Blood Donor Awards Presented Last Night

The stage was set for this spring's Red Cross blood donor competitions when representatives of the winners and the "runners-up" in the nine different categories met last evening for the semi-annual presentation of the awards at Red Cross headquarters in Charlottetown. Presiding at the meeting, Fremont Archer, chairman of the Red Cross blood donor committee for Charlottetown, announced that the first of this year's five series of clinics for the province will be held at the Confederation Centre on April 4th, 5th and 6th with an objective of 1,110 donors, including the 180 assigned as the quota for the first afternoon's session which will be held at St. Dunstan's University.

Mr. Archer explained that four days of clinics, rather than three, would be desirable, but that this had been impossible on this occasion because of the Good Friday holiday. He said, however, that four days will be assigned for the fall series which are to take place from Sept. 25-29th. The chairman expressed regret at the resignation from the Charlottetown committee of Mrs. A.J. Haslam who has been a valuable and dedicated member for the past several years. He officially welcomed Mrs. John MacFarlane and Mrs. L.F. Myrtle as two new members of his committee, and stated that both of these ladies have been active

Brig. Reid Discusses Scouting At Banquet

MONTAGUE — Brig. W. W. Reid, who recently received the Silver Wolf award in scouting, was guest speaker at the Scout father and son banquet held at the A.D. MacKenzie Hall, Montague last night. Over 125 scouts, cubs, fathers and guests were present for the dinner catered to by the United Church women.

Brig. Reid, in what he called a preamble of scouting, touched on the things that help to make a good scout, the home, the school, the church. "I do not go along with the oft-repeated saying 'boys today are not what they were when I was a boy,'" the speaker said. "If you stop to compare you will find they are more knowledgeable, are in more organizations and do more than you did at their age. Things must change" Brig. Reid commented, and scouting is changing. Our programs are changing and our uniforms are changing. "We have people working on such changes which will take place shortly," he advised.

He was introduced by scout commissioner Eric Duvar and thanked by scout Arthur Reddin. A highlight of the banquet was a presentation of a ribbon and pin to Cubmaster Mrs. Ina Hickox for ten years of service with cubs in Montague. In thanking the organization she said it gave her a great deal of pleasure to look around the room and see so many scout and other things which had been in her cub troupe.

Mrs. Hickox also took the opportunity to thank the cubs and scouts for their thoughtfulness in the past few days during the death of her husband.

Mayor B.H. Yeo spoke briefly, welcoming the out of town guests and congratulating the leaders of the Montague scouts. He noted the large expansion in the scout movement in recent years.

Head table guests were: Garth Steeves, scout, Rev. A.G.J. Steeves, Ina Hickox, cub master, Rev. J.D. McCardie, Brig. W.W. Reid, Judge J.S. DesRoches, chairman of the meeting, Cpl. D.H. Hender, RCMP, scout master, Mayor B.H. Yeo, Mrs. R.R. Beck, Rev. Basil Lowery, Mrs. Kassner, Cub master, Horace Fraser, Eric Duvar, Leonard Munroe, Montague Y's Men.

Rebel Priest Is Released

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — Rev. William H. DuBay, Roman Catholic priest who proposed a labor union for priests in the U.S., has been removed as a hospital chaplain and will perform the "ordinary duties of a parish priest," his superior says.

Rev. Raymond J. O'Flaherty, pastor at St. Monica Catholic Church, said Wednesday that Father DuBay was removed as chaplain at St. John's Hospital, adding:

"Father DuBay was removed because of expressed dissatisfaction from the hospital administration, medical staff and patients with his service and his excessive personal publicity."

The superior would not say whether Father DuBay's suggestion about a union for priests was the cause of his reassignment.

Father DuBay first came to public attention about two years ago when he made public a letter he had written to Pope Paul seeking to have James Francis Cardinal McIntyre, removed as archbishop of the Los Angeles archdiocese. He was criticizing the cardinal's handling of civil rights matters.

'Y' Prexy Issues Challenge For Membership Increase

In his report at the annual meeting of the YMCA last night at the Y Ian R. Rankin, president of the board of directors outlined last year's activities and said that problems that exist in the association should not be difficult to overcome.

Mr. Rankin expressed the fact that they were a member agency in the P.E.I.-United Fund. He said, "membership in the United Fund is not a license to ignore our financial problems and we must continue to exercise discretion in all our expenditures and take all practical steps to make our Association more self-sustaining."

He reported the total membership as 746 and said that their existing facilities and staff could handle a greater membership participation. He said, "I have no hesitation in challenging you to increase our membership by 50 per cent before Dec. 31, 1966."

Reports were also delivered by the treasurer and general secretary, John L. Evans, general secretary, gave the treasurer's report in the absence of Lorán J. McLellan.

The treasurer presented the balance sheet and statement of income and expenses for the year 1965. He also presented a statement on their bowling operations.

In the statement of income and expenses it was reported that the excess of expenses over income total $2,156 and that the bowling alleys ran at a loss of $355. He explained that the bowling operations loss was the result of the operation now being subject to city taxes which amount to $1,888.00. It was explained that, similarly, as a result of this new expenditure their excess of expenditures over income was much greater than in 1964. It was then only $361.

