AUGUST 15, 1894.

A COMPROMISE TARIFF.

When the Canadian Constitution was made it was admitted to be a compromise Constitution. There were different Provinces, different nationalities, different creeds and widely varying interests—these all had a right to a voice and to have their interests considered. It is just the same when a tariff is made for the whole Dominion. It would be a very easy thing for even a novice to frame a tariff if only one class of people—one section of the country and one industry had to be considered. But Canada is composed of many Provinces—Provinces which in their climate, productions and industries are widely different from each other. When a Government undertakes the duty of forming a commercial policy, all these different sections and productions have to be considered. The only way in which the work can be successfully done is by a system of "give and take." No one Province can have an advantage to the detriment of all the others; no one industry or class can have all their burdens removed at the expense of the other industries or classes. The demagogue and agitator finds it easy, therefore, to raise up a spirit of fault finding and jealousy. He talks to the people in one section in favor of a proposition which his brother agitator is denouncing in no less exciting terms in another section of the country at the very same moment. He tells one class that they are being ruined to enrich another class whose members are being warned at the same moment by another agitator against the very people who are being excited by demagogic number one. The wise citizen will not listen to such men who live and exist and have their being upon agitation and its beneficial results. Canada must be Canada as a whole, and Parliament must legislate for Canada as a whole. The Government in framing their tariff have spent every energy, they have taken the greatest possible pains in seeing that, as far as possible, every section, every class, every industry should receive a fair and just treatment. They did not give their work ignorantly, but with all the facts before them; they did not undertake their task controlled by any class of men but free to do justice to all; and they have produced a tariff which, while it will not please all, for the reasons we have mentioned as well as on account of the fact that there are many whose business it is to not be pleased, will be found to be about as fair and equitable as industry and honest desire to do right by all classes could make it.

OUR HIGH SCHOOLS.

The holidays are drawing towards the inevitable end. Parents and scholars are making, or at least beginning to make, their arrangements for the coming year. It must be admitted that in these Maritime Provinces the range of their choice is sufficiently large and varied. If the number and quality of our schools and other facilities for education be a test by which to judge, the young people of the present will be much better men and women than the young people of the past. In addition to our excellent free schools, scattered all over the country, we have in our cities and towns high schools for girls and high schools for boys sufficient to much more than supply the requirements of those who can afford to attend them. At Windsor, Nova Scotia, we have a Collegiate School for boys and the Church School for girls, the teachers of which are drawn from the most highly educated classes of England and Canada. At Halifax there are, in addition to Dalhousie College, a young ladies' college of excellent reputation, and a number of convent schools of the highest class. At St. John and in its vicinity, as well as at Fredericton, there are also a number of high schools for boys and girls, while Memramook boasts a collegiate school for boys, and Sackville a young ladies' college of high reputation. In this city we have, besides St. Dunstan's and the Prince of Wales College, St. Mary's and St. Joseph's Convents and St. Peter's Schools for boys and girls. The advertisement of the latter will be found in another column. If we may judge by the success of students who go through to higher institutions of learning, St. Peter's Schools deserve to be favourably considered by persons who are not content that their children shall continue to attend the public schools. We note that of the former scholars of this school, Mr. A. E. Andrew this year won honors in Divinity at King's College; Mr. G. I. Foster was second in an examination for Bachelor of Arts; Mr. William Cox stood at the head of the matriculants in Arts, and Mr. Harold McDonald at the head of the matriculants in engineering; while from Edinburgh we hear that Mr. John Godfrey has taken a good position in the theological course. The professors at King's College have frequently spoken in the highest terms of the thoroughness of the work of the Rev. T. H. Hunt in the "grounding" of pupils. In the coming year he will have the assistance of Mr. F. G. Scovill B. A. of St. Dunstan's College, affiliated as it is now to the University of Laval, nothing need here be said; while our convent schools are widely known as first-class institutions for the education and refinement of Roman Catholic girls.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

A paper published by Alonzo Peristone, New York, called "Both Sides of the Tariff Question." In this work Sir Richard Cartwright has an article in which, of course, Sir Richard tells a woful tale about Canada. As that is always to be expected when Sir Richard writes or speaks, we do not mention the work to call attention to the fact, but for another purpose, viz., that of noticing the sketch of the Blue Bird Knight which appears with his article. In that biographical sketch it is announced that "Sir Richard is the real, though not the titular, leader of the Canadian Liberal party." This will, we are sure, be pleasant reading for the pleasant gentleman who therefore, is the "titular," but not the real, leader of the Liberal party," particularly when the titular, but not the real leader of the Liberal party, remembers that the materials for such biographical sketches are usually supplied by the individuals of whom they are written. What with Mr. McCarthy's opinion that Mr. Laurier is only a makeshift and Sir Richard's that he is only a titular leader, that gentleman must feel happy in his job.

NEWS NOTES.

