MARKETS and FINANCE

N. Y. Stocks

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market tumbled off its record high perch last week in a resounding break—the worst in 15 years.

The market has not taken such a tumble since the week of May 18, 1940, when the German armies invaded the Lowlands.

Selling pressures were unrelenting except for occasional rallies that served to underline what brokers called the market's basic strength.

What the market's weakness was, none in Wall Street could agree. Nor in Washington, for that matter, where the Senate banking committee was conducting a study of market conditions.

The Market Press average of 60 stocks plunged $7.20 on the week. The average was down $8.10 during the week ending May 18, 1940.

Business Signs Good

The general barometer of business conditions last week pointed to fair weather for the steel industry, for the booming automobile business, for the railroads and for other bulwarks of the United States economy.

The stock market, however, was ailing. The week before last the market advanced with the best showing of the last four months, and reached a high mark at the end of the week.

Some brokers in Wall Street contended that the inquiries launched by the Senate committee could have "triggered" the decline last week. It was debated whether the hearings forced the fall or merely served as a convenient excuse for the selling that would have come into the market in any event.

Prices had been advancing steadily with no recent pause, and one was due.

Canadian issues were generally lower on the New York stock exchange. Only Hiram Walker registered a gain on the week's trading, up 1/4. Dome Mines was off 1/2 on the five-day period. International Nickel slipped 1% and McIntyre dropped 3/4. Canadian

U.S. Steel

CLEVELAND (AP)—Steel production climbed last week to within a shade of the record output of 2,324,000 net tons set March 29, 1953. Steel magazine says today.

The magazine's price composite remains at $117.82 a net ton for finished steel and $37.33 a gross ton on steelmaking scrap.

That yielded 2,208,000 net tons of steel for ingots and castings. To match the record, producers would have to up their operating rate by only 4.5 points, to 96 per cent of rated capacity.

In setting the 1953 record, the industry operated at 103.1 per cent of a 2,254,459 net ton capacity. The lower percentage required now to match the record comes from a larger current capacity in the industry. An output of 2,413,278 net tons now represents the industry's full capacity.

The magazine's price composite remains at $117.82 a net ton for finished steel and $37.33 a gross ton on steelmaking scrap.

Canadian Common Stock Prices Set Record In '54

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Prices of Canadian common stock rose to a record in 1954, surpassing the 25-year peak touched in 1929.

The bureau of statistics, in making this estimate, bases it on a composite index which covers industrial, utility and bank stock.

The bureau's index showed that pulp and paper stocks increased in price by more than 50 per cent; industrial mines by almost 45 per cent.

Rises of between 35 and 45 per cent occurred in machinery and equipment, oils and building materials while beverages, milling, and food and allied products, banks and utilities, reflected increases of between 20 and 25 per cent.

The only items to show a decline were textiles and clothing, which fell by three per cent. Mining stocks rose by more than 25 per cent.

The sale of $120,000,000 worth of Canadian stock to foreign investors was a factor contributing to the rise in Canadian prices the bureau said.

"But any attempt to assess the role of non-residents in the rise in the Canadian market must take into account the selective investment policy followed by the new investment funds which generally are understood to have concentrated on higher-grade Canadian issues."

"And it should not be overlooked that rising stock prices were typical of the United States and practically all other markets. Net sales to non-residents represented less than four per cent of the quoted value of listings on the principal Canadian exchanges."

As for exchange rates, the bureau estimated that the price of the U. S. dollar in Canada fell to 96 19-32 cents at the end of 1954 from 97 7/8 cents at the end of 1953, moving through a low of 96.34 cents in February, 1954, and a high of 98.75 in April.

"This range of 2.41 cents indicated relative stability in comparison with trading ranges of 3.03 cents in 1953 and 5.25 cents in 1952. Over the year as a whole, the average price of the U. S. dollar was 97.32 cents, or 1.02 cents lower than for 1953."

Plans Attack On Problems Of St. Pierre-Miquelon

By JACK BEST

NEW YORK (CP)—The new governor of St. Pierre-Miquelon said Friday he will seek Canada's co-operation and guidance in attacking the economic problems that beset France's tiny Atlantic possession.