The treasurer's report related reductions in their bank loan and mortgage. He said, "this was as a result of a donation from the Ladies' Auxiliary."

General secretary John L. Evans, spoke on the activities at the 'Y' and gave account on the numerous achievements of the various individuals and teams. He outlined what the YMCA could mean to various individuals and what it did for members.

He also reviewed a few of the achievements as 323 learned to swim, 162 passed life saving awards, etc. Besides these local activities it was reported by Mr. Evans that "this past year in a National YMCA athletic Hi-Lo competition, our local Association placed in the top five. The Charlottetown Y Blueprints swim team placed second in the Maritime Swim Competitions."

The nominating committee report was given and the members of which were named. Members include: for one year—Rev. L. Elias; for two years—Wendell Mutch; for three years—Roland Atkinson, C. F. Downe, Dr. F. W. Jells, Rev. F. Lacey, Reginald MacNutt, Ian R. Rankin, Percy M. Simmonds, Harry Thomson, Robert E. Williams, George Wright.

Members of the 1965 board of directors—Ian R. Rankin, president; Dr. F. W. Jells, vice-president; Mrs. Winnie Phillips, secretary; Lorán MacLellan, were all re-elected.

Mrs. Rankin presented recognition certificates in the Leaders' Fellowship of the YMCA to Fred N. Norton, J. C. Sutherland, Claude Whitecett, Mrs. Frank B. Tinney accepted the award for her husband. Absent were Edward H. Miller, Clive Stewart and Norman Stewart. These certificates were presented to those seven men who retired from the YMCA in 1965.

Reports by the presidents of Alpha T's Men, Ladies Auxiliary, Lambda Chi Phi, Sigma Phi and Hi-Y Central Council, were accepted in block.

The meeting was closed with benediction.

Fear And Uncertainty Strikes Shannon, Que.

By DONAT VALOIS
SHANNON, Que. (CP) — A fear of change and uncertainty has struck a group of farmers in this community, 12 miles north of Quebec, as they prepare their families to leave, for the last time, the land they and their ancestors have cultivated for 150 years.

The 23 families, most of them of Irish descent, are to have their land expropriated by the Canadian defence department to make room for an extension to the artillery firing range at the Canadian Army's Camp Valcartier. Planned as a safety measure, the extension will take in 10,000 acres of the rich farmlands of Shannon.

Shannon, situated in the country of Portneuf, has no school, no important businesses and no proper church. The children go to school in nearby Valcartier or in Quebec City. There is a small chapel but no resident priest.

The religious responsibilities are carried by the Roman Catholic Redemptorist Fathers of Quebec City who come to Shannon for baptisms, weddings and funerals. The nearest resident priest is in the parish of St. Catherine, six miles away.

Shannon has about 450 people, most of them farmers, who have been on the same land for generations. There are a few French-Canadians but the language spoken is English. The farms are small but are considered good producers.

DIFFICULT TO INTEGRATE — Jack Griffin, secretary of the community since 1947, says it is natural that the people should question what fate has in store for them when the camp expansion is completed. He says the move affects the people in two ways—as farmers, they love the land; as landowners, they know it will be extremely difficult integrating into a new way of life.

Mr. Griffin, whose two brothers are also farmers, says most of the farmers have reached the age where it will be difficult for them to try to locate elsewhere. He says their Irish descendants came from the old country in the early 18th century and have farmed the land ever since.

He fears the government is not quite clear on how the action is affecting the people. He feels some of the worry would disappear if the people knew they were going to receive a good price for their land. He also said the people would feel they had been better reimbursed if the government would arrange employment for them at Camp Valcartier.

He said a petition, signed by the residents, was sent to Defence Minister Paul Hellyer who replied he recognized the legitimate aspirations of the people but that the expropriation plans would not be changed.

Georges Gingras, one of the few French Canadians at Shannon, says the people are "very attached to their village." He says it will be particularly hard for these people to leave because local boys have married local girls for generations and have lived on the same farms all their lives.

WANTS 'GOOD' PRICE — Joseph Griffin, 67, the oldest of the farmers, who has cultivated his land since 1916, says if the government "gives us a good price, it would not be so bad. Right now, we don't know where we stand."

Another farmer, Joseph Campbell, wants to remain on his farm because "that is the only life I know." He said his education is limited and "am I expected to save money while working a farm?" He says it will take a lot of money to try and locate somewhere else.

Mr. Campbell says when he leaves his property here, he will never buy another farm "because I am afraid to go into debt."

The expansion of Camp Valcartier is also a source of distress to Mrs. Mona Conway Neville who operates a camp site and resort in the town. She said the expansion announcement was a shock. There had been rumors but no one had believed them.

She said she had written Prime Minister Pearson protesting the expansion. He replied that the decision to expropriate the land had been carefully considered previously.

"We spent 18 years of our life building our property," says Mrs. Conway. "And now the government tells us we have to leave."

Canadians Will Remain Under NATO

OTTAWA (CP) — Canadian troops in Europe won't be subject to any national command there, Prime Minister Pearson told the Commons.

They are there as part of the NATO arrangement and will remain under NATO, the prime minister said in reply to a series of questions about statements by French President de Gaulle.

Opposition Leader Dief-baker had asked for the government's reaction to a statement by President de Gaulle that troops on French soil would have to be under French command.
