ELLEN'S DIARY

The Dear Editor Letter Is A Laughter Guarantee

"Since your heifer has freshened" his grandfather commented in half-earnest to Mack today when they chatted together about items of the farming as the pair often do, the latter to absorb lore we hope he will one day use "we could do worse than fit up the old separator and go into the dairying again."

"Let's buy a new one!" the youngster suggested with all the assurance of this age of buying. "It would be wiser to start with the old one and..."

"Yes," Mack agreed "make the cream cheques pay for a new one. Would we buy a milkier too?"

"No," James said, "we'd milk by hand. Then what we'd make, we'd have."

"We'd begin in a small way," Mack nodded, "and work up."

"That's always the best way in farming," James offered. "Take a step at a time. That way a farmer won't get into difficulties."

"Who'll do the cleaning?" we asked with a chuckle. "The two exchanged glances, grinned, a bit shyly."

"Oh, we'd manage," James smiled. "We'd hire!" Mack said.

"Remember there's more to dairying nowadays than just milking the cows! Did you read some of the fine points of it up in the other provinces in the MacDonald Farm Journal of May?"

James shook his head. "I've been so busy, I didn't get round to it."

"You could get it and read it to us," Mack who loves to be read to, suggested.

So we brought the paper, we had put carefully away.

"It's headed: 'The Heights of something' and is a 'Dear Editor' letter" we explained.

"Then go ahead" James said settling down in the old armchair, Mack tucked in beside him. "I guess," it says "your readers have been having the same kind of trouble that we have had recently to please all the various health and milk inspectors who plague the dairy industry in Canada. So I thought I would tell you how we manage the problem in our new set-up. Absolute cleanliness is our aim. Before milking, a hot bath and manicure, clean underwear for all hands, and a newly starched overall. We all suck SenSens in case our breath may taint the milk, and we give a handful to each cow."

Then the udders are washed with baby soap, dried with a clean towel (one to each cow) and dusted with talcum powder. The feet are washed with penicillin and are cleaned with boot polish.

Next the cow's rear ends are washed and sprayed with eau de cologne. If any manure happens to be dropped in a weak moment, we stop all milking and remove it 200 yards downwind from the milking stable. The gutter is then cleaned with 10 percent creolin solution. I cannot give further details, as it is a half hour piece we finished the morning milking and it's time now to get ready for the evening chores. Yours for perfection..."

They chuckled.

"You'd be pretty busy fellows, wouldn't you?" we laughed.

James smiled. "We wouldn't have to be as fussy as all that!"

"And the cream-cheques would feel good," Mack said.

Without fuss or a sound of a going, this June day so good to us, allowing us—each one to attend to the work of his or her round, goes now, outward-bound.

Until tomorrow — — — Diary, Good-night.

HAPPENINGS

Mr. John H. Bigelow has been appointed vice-president in charge of sales in the Reichold Chemicals (Canada) Ltd. Mr. Bigelow is a native of Sackville N.B. and holds his Master of Service and Master of Commerce degrees.

He is married to the former Katherine Shaw, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. L.W. Shaw, Southport. Mr. and Mrs. Bigelow and three children spent their annual vacations at Southport P.E.I. and at Hantsport, N.S., with Mr. Bigelow's mother, Mrs. (Dr.) Bigelow.

Among those attending the Maritime Conference on Social Work is Miss Marjorie Yeadon, Truro, N.S. Miss Yeadon is attached to the Rehabilitation Centre at Halifax. While in Charlottetown she is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Allison MacKinnon.

Mrs. George T. Medford of Halifax arrived by plane Tuesday and is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. A.R. Gillis, Fitzroy Street. Mr. Medford will be here for the week-end.

Mrs. Gordon Evans, Charlottetown, and Mrs. J.S. MacLeod Hunter River, leave Saturday on a holiday trip to Boston.

Miss Helen Yeo and Miss Bessie Prowse, who sailed on the Cunard R.M.S. Carinthia from Montreal last Friday, have written that they had a fine take-off with sunny days! Also they were already enjoying the English custom of having afternoon tea, in this case, with the added attraction of an orchestra.

The following information to the Guardian by Mr. Kenneth Bruce Stewart is of interest to many readers. The death took place recently in New Glasgow, Nova Scotia, of Mrs. Martha Carmichael Stewart, wife of Robert Bruce Stewart, son of the late Robert Bruce Stewart and Mrs. (Anne Warburton) Stewart of Stratgartney House, Prince Edward Island.

