Magistrate K.M. Martin, Q.C., adjourned the case until Wednesday after three witnesses testified. The accused, Lorne William Clinton, 246 1/2 Dorchester Street was remanded to jail without bail.

Two police witnesses testified and then the accused took the stand. He admitted that he had been operating the truck while disqualified from driving.

The truck he was driving slammed into a corner of a parked truck, sending it ahead into the rear of a parked car which was jammed into a tree by the impact.

A passenger in the truck, five-year-old Valerie Lafferty had her arm badly injured, and her six-year-old sister Lou Anne, received a fractured wrist. Mrs. Louis Lafferty and daughter Beatrice were unhurt. All four were passengers in the Clinton truck at the time.

$36,500,000

(Continued from Page 1) once which, we are led to understand, means much to Newfoundland and to which that province will, it is expected, attach no little importance.

Liberal and CCF spokesmen tackled the federal government on its interpretation of a royal commission recommendation on aid for Newfoundland.

The commission recommended $8,000,000 a year in assistance up to 1960-61 "and thereafter." The government is providing this up to March 31, 1962. Interpretation of "thereafter" is a sore point between the governments, with the federal administration claiming it does not mean in perpetuity.

WITHOUT DISCUSSION Opposition Leader Pearson accused the federal government of changing the royal commission recommendations without discussion and agreement with Newfoundland.

He said that William J. Browne, minister without portfolio and Newfoundland's cabinet representative, used to urge while in Opposition that the Liberal government agree to accept the commission's recommendations as a binding before those recommendations were made. And that was before the commission had even been set up.

He recalled Prime Minister Diefenbaker's March 25 statement that 1962 would mark the "final and irrevocable" settlement of the contractual agreement with Newfoundland under term 29.

Mr. Diefenbaker interjected to ask whether Mr. Pearson interpreted the recommendations as conveying an undertaking to pay $8,000,000 in perpetuity.

No other interpretation is possible, Mr. Pearson said.

OCF-House Leader Hazen Arze said his group takes the view that Newfoundland has a "very substantial claim" for federal grants to maintain the level of her services.

Newfoundland indeed had special problems in income and services, which were well below the national average. Lack of services was appalling. He had been absent during a visit last year.

BOTH TO BLAME But Mr. Arze said both sides have contributed to substantial misunderstandings. Bad provincial labor laws had not strengthened Confederation's bonds.

The prime minister's March 25 statement had strained relations and Mr. Diefenbaker had made a great error by saying aid would be cut off. The whole federal-provincial trend in such matters was for more federal aid.

"Obviously a breach of a solemn contract," was the description of the federal action applied by J. W. Pickersgill (L-Bonavista - Twillingate), close friend of Premier Smallwood and one of the architects of the Confederation pact as special assistant to two Liberal-prime ministers.

The Newfoundland MP suggested that the federal government consult the province on the period for which federal help would be available. Such a move would win unanimous approval of the legislation in the Commons.

"I think there would be very, very little difficulty if this government were to approach the Newfoundland government and get agreement on a period for review," he said.

But so long as people were just told "you must trust this all-wise government," there was little to be gained.

Convicts Grab 3 Foremen

PETROS, Tenn. (AP) — Rebellious state prison convicts seized three mine foremen deep in a prison coal mine Monday and held them as hostages.

The prisoners sent out a fourth foreman, Tom Jones, to tell Warden Frank Llewellyn they were holding the three men "until further notice." None of the foremen was known to be injured.

Llewellyn said the 116 convicts sent word from the mine shaft, deep under the Cumberland Mountains, that they wouldn't talk to anyone but Keith Hampton, state commissioner of corrections.

Hampton was vacationing in Daytona Beach, Fla. His office in Nashville said the commissioner was keeping in touch with developments by telephone.

Assistant Commissioner W. A. Patterson went to the scene from Nashville, about 160 miles away. Three coal mines near the Brushy Mountain Prison are operated by convicts and the coal is used by state institutions.

ROTARIANS AND AGRICULTURISTS MEET

Newfoundland's Economy Outlined At Luncheon

A combined luncheon meeting of Rotary and the Agricultural Institute of Canada Atlantic Provincial Branch, brought together about 75 members of each organization at the Charlottetown Hotel yesterday to hear Arthur Johnson of St. John's Nfld., deputy minister of economic development for Newfoundland speak on "The Unknown Newfoundland."

