Malzone Grabs AL Batting Lead

NEW YORK (AP) — Frank Malzone, Boston's veteran third baseman, has streaked into the American League batting lead while helping the Red Sox maintain their first-place standing.

Malzone, who never has hit .300 in the majors, lifted his average 33 points to .356 in last week's games and holds a one-point edge over Wayne Causey of Kansas City.

Malzone collected 12 hits in 25 tries, a .480 pace. Causey climbed three points to .355 with eight safeties in 22 times at bat.

Leon Wagner of Los Angeles advanced one place to third after gaining 11 points to .350 with nine hits in 22 attempts. The Angels' slugger paces the circuit in home runs with 11 and runs batted in with 30. He slammed five homers and drove in 11 runs last week.

FALLS A NOTCH

Clete Boyer of New York Yankees fell one notice to fourth place in batting despite a seven-point pickup to .347 while Chuck Schilling of Boston remained in the No. 5 position at .346. Schilling increased his mark nine points with an 11-for-29 performance.

Wes Covington of Philadelphia remained atop the National League batting competition. He dropped seven points to .360. Dick Groat of St. Louis moved into the runner-up spot as a result of a 22-point increase to .348. Groat had 12 hits in 37 at bats.

Ron Fairly of Los Angeles Dodgers held third with a .338 average. He lost nine points with an eight-for-27 showing.

Hank Aaron of Milwaukee had a productive week. He had 10 hits in 24 tries and gained 16 points to .336, putting him in fourth place. The Braves' star hit two homers, giving him a leading total of 13, and took over the RBI lead with 34 by driving in nine runs.

The figures include Sunday's games.

Pacer Found Dead Mon.

NEW YORK (AP)—Thessaly, a six-year-old pacer, was found dead in the isolation area at Roosevelt Raceway Monday, but a veterinarian said he "could not definitely attribute death to the virus infection."

The reference was to a virus infection which has caused a coughing sickness in many harness racing horses in the U.S. and Canada this spring and has caused cancellation or postponement of some races.

Dr. Raymond Carter, a veterinarian, said he was not sure that the virus infection had killed the horse. He said the horse had been thrashing around his stall much of the night.

A harness racing commission spokesman said such action usually indicated a colic rather than a virus attack.

Thessaly was owned by the Jet Stable of Jackson, Mich.

ONE OF MANY

Kenny Dowling, a Charlottetown youngster, had a real field day with the trout Saturday morning, hauling in a total of 19. The young angler used gudgeons to attract these beauties and scene of the battle was the Morrell River. The largest one in the catch tipped the scales at 3½ pounds. Asked what he was going to do with this 'whopper', he promptly answered "eat it".

LEAGUE TROPHIES PRESENTED

Awards to the winners of the Sherwood High School intramural hockey league and individual trophies were presented in a ceremony at the school Saturday night. Mike Campbell, chairman of the board of trustees, presented the Bike Shop shield, emblematic of league supremacy, to Blaine Jelley, captain of the Aces, and Cst. Walter Pinsent, RCMP, team coach. Leukemia Disease Claims Football Star Ernie Davis

CLEVELAND AP — Ernie Davis, America's greatest collegiate football player of 1961 and a symbol of tremendous courage to all who knew him, died peacefully Saturday in Lakeside Hospital after a 13-month battle against acute leukemia.

The 23-year-old former All-America halfback at Syracuse was the only Negro ever to win the Heisman Trophy, highest honor accorded a college grid star. He was a member of the Cleveland Browns in the National Football League, but never played a game professionally.

He was stricken with the deadly blood disease last July at the College All-Star camp in Evanston, Ill. However, doctors now have concluded the six-foot-two, 212-pounder actually was afflicted in April, 1962.

For more than three months the news that Davis had leukemia was withheld from him and the general public. Then in October, doctors and Browns' officials told Davis his illness was in a remissive state, meaning the disease was arrested temporarily. That lated for more than six months —until 10 weeks ago.

Davis entered the hospital Thursday afternoon. First he stopped by the Brown' office to talk to Arthur B. Modell, club president.