Mr. Stewart is the retired manager in New Glasgow of the Dominion Bridge Company. For several summers Mr. and Mrs. Stewart were guests at Dalvay-by-the-Sea, Mrs. Stewart's illness was of long duration. Mr. Kenneth Bruce Stewart of P.E.I. also received the word that Mrs. Arthur Beariato, who died recently in Toronto, had been ill for a long time.

Mr. and Mrs. A.G. LeLacheur, Sackville, N.B., with their children Nancy and David are arriving this Saturday to visit Mr. and Mrs. Bruce MacLaren.

Mrs. Bert Begg and Mrs. Augustus Quinn were joint hostesses at a miscellaneous shower held at the home of Mrs. Begg, 182 King Street on June 18th, in honour of her niece, Miss Doris Walsh who is one of the seasons bride-to-be. Miss Walsh received a number of lovely gifts which were opened, and the accompanying verses and good wishes were read by the bride's niece, Miss Dianne Walsh. The remainder of the evening was spent in singing, music supplied by Mrs. Mary Roach. Refreshments were served by the hostesses, and best wishes were extended to the bride for many years of happiness.

Mr. and Mrs. J.E. Legard and children, Pamela and Paul, Regina, Sask., Dr. and Mrs. O.E. Dalton and son John, Swift Current, Sask., arrived home by car to visit their respective families at Borden and Malpque.

ST. CHARLES C.W.I.

The St. Charles Parish council of the C.W.I. held their monthly meeting on June 14th, at 6 p.m. Meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Maurice Gallant. Prayer was led by the director, Rev. Charles Gallant.

The minutes of the last meeting were read by the secretary and approved as read. Treasurer reported making ten dollars on a sale. Expenses for the month amounted to $8.15.

Correspondence included a letter of thanks from Sr. Leo Marie and a letter from the provincial convener of Education.

There was some discussion on starting an educational fund in the parish. This was left to the convener of education and her committee to work up a plan.

It was decided to give ten dollars for school prizes. The date set for the annual parish chicken and ham supper was July 16th.

Four ladies were asked to sweep the church. There being no further business, the meeting closed with prayer.

Muriel Gidley Stafford Will Visit P.E. Island

Prince Edward Island is to have a very distinguished visitor in the person of Mrs. Muriel Gidley Stafford, president of the Royal College of Canadian Organists. When Mrs. Stafford became president a few years ago it was the first time in the history of the college that a woman had been president of this august body. During Mrs. Stafford's presidency further history has been made in that the college was granted the prefix of Royal by the Queen.

Mrs. Stafford, moderately tall, dark blue eyes, brown hair, brilliant personality, is well qualified to make this contribution to Canadian music history. Hector Charlesworth some years ago, hailed her as "Muriel Gidley—undoubtedly Canada's greatest woman organist."

Since student days Muriel Gidley Stafford has been a great favorite and her ability recognized by such organists as Sir Ernest MacMillan, Dr. Healy William, Dr. Charles Peaker and Dalton MacLaughlin.

Mrs. Stafford is accompanied on the trip by her husband, Mr. Merrill Stafford, president of the Turnbull Elevator Company, Toronto. Mrs. Stafford, member of council, member of the board of examiners of the Royal Conservatory, Toronto, recitalist and lecturer, will be speaking to the New Brunswick organists in Fredericton on June 27th. The following Monday, June 29th, the Staffords arrive at Lakeview Lodge, Cayegish, to be with friends who visit there annually.

The Staffords hope to have one day in Charlottetown as they must be in St. Andrew's by-the-sea by July 4th. They wish to see as many points of interest on the Island as possible but as can be well understood "they need a rest very badly and do not wish to be entertained." Mr. and Mrs. Stafford have travelled extensively in Canada and Europe, the U.S. and Canada but this is the first time to the Island and they "are looking forward to getting acquainted with the garden province."

Couple Honored On Anniversary

A very enjoyable evening was spent at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Boyles, West Devon, when relatives and friends gathered at their home to celebrate Mrs. Boyles' birthday, and also their 42nd wedding anniversary, on Monday night, June 15th. Mr. and Mrs. Boyles expressed their appreciation for some lovely gifts received.

Among those present were Rev. and Mrs. C.E. Glenn, from Prentist, Maine, pastor of the Church of God at West Devon.

Mrs. Boyles was the former Annie Durden of England and moved here with her husband 42 years ago. They have a family of 4 children, Ambrose, Albert, West Devon, Margaret, Mrs. Guy MacDonald, Ontario, and Alice at home.

A sing-song was enjoyed and a delicious lunch was served by the hostesses. All departed to their homes wishing Mr. and Mrs. Boyles many more happy returns of the day.
