Sex Influences Everyday Habits

Male-female differences are not just physical or even mental. Each sex has its own way of doing the simplest things of life such as taking off a sweater or carrying a couple of books. In The Standard this week there are some interesting pictures proving this point from donning a pair of gloves to making love. An amusing lesson in the art of observation. Get The Standard — on sale now, complete with magazine, 12-page novel and 20 pages of comics. Only ten cents!

Will Review Liquor Ads

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario liquor control board will start Oct. 24 to review liquor advertising regulations. In announcing the hearings, board chairman William Collings said Saturday the board will consider briefs from the newspapers, radio and television interests, liquor firms and temperance groups. He said the board will also take up the CBC's ban on beer and liquor advertising in Ontario. United States TV stations carrying beer advertisements can be received on many sets in Ontario.

CNIB Gives Hope To Blind

In 1918 there were very few blind men and practically no blind women making a living in this country. There was no organization interested in the welfare of the adult blind. They were left to shift for themselves. Most of them made very poor jobs of it, for blindness is a tremendous handicap and those carrying it are, for the most part, unable to achieve independence without friendly help. To-day, there are hundreds of blind men and women earning a livelihood. There is an organization equipped to secure employment for them and to provide them with a variety of services which makes it possible for many of them to lead the normal lives enjoyed by sighted people.

A tremendous change has come over the lives of many blind people within the last thirty-seven years; a change that has been made possible by the activities of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind. Public interest was aroused in the problems of the blind as a whole, when, in the course of the first war, a few blinded soldiers returned to Canada. Some of those soldiers are still connected with the Institute. Col. E. A. Baker, who lost his sight as a result of a sniper's bullet in the fall of 1915, is its Managing Director.

Under the guidance of these men and a group of prominent blind and sighted civilians, the Institute has expanded until it is regarded as one of the most outstanding associations of its kind in the world. It is not internationally recognized on account of its size, but because it has been remarkably successful in providing a systematic program of services—because it has done its job well. It has transformed blindness from a tragedy to a mere handicap in hundreds of instances. The Canadian National Institute for the Blind depends on the support of the public for most of the funds necessary for its maintenance. The annual Campaign runs from Oct. 17-29 and those in charge are looking to the public to meet the objective of $7,400.00 in order that these services may be continued and expanded to the 170 blind persons in P.E.I. There is probably no person with good sight who does not feel the urge to be of some assistance to blind people. The C.N.I.B. provides the only channel through which this assistance can be done effectively.

In Memoriam

MR. JOHN F. MURRAY
The death occurred at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Frank Bell, Stanley Bridge on Friday morning, Sept. 2 of Mrs. John F. Murray in her eighty-fifth year. Formerly Mary Caroline MacLeod, she was born at Graham's Road and spent the greater part of her life there.

A woman of true Christian character, she was active interested in the life and welfare of the community but it is in the family and that her death will be most keenly missed, for she was a devoted mother. Surviving are six sons and five daughters: Welsh, Palo Alto, Calif.; Arnel, Winnipeg, Man.; Malcolm, Pictou, N.S.; John, Morton, Weymouth, N.S.; and Earle, Graham's Road; Mary, Mrs. Heath Clark, Bedeque; Annie, Mrs. Frank Bell, Stanley Bridge; Irene, Mrs. D. J. MacLeod, Charlottetown; Marion, Mrs. W. MacEwen, New London; and Hilda, Mrs. George Mayhew, Margate; also thirty three grand-children, twenty-five great-grand children and one great grand-child.

Her husband predeceased her twenty years ago, also a son, George, eight years old. The funeral took place on Sunday afternoon and was attended by a host of relatives and friends. The many beautiful floral offerings bore silent testimony of the esteem in which the deceased was held.

The service was conducted by Mr. Douglas Fox and the hymns sung were: "The Lord's My Shepherd" and "Abide With Me." The pall bearers were Lloyd Darrach Mcbourne, Wright and four grandsons David Bell, William MacEwen, Murray Mayhew, and Scott MacLeod. Interment was in New London cemetery.

Card of Thanks

The family of the late Mrs. John F. Murray wish to extend their sincere thanks and deep appreciation to the many kind friends and neighbours who helped in any way during their recent bereavement; also to those who sent flowers and messages of sympathy.

HOW TO READ COMFORTABLY IN BED

by PEGGY LIDSTONE
Home Lighting Specialist

Do you love to read in bed—but find it difficult because the lighting is poorly placed? Then follow either of these two recipes and read for hours without eye strain!

If you are using a table lamp the bedside table on which it rests should be about 28" high. For reading comfort, your lamp shade should be approximately 16" wide and the bottom edge should be 20" above your bed mattress.

If you prefer a wall lamp, see that it's centred above your bed at a height of about 30 inches from the bottom of the shade to the bed mattress. Check that the shade is about 18 inches wide at the bottom. For both these lighting recipes, use the 50/100/150 three-tile bulb.

If you want further information on modern lighting tips write to me, Peggy Lidstone, c/o Lighting Institute, Canadian General Electric Co. Ltd., 163 Dufferin Street, Toronto. I will send you FREE a 16 page illustrated booklet "How to Light Condition Your New Home."

Presents 1793 Muster Roll To P.E.I. Historical Society

Mrs. Lester Douglas of Charlottetown recently presented to the Historical Society, to hold in trust for a Provincial Museum, the old known muster roll of Militia on the island. This is a roll, not of Prince Edward Island Militia, but of "Island of Saint John volunteers". It is titled "A List of the Commissioned Officers and Non-Commissioned Officers and Men Belonging to the Loyal Independent Caledonian Company of Volunteers", mustered at Charlotte town 18 May, 1793.