By modernizing the islands' fishing and developing connected industries, husky Pierre Sicaud hopes to dispel the animosity which led to his predecessor's ouster and to improve relations between the islands and Paris.

Sicaud and his Irish-born wife sailed into New York Thursday en route to the windswept little territory of Newfoundland's south coast. They reach their destination next Friday, four days after his 44th birthday, following further stops at Montreal and Sydney, N. S.

DAVIER REALLY OUT

Appointment of Sicaud, a former soldier, confirms the ouster of former governor Irene Davier.

Davier left for France two months ago saying he was going on vacation, but had not been recalled. However Sicaud affirmed in an interview here his own appointment is permanent.

Davier became unpopular with the islanders because he increased taxes and port fees. Sicaud said the former governor was justified. "He had instructions to do so and he fulfilled his instructions."

Sicaud does not intend to abolish the higher taxes, which he says were levied to reduce the contribution metropolitan France makes to the islands' upkeep. Aid from Paris represents 60 per cent of the budget, he said.

But Sicaud pledged an all-out attempt to improve economic conditions that the 5,000 to 6,000 islanders will be able to bear the tax burden.

"I hope to establish closer contact with Newfoundland and the rest of Canada," he said. "We have a lot to learn from them."

For the first few months I'll be unable to leave the islands, but after that I want to go to Canada, make contact with government officials and fish firms and see what can be done about improving markets and techniques."

Immediate aim is a fleet of modern, efficient trawlers to provide a backbone for the fisheries industry. A start has been made, Sicaud said.

His last appointment was charge of the French mission in Antarctica. His jurisdiction was four islands 800 to 1,000 miles from the Antarctic continent.

He joined the colonial service in 1934. After war broke out he entered the French army, and as an officer was taken prisoner at Orleans.

JOINED DE GAULLE

After two months as a prisoner Sicaud escaped and eventually made his way to Madagascar. As an officer with the fighting French forces he later saw service in England and the continent.

In Holland he became acquainted with several Canadian regiments, including the Fusiliers de Montreal, and the Chaudieres. Britain awarded Sicaud a DSO for outstanding military service. He finished the war as a lieutenant-colonel.

May See Red, Green, Orange Wild Ducks

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP)—Don't get upset if you happen to see a duck colored red or green or orange.

There's nothing wrong with your eyes and nothing wrong with the duck. The bird will be an involuntary participant in experiments by the state of Florida and some eastern Canadian provinces to learn where ducks come from, where they go and the routes they travel.

What's news at Inco?

Tiny pieces of nickel speed cabled words three times faster across the Atlantic

1200 FEET DOWN, on the bottom of the Atlantic Ocean is a metal case. In it is an electronic amplifier. Electric signals weak from the long journey by cable are here amplified and reshaped into stronger, clearer signals. With this single installation the cable's capacity was increased from 50 to 167 words a minute.

This is possible only because of the presence of tiny pieces of nickel in the amplifier's vacuum tube.

For years now, communication between this Continent and the United Kingdom and Europe has been a problem. It was particularly serious during the war when communication channels were overloaded by Allied Governments, military and press.

The first of these amplifiers was installed recently by Western Union on the company's cable which stretches under the Atlantic from Bay Roberts, Newfoundland, to Penzance, England.

THE NEW UNDERSEA CABLE "BOOSTER" being lowered to the ocean floor, where it will amplify trans-Atlantic signals—allowing us to get messages from Europe three times faster than before. This is possible only because of the use of tiny pieces of nickel in the amplifier's vacuum tube.

Case Must Last For 40 Years

Nickel alloys were used at vital points to guard the case containing the amplifier against the many forms of marine corrosion that occur below the ocean's surface. A life of 40 years was demanded.

Inco research and development teams in co-operation with industry have been in the forefront of the world's metallurgical developments since 1921. The knowledge and experience gained are among Inco's greatest assets. Inco research points the way to Inco's future!
