MISSIONS.—Rev. E. R. Young—missionary for the North West—officiates at Prince Street Methodist Church on Sunday morning and evening. He will also deliver an address on Monday evening.

THE MARKET HOUSE.—Yesterday the recent order of the City Council, respecting the Market House, was carried into effect. Suitable tables and seats, having been provided in the Upper Hall, the women with their baskets were ordered up there; and the lower room was all taken up by the butchers. A little annoyance was at first evinced by those told to go up higher; but the comfort afforded by the well-warmed room will, we are sure, soon reconcile all concerned to the change. Both eastern and western doors of the Upper Hall should, however, be opened; or else directory notices should be posted up. The meat market now presents as fine a sight as connoisseurs in that line could wish to see.

SINGULAR APPARITION.

FIVE SPIRITS APPEAR IN THE METIACKIAH (B.C.) MISSION HOUSE.

The British Columbia papers of the 22d, which arrived here yesterday, contain an account of a singular apparition at Metlakatlah. Fourteen years ago a mission was started there among the Tismashaen Indians by Mr. William Duncan under the auspices of the Church Missionary Society of England. Mr. Duncan is assisted by Rev. Mr. Collinson and Rev. Mr. Hall, also Church of England missionaries. Metlakatlah is an inhospitable spot. Away up there, above the fifty-fourth parallel of latitude, the climate will not admit of agriculture being extensively engaged in. Wheat cannot be brought to maturity. Potatoes and other root crops seem to grow pretty well. Formerly the Indians of the Tismashaen nation offered human sacrifices, and it is said that they also indulged cannibalistic proclivities. It would seem, however, that they confined their eating of human flesh to their "medicine" festival, and even then no one ever saw them do more than, while engaged in the demonical rites which were customary on these occasions, merely bite it. The victims at these celebrations were members of other tribes whom they had enslaved. Not only are the teaching and influence of Mr. Duncan having the effect of making the Indians fall away from such human and heathenish practices, but they are also removing much of the deadly hostility which formerly existed among different tribes. It will be remembered that during their visit to British Columbia last fall, Lord Dufferin and party visited the mission, and spoke highly of the work being done by Mr. Duncan and his associates. But to the apparition story.—The Hudson Bay Company's steamer Otter, which arrived on the 21st ult. at Victoria, reported on the authority of Mr. Hall, that while the Indians were at prayer in the mission house on the night of Sunday, the 11th, five figures robed in white suddenly appeared near the communion table, and remained there in a kneeling position for some time. The Indians rushed into Mr. Hall's house and begged him to come back with them. He did so, and distinctly saw the figures, and, with Mrs. Collinson, watched them until they mysteriously faded away. Mr. Hall is willing to make oath to these facts, but refrains from expressing an opinion on the matter. It is said that some of the officers of the United States revenue cutter "Woolcut" also saw the apparition. Mr. Duncan and Mr. Collinson were away at the time. Probably Mr. Hall will be asked to give further details.

REPORT.

London, Oct. 24.—The Chanaral, from Rangoon, at Queenstown, reports: Sept. 25, in lat. 29.44 N., lon. 35.52 W., at 1 p. m. light airs and calms, we observed some wreckage to the northward; lowered a boat and pulled to it, when it proved to be the hull of a vessel of about 200 tons apparently by the chain plates, had been a brig or brigantine rigged, North American built, with the name "Evadne" on the starboard bow on topgallant bulwarks, which were about two feet above the water; no name was visible on the stern outside, but inside on the transom was painted in white, "August 15th, 30 40 N Jackson," and some more, but too much washed to make out. Both her masts had gone below the deck, which was all burst up amidship, and potatoes floating up from below, about half rotten. Drove the grains down the hatches, each time bringing up potatoes; supposed she had been loaded with them. There were no spars or wreckage attached, not even a belaying pin in the rails; all that was standing was the poop rail and bowsprit, and heel of jibboom, from cap in the house aft and poop deck had been washed away; on the cabin deck which was loose and partly under water, where found the broken steering gear and a body of a chronometer, No. 274, marked "Sharp, Westmoreland street, Dublin." Being very dangerous to ships, we lashed about fifteen feet of a deck plank over and to the poop rail, with a black board, and an old white painted canvas cover on it as a beacon.

[The above vessel is, no doubt, the same one that Hyndman Bros., of this city, loaded with potatoes last fall for New York. She sailed about 1st December, McKeen, master, belonging to Nova Scotia.]

WAR NEWS.

[By Telegraph to Reading Room and Daily Examiner.]

LONDON, Nov. 9.
 The Russian official dispatch, dated Kuruk Dara, 6th, says: Gen. Lazroff, yesterday, occupied a position in front of the south-eastern post at Kars, for the purpose of erecting siege batteries. The Turks attacked them, supported by the fire of the forts. The Russians beat them back in disorder, and pressed them into Fort Hafiz at the point of the bayonet, inflicting heavy loss. They spiked the guns, captured a number of persons, and returned with small loss.

Russian losses to the 1st November amount to 64,800.
 A Russian official dispatch from Kuruk Dara, on the 6th, confirms the intelligence that the columns of Generals Henyman and Tergukshoff defeated the Turks on the 4th at Deve Bayau, after nine hours' fighting. The Turks fled in disorder, abandoning their camps, arms and provisions. Losses unknown.

Official dispatches from Mukhtar Pasha admit that he was compelled to retreat from Deve Bayau, and that some officers, panic-stricken, abandoned several guns. The latter are being tried by Court Martial. He concludes by saying that he is occupying the fortifications of Erzeroum, and preparing for their defence.
