Meeting adjourned with the National Anthem. Lunch was served by the hostess assisted by the committee in charge followed by a social chat.

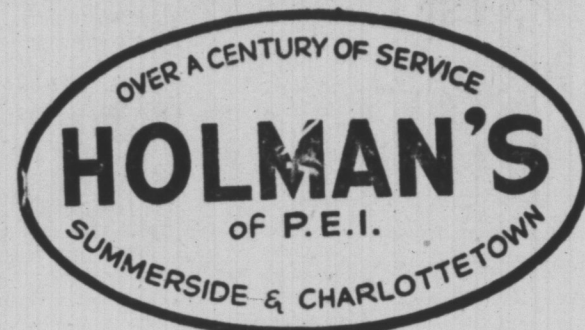

COVEHEAD ROAD W.I.

The Covehead Road W.I. held their April meeting at the home of Mrs. Harry Birt, with five members, and one visitor present. The meeting opened by singing "O Canada". Roll call was answered with grab bag. Committee gave their reports and a bill pertaining to a sick visit was paid.

Correspondence was read and discussed. The questionnaire on Home Economics was filled out, and $1.00 is to be sent to the Home Economics fund. The secretary reported sending $2.00 membership free to the Drama Festival.

It was decided to sponsor a Variety Concert or play in the Community Hall if and when one is available.

Owing to the absence of the programme committee, Mrs. Harry Birt read a short poem, and conducted a contest which was won by Mrs. Phillip MacInnis.