A soft coal famine is anticipated in Montreal. The average yield of wheat in Michigan this year is slightly under 15 1/2 bushels per acre. Marine photographs have been taken at a depth of 500 feet below the ocean's surface. Crop prospects in the United States are gloomy, according to a report just issued from Washington. The city of Montreal loan in London has already been fully subscribed for. The debentures carry 4 per cent. Lord Derby forwarded his subscription of $1,000 to Ottawa for the endowment fund of the new diocese of Ottawa. Hon. Louis Beaudin believes there is a great future for the beet sugar industry of the Province of Quebec if it is properly encouraged. Strikingly pathetic were the last words of a young man who was killed on a Maine railroad last Monday. "I don't know what my poor mother will do," he said, and instantly expired. He had been her sole support for several years. At the risk of being thought "superstitious," we venture the opinion that she will do nobly and sustain with fortitude the almost crushing loss of her declining years. The revenue of the colony of Victoria, Australia, for the past fiscal year was $2,719,000, and the expenditure $7,384,000, leaving a deficiency of $4,665,000, which expenditure is to be further reduced, the customs tariff adjusted and an income tax imposed. Hon. Mr. Carter, the Colonial Treasurer, in announcing the tariff changes, stated that they are made largely with a view to assimilate the Victorian tariff to the tariffs of New South Wales and South Australia, thereby paving the way for a federal tariff and eventual intercolonial free trade. The farmers of the Northwest may not be as flourishing as might be wished, but at any rate they can console themselves with the thought that they are better off than their competitors across the border. Owing to crop failures in Nebraska it is reported that "thousands of farmers will either starve, emigrate, or be fed by charity, unless the people of the state, as a whole, provide for them." From Kansas the tide of emigration is already flowing. "From the centre of the state westward the wheat crop has been a total failure, corn is dying up, orchards are dying, and starvation stares the people in the face." During the twelve months ending June 30, 1894, the aggregate export of flour and wheat from the United States were equal to 164,283,119 bushels, against 191,912,633 bushels during the previous twelve months—a decrease of 14.4 per cent. The aggregate exports of corn were 65,321,811 bushels, against 60,037,274 bushels for the corresponding time in 1893—an increase of 40.2 per cent. The aggregate exports of hog products were 1,015,825,813 lbs., against 803,002,196 lbs. in the previous twelve months—an increase of 12.7 per cent. Of the aggregate exports the United Kingdom accepted 52.3 per cent. of the flour and wheat, 41.1 per cent. of the corn, and 56.5 per cent. of the hog products.

FORESTERS IN SESSION.

The first annual session of the High Court of Foresters was held in Wright's Hall yesterday, beginning at half-past ten o'clock. There was a good attendance, and the proceedings throughout were of a most interesting character. Dr. Martin, High Chief Ranger, in his report, to become a member of the Forestry, "looking over the whole Forestry field," said he, "one cannot fail to be impressed with the rapidity with which the membership of the I. O. F. has multiplied in recent years, growing from a membership of 369 in 1881, with an indebtedness of $4,000, to a membership of 60,000 in 1894 with a surplus of a million dollars, is truly phenomenal." Continuing, the High Chief Ranger pointed out that in this jurisdiction the membership had been increased about 25 per cent. It was resolved, in pursuance of a suggestion made in the High Councilor's report, to become at once incorporated in the Province. The following officers were elected and installed: H. C. R.—J. M. Martin (re-elected). H. V. E.—F. S. Jost. H. S. Woodward—J. F. Stewart. H. Secretary—L. O. Fowler. H. Treasurer—J. Agnew (re-elected). H. Physician—A. Ross, M. D. H. Councilor—P. W. Carver (re-elected). H. Auditors—J. M. Clark and James E. Birch. H. Chaplain—Rev. W. H. Spence. H. Journal Secretary—D. P. Macnutt. H. S. Woodward—J. F. Stewart. H. J. do—W. E. Poole. H. S. Beadle—Murdock McLeod. H. J. do—G. W. Worthy. H. Marshal—Dr. Dougherty. H. Conductor—J. D. Henderson. H. Messenger—Charles W. Kiely.

STOP, TRIEF!

Sir.—The residents of East Royalty are greatly annoyed by thieves who enter dairies, spill milk, carry away milk vessels and commit other depredations. One at least of the parties engaged in this business is a well-known thief and ex-convict. The thieves have been spotted, and their victims intend to refer to the justice on them if they persist in their evil ways. If the officers of justice will visit St. Peter's road any night between 11 o'clock p.m. and 2 a.m. they will find several of these characters prowling along the roads and byways. WATCHMAN.

TELEGRAPHIC.

The China-Japanese War. LONDON, Aug. 15. The British dailies continue to publish vehement denunciations of Japan. Every repulse of the Japanese in Corea or Corea waters is welcomed editorially as a would-be triumph of the British army, and every Japanese success evokes storms of disapproval and appeals to international law. The opinions of the press are not reflected by the British public. The average Englishman is either unpartisan or hopes that Japan will humble China in the present war. A despatch from Yokohama says that in an engagement between the Japanese and Chinese fleets on August 11th the Japanese won a victory.

Moncton's Marmourings.

MONCTON, August 15. Some boys trying to burn a hornet's nest set fire to a barn belonging to Calvin Marnie, at Pelletier River yesterday. The barn was totally destroyed.