"He was here for one hour," Modell said. "He told me he had to go to the hospital, but that it was nothing serious and that he'd be out of there in a couple of days. His neck was swollen considerably and we all knew what it meant. I think Ernie did, too. He was coming by to say goodbye to me and the others.

Modell, who knew Davis for 18 months and went far beyond the normal relationship of owner-player in his association with Ernie, said he planned to start an Ernie Davis foundation for leukemia research.

In his hometown of Elmira, N.Y., Davis' mother, Mrs. Arthur Radford was numbed by the loss of her only son. His father is dead.

A man of tremendous pride, the gentle and soft-spoken Davis carried the burden of his illness within himself.

BROUGHT TOP MONEY

The Cleveland club signed Davis to a three-year contract for $80,000—including a $15,000 bonus. That was the highest price ever paid for a rookie in the NHL. The club kept Davis on the payroll throughout his long illness and paid the entire medical and hospital bills, believed to be about $10,000.

Davis was a legendary figure at Elmira Free Academy and at Syracuse. At the college, he surpassed all the offensive records set previously at Syracuse by Jim Brown, a teammate at Cleveland. Davis gained 2,386 yards in 360 rushing attempts for a 6.6-yard average. Brown had made 2,091 yards in 361 attempts.

Davis often recalled his greatest thrill was winning the Heisman Trophy and meeting and talking with President Kennedy for 10 minutes in New York.

"It will be a long time before we see a boy like Ernie Davis again," said Modell.

DIG FOR CANCER

TAVISTOCK, England (CP)—Amateur gardeners in this Devon town are growing lettuce in a bid to solve the community's high cancer death rate. Medical officers will collect the leaves and send them to the University of British Columbia where experts will try to determine if any poisonous substance in the area's soil is causing cancer.

GET THE BIRD

BLACKHEATH, England (CP) — A pair of birds have put a mailing box in the Surrey hamlet out of service. A notice on the box reads: "Birds nesting within. Box out of use until further notice. Approximately four weeks."

Robin Roberts Passes 2,000 Strikeout Mark

BALTIMORE AP — Robin Roberts walked the first batter he faced in the major leagues.

He wasn't wild, just nervous. And, it certainly wasn't indicative of what was to come.

Roberts struck out the second batter in his debut back in 1948, and has been doing it steadily ever since. Sunday, the Baltimore Orioles righthander increased his career strikeout total to 2,002 and became the 15th pitcher in major league history to pass the 2,000 milestone.

When Roberts whiffed No. 2,000 in the third innings— Juan Pizarro of Chicago White Sox—the game was halted and the ball presented to the 36-year-old veteran as fans gave him a standing ovation.

Roberts probably will recall the event clearly for years. He still remembers the first strikeout when he broke in with Philadelphia Phillies 15 years ago.

"After walking the first batter, I ran the count to 3-and-2 on Frankie Gustine of Pittsburgh," Roberts said. "The runner on first ran on the next pitch. It was high and would have been a ball, but Gustine swung and missed."

Except for 1949, and his first complete year in the major leagues, and 1961, when he appeared in only 117 innings and compiled a poor 1-10 record, Roberts has struck out more than 100 batters every season.

Sunday's 4-3 victory over the White Sox in the first game of a doubleheader was Roberts' second consecutive complete game triumph. He didn't finish his first six starts, and lost four decisions as Baltimore scored only four runs for him in 41 innings. Roberts knocked in two of the runs himself.

The winner of 246 games, Roberts ranks 29th on the all- time list of pitchers and 14th among those who have played in the last 40 years. One of his chief assets has been control.

GIVES FEW WALKS

For a career spanning 3,990 innings, Roberts has walked 762 batters— or less than 1¾ walks per nine innings.

This year, he has been nothing short of sensational. In 39 innings, he has issued three bases on balls — and two of those were intentional.

Teammate Chuck Estrada, who has control problems, complimented Roberts with this candid comment:

"Roberts has 2,000 strikeouts, 150 walks and 4,000 innings pitched. I have 3,300 innings to go, and I can't walk another man if I want to match him."

The figures were a bit inaccurate. But Estrada has a point.