Historic in itself it is doubly valuable by reason of the names which it contains. The Captain is none other than the Glenaladale settler Captain John Macdonald who brought out the Scotchfort soldiers some twenty years earlier. His Captain-Lieutenant was James Douglas of Charlottetown, early customs comptroller, whose descendant, Sholto Douglas took the muster roll to South Africa and later sent it back to Lester Douglas, deceased M. P. for Queens.

The fifth name on the list was Colonel Joseph Robinson who took the lowly rank of cadet in the Caledonian Volunteers. He with Caledonians were later to share another honour when they would be known as the grandfathers of Sir William Macdonald.

Pastor & Wife Honored On Wedding Anniversary

The congregation of Trinity Church on Saturday evening honored their pastor Rev. A. Frank MacLean and Mrs. MacLean at a surprise party on the occasion of their 25th wedding anniversary. Mr. and Mrs. MacLean were married on October 15 at St. Columba Church, Hopewell, N. S., in 1930. Before coming to Charlottetown they served at Andover, Edmundston and Fredericton, N. B. and at Sydney.

Ushered into the social hall of the church to the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march, the bride and groom of 25 years ago were taken completely by surprise when they found that over 300 of their congregation were waiting to receive them. After an address by the clerk of the Session, Dr. G. D. Steel, the couple proceeded to cut the three layer wedding cake.

The cake which had been arranged by the ladies of the church contained silver dollars which admiring members had contributed for the occasion. Mrs. MacLean was the recipient of a nosegay, interspersed in which were 25 silver dollars.

Although unaware of what was prepared for them, both Mr. and Mrs. MacLean spoke feelingly of the happy memories of their married life and the pleasant relations existing between them and the congregation. A highlight of the occasion was the presentation of a bouquet to his father and mother by eight year old Allan MacLean, the youngest member of the family. Present also for the occasion were daughter Marjorie and sons, Ian, Hughie and Alex.

At the reception which followed Mr. and Mrs. MacLean were extended the congratulations of all present. Two senior ladies of the church, Mrs. Ruby Houle and Mrs. R. E. Mutch, presided over the tea cups.

Following is the text of the address read by Dr. Steel: "To Rev. A. Frank and Mrs. MacLean: Twenty five years ago you set out together like Milton's hero and heroine. "The world was all before you, where to choose". Whether you did the choosing or whether it was done by the Settlement Committee of Conference, matters little. The years that followed saw you labouring in all three Maritime Provinces and everywhere you went, it soon became evident that another pastoral charge had secured a friendly, talented and devoted pastor and his wife.

"Three years ago you came among us a stranger but at once you took us all to your hearts and established a place for yourselves in our hearts. "Your ministrations among us, Mr. MacLean, in the pulpit on Sunday, in the mid-week service, at surprise parties and in the homes of the congregation in times of joy or of sorrow have endeared you to us all and always behind you assisting as only a wife who is a real helpmate can, is the gracious lady who was the bride of 25 years ago.

"In view of this we your friends in Trinity Church felt we could not allow the occasion to pass unnoticed. It is not given to us to see into the future but we sincerely trust that under God's good favour, you may go forward to your golden and to you diamond anniversaries still surrounded by friends who will be fully as appreciative of your outstanding gifts as are we of Trinity Church. We trust too that your memories of us in years to come will always be as pleasant as will be ours of you.

"It is our unanimous wish as we meet here on this joyous occasion that you may both be spared to celebrate with friends old and new many more anniversaries on October 15, 1930. We wish you God's blessing in the years to come."

LIST OF NAMES

All the names on the muster roll deserve to be remembered in the records of their families and the following is a complete list: John Macdonald, Captain; James Douglas, Capt.; Lieutenant; John Macdonald, 1st. Lieut.; Angus Macdonald, 2d. Lieut.; Colo. Joseph Robinson, Cadet; Jas. Applin; John Brecken; Robert Hodgson; Ralph Breckon; Thomas R. Hazard; William Haszard; John Gardiner; James Frazer (at Quebec); Elisha Frazer (name deleted); Thos. Webster, Samuel Bagnel, Senr.; Samuel Bagnel, Junr.; Thomas Robinson; R. Winnor; Mary Marjorie; Thos. Forth Winter; Angus McFee, Sergt.

MILVIEW W. I.

On October 5, the regular monthly meeting of the Institute met at the home of Mrs. Ted Crane with an attendance of seven members and one visitor. Meeting opened with club women's creed.

Roll call was answered by each member paying 10 cents. Minutes read, approved and signed by president. Sick committee reported one sympathy card sent to a bereaved family in the district and gifts taken to twins. A bill of $21.11 presented and paid for.

It was moved and seconded that $1.00 be sent to the Ceylon project. Proceeds from two dances held recently showed a profit of $55.35. Correspondence consisted of a letter of thanks from Mr. Burton Reid, also letters from Mrs. R. L. Burge, Provincial Secretary, Treasurer, Mrs. Charles Jones, Governor of Agriculture, Canadian Red Cross Society and Jane Weldon. Cod liver oil capsules are to be ordered soon.

Collection and roll call amounted to $1.35. The next meeting is to be held at the home of Mrs. George McEachern, when roll call will be answered by paying membership fees.

Prizes for a contest were won by Mrs. George McEachern and Mrs. Robert Drake. Lunch was served by the hostess assisted by daughter Betty, after which meeting adjourned.

A special meeting was held in school on Thursday evening October 13 and a decision was reached to purchase a piano for school also that card parties be held, beginning next week, first to be held at the home of Mrs. I. E. Jenkins and later on to have a pantry sale. Ten members were present at this meeting.
