

CONFIDENTIALLY YOURS

By Byrne Hope Sanders

MONTREAL, January 27th—I'm very grateful... to the food experts who have perfected Royal Instant Pudding... for now we can have really scrumptious puddings and pie-fillings without stirring over a hot stove... without long wait to cool and set! ROYAL INSTANT PUDDINGS are the only puddings—instants or regular—which are super-homogenized! That's what makes Royal so wonderfully creamy and smooth... so light and fluffy. Never take my advice, you'll get Royal Instant Pudding in all 4 flavors—chocolate, butterscotch, vanilla and coconut cream! Each is a delight to prepare and to enjoy!

It's Good To Have The Family Beaming At You as if you're someone very clever to give them such delicious desserts—isn't it? I had mine giving me this pleasure the other night when I gave them a very simple—but luxurious-tasting treat. Used DAINTY RICE, of course! Cooked it according to directions on the package; covered it and stored in the 'frig. Just before dinner I mixed the cold, cooked rice with whipped cream—topped it with fruit and served it in tall glasses. Every body loved it! This is only one of a dozen really tricky ideas for serving inexpensive Dainty Rice. Makes delicious casseroles with meat, chicken, or vegetables.

I've Lost My Heart To Two Delightful Gentlemen—Mr. Chase and Mr. Sanborn—the fabulous coffee men! They're justly proud of their superb new INSTANT CHASE & SANBORN COFFEE—but each has his own opinion of why it's so good! Mr. Chase says the secret is his unique method of brewing and extracting all the rich coffee essences. But Mr. Sanborn says it's the top-flavor beans. I suspect both are right! It's really wonderful coffee—and to make it, you just add boiling water. I constantly meet people who feel as I do—grateful to Mr. Chase and Mr. Sanborn for bringing us their fine coffee—100% pure coffee—in an instant!

Get Your Heart Set On Something? A home of your own? A place in the country? A holiday such as you've never had before? All these goals you can achieve if you plan for them. Going into debt to yourself simply means that you agree to pay to your own "special-purpose" account at the B of M a definite, regular amount each pay-day. In other words, you put yourself on your own payroll! It's a wonderful feeling—the time you're saving coming nearer to the time you can plan with the man in your life tonight, and tomorrow open that special account at your local branch of "My Bank"?

5-Day Weather Forecasting Said Likely Within Year

By W. R. WHEATLEY, Canadian Press Staff Writer
SEIGNIOREY CLUB, Que., (AP)—The weatherman says it will be only a comparatively short time before forecasts covering a five-day period are supplied to the Canadian public. Present forecasts are limited to two-day periods. The immediate need is to get a few more university-trained specialists into the meteorological service, said Keith T. McLeod, superintendent of the public weather service in the federal transport department's meteorological division. "We hope we can institute the service within a year," said Mr. McLeod.

Murder, Suicide Ruling On Deaths
WINNIPEG (CP)—A young tinsmith stabbed a 40-year-old woman to death Monday, then took his own life by turning on the jets of a gas range. Police established as a murder-suicide the deaths of Mrs. Clara Perry and John Morganstern. Police said Mrs. Perry, who had been separated from her husband since moving into the apartment in October, 1952, had apparently been visited by the 26-year-old tinsmith on several occasions.

Continent-Wide Dialing Started
MONTREAL (CP)—The first system of continent-wide dialing installed this summer in Toronto, president Thomas W. Eadie of the company said Monday. Work has also been started on another installation in Montreal, which will be the regional centre for the eastern half of Canada. It will go into operation in 1956. "Four out of five long distance calls made in our territory will then be dialed by the operator direct to the distant telephone," said Mr. Eadie in an address to the Canadian Club of Montreal. The continent-wide plan, gradually being introduced in North America, is based on the division of Canada and the United States into 100 numbering areas, each having its own three-digit destination code.

Strange But True

By F. H. MacArthur

The following story was related to a friend of mine Anna Bernis Palmer of York, Nebraska, who vouches for the truth of the narrative. It goes to readers of strange but true exactly as it was told to me except for some slight revision and a bit of surgery, which, I hope, hasn't drawn too much blood. Let me take you back to 1870. That was the year when Anna Palmer's mother, Ada Gray, had her first baby. The child was six months old and its mother had planned to take him from Belle Plaine, Iowa, to Marion in the same state, several miles distant for a visit with her parents. "The train left at four o'clock in the morning and with all my preparations for the journey made in advance, I lay down on a bed to rest. With no conscious transition into the land of dreams I found myself on the train and sitting by the window watching the changing landscape and drinking in its beauties. A light rain was falling and from a few thunderhead clouds darts of lightning stabbed across the sky. The roll of the thunder could be heard distinctly above the grinding wall of the train's wheels. Then the train wound through some high hills and in one particularly bright flash of lightning I saw a dangerous turn in the track with a high bridge spanning a deep gorge or valley. The bank of the track sloped precipitously and appeared to be dangerously narrow as the speeding iron horse approached it. Moments later there was a jerking and jolting and all the passengers in the coach left their seats. I jumped up with a scream and snatched my little son to my breast."

That's the picture that flashed before Ada's mind as she rested on the bed till train time. When she told her husband about her strange experience he laughed good naturedly and told her she had fallen asleep and dreamed it. But Ada Gray knew she had been very wide awake at the time. Frankly, she just couldn't make sense out of the whole thing and by the time she had boarded her train for her short trip the experience was almost completely forgotten. "I lay back in the lowered chair with my face toward the window watching the lightning poking its long fingers through the down-rushing raindrops. The car was full of people and the long roll of the thunders seemed to frighten the children so that all except a few infants were wide awake. "Suddenly in the brilliance of an unusually heavy flash of lightning, I saw the very spot of my vision. There ahead lay the same sharp turn, the sloping sides of the railroad embankment, the bridge spanning the deep gorge. With a scream that frightened most of the women passengers I sprang forward and caught my baby, pillow and all, to my heart. Then I dropped to the floor and braced my knees against the seat. The next instant all was confusion. I felt the cars jolt and jerk under me, I saw women and children thrown from their seats onto the floors precisely as I already had experienced. "Our coach was off the track but by the mercy of a broken coupling it was still on solid ground while the three coaches ahead together with the locomotive, were thrown into the river at the bottom of the gorge."

Later when questioned as to why she had screamed and picked up her baby before the disaster, she could only say, "I knew it in advance—but it was not a dream. I was not sleeping at the time." Admittedly it's a strange tale. But I was pleased to get it for my column so that I could pass it on to my readers for of such stuff is Strange But True made.

In Memoriam
In loving memory of RICHARD POPE NEWMAN who departed this life January 27th, 1944. A precious one from us is gone. A voice we loved is still. And in our sad and aching hearts. We love you Father still. Lovingly Remembered by Wife and Family.

In loving memory of our dear Mother, Mrs. Daniel MacPherson and brother Elmer John, who departed this life January 27th, 1953 and January 23rd, 1959. We watched them suffer day by day. It caused us bitter grief To see them slowly pine away And could not give relief. Their weary hours and days of pain, Their troubled nights are passed. And in our aching hearts we know They have found sweet rest at last. It's sweet to know we'll meet again Where parting is no more. And our dear ones we loved so well Have only gone before. Lovingly Remembered by Christine, Warren, Willard, Mur., Ed., Lenore and Anne.