"The economy of agriculture lies in the markets available within a profitable distance", Mr. Johnson said in stressing the activities in the development of mines and fisheries in Newfoundland and the expenditure on foodstuffs entailed on the part of the populace there.

"When Newfoundland became the tenth province of Canada ten years ago the Maritime provinces became the Atlantic provinces with an increase of 32 per cent in population, making a total of 1,630,000 in an overall picture of Canada verging on 17 million."

While the Maritimes had an area of 52,000 square miles, the addition of Newfoundland increased the new set-up of Atlantic provinces by adding 156,000 square miles, making the area four times as large.

Illustrated by a series of coloured "slides" projected on the screen, the running commentary by Mr. Johnson on various aspects of the iron ore activity and the millions of dollars involved, was strikingly effective in providing the great advances being made in Newfoundland and Labrador.

A breakdown of wages and direct spending in Newfoundland indicated that in millions of dollars, paper heads the list with 46 United States bases 42, mining 21 and fisheries 20.

Speaking particularly of Labrador, Mr. Johnson, told how several ore trains a mile long moved daily towards Seven Islands with four diesel engines doing the pulling.

Goose Bay airport is the centre of great activity fanning out supplies and equipment by air to all parts of the north country. Surveying parties continue to advance the work by canoe and there is a fine gravel road 105 miles long to Hamilton Falls.

The huge cement plant at Corner Brook, where the population now exceeds 25,000 was described by Mr. Johnson, along with the tourist attractions of the Humber River where salmon fishing is eagerly indulged in. Moose numbering 40,000 and 14,000 caribou remain steady at about that number, making good hunting a feature in the designated area.

Health Ministers Are Meeting

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP) — Health authorities from the four Atlantic provinces begin a two day series of meetings here today to discuss matters of mutual interest.

Newfoundland health minister Dr. James McGrath described the sessions as "purely technical." Delegates will include the deputy health ministers of Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island.

Prince Edward Island or Newfoundland, Mr. Johnson declared.

OBVIOUS SOLUTION "The obvious people to buy what we produce is ourselves," he said. "If each of us consumed 10 per cent more of the products produced in our Provinces, there would be no problem."

However, all concerned should not forget that honesty, integrity, and reliability were the basis of all good business relations.

Fire Safety In Hospitals Emphasized At Convention

Presiding at the opening session was Fire Chief Walter Stephens of Windsor, N.S. Chief W. J. S. Walsh of Campbellton replied to the address of welcome.

The three members who died during the year were Fire Chief H. L. Jessome of Sydney Mines, immediate past president of the association, who was stricken at a fire in Sydney Mines; Chief Lorimer D. Rice of Liverpool, N.S., and ex-captain James Stirling of No. 1 Salvage Corps and Fire Police who died in Saint John.

Before the first day sessions concluded a forum was held on fire problems. Chairman of the forum was Mr. Blickstead and associated with him were Fire Chief F. C. McGillivray of Halifax, Chief George Patterson of Dartmouth, Chief C. S. Gallie of Dalhousie, N.B., and Chief Harold F. Doherty of Fredericton.

Chief F. G. Vivian of St. John's, Nfld., received a special welcome. The 1960 convention is to be held in Corner Brook, Nfld. Regret was expressed at the absence of Chief F. S. Layton of Truro, second vice-president of the association, who suffered a heart seizure recently.

17 New Units Are Started

There were 17 units under construction in this city as of June 30, according to a report of the Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation. The report deals with privately initiated starts and completions in the Atlantic Provinces.

At the same date last year 21 units were being built. This year four new units were started in the first six months compared to 12 last year. At the same time 23 were completed while at this date in 1958 there were 10 completions.

Apparently the busiest building areas in the Atlantic Provinces are centred around Moncton and Halifax. The latter, including the metropolitan area, Dartmouth Town and metropolitan area, having a combined population of over 166,000 saw 527 building starts made this year. It is an increase of 146 over the first six months of last year.

In the Moncton area, population 52,000, there were 145 starts this year compared to 153 in 1958.

feet of wall has been completed on phase three of the sea wall. In regard to this phase Councillor Hyndman said it was nothing but "organized confusion". He said that it was stated at a meeting on April 16 that the project would be completed in July and that now it was not even near completion.

Councillor Arsenault explained that due to the fact that workmen could only work at low tide the work has been delayed.
