

DR. TUPPER.

THE people of Prince Edward Island will heartily welcome Dr. Tupper on Tuesday evening next; and we feel confident that every man, who possibly can, will come to hear him speak in the Skating Rink.

The Hon. Joseph Howe, at one time his greatest opponent, fully recognized the Doctor's pre-eminent ability; and at the last, when he knew that his own usefulness was gone, and that he was fast going down into the valley and shadow of death, Howe called his old Liberal friends around him and said:—

"I wish you to follow Tupper in the future as you have followed me in the past."

We regret that the Doctor comes to speak in Charlottetown during the busiest season of the year; but we have no doubt that our farmers will make a "Big Push" and that the Skating Rink will be overcrowded, nevertheless.

False Telegrams.

THE St. John Telegraph published, in its telegraphic columns, a very garbled statement of the meeting held in Charlottetown when the Premier and Finance Minister addressed the electors.

The Telegraph's editor knew, when he published in his paper the statement that Mr. Brecken headed a crowd of roughs, he was giving publicity to what was incorrect.

"The strong party is seldom rude, disorderly or unjust towards its opponents. Courtesy, moderation, forbearance, are evidences of the strength of which they are the outgrowth."

The above, from the St. John Freeman, was, doubtless, written for the benefit of Mr. L. H. Davies—who would not let Mr. Brecken speak upon his platform—even for five minutes, the Editor of the Patriot, who dubs all his opponents liars and thieves, and the gentle supporters of Dr. McIntyre who pelt stones in the dark!

EXTRA VALUE in Black Lustres and Cashmere—just received. J. & W. BEEB.

The Local Situation.

THE Patriot seems to glory in the misuse of the Local Premier's official influence—so long as it is against the Liberal-Conservative candidates; and we have not the shadow of a doubt that it glories in the way the Local Premier is sustaining it with the money of the Province.

THE CAMPAIGN.

MEETING AT ELDON.

LAST EVENING Messrs. Pope and Brecken were heartily received by the electors of Eldon. They each spoke at length, and their speeches were evidently appreciated by the assembled electors.

MEETING AT WOOD ISLANDS.

Last evening the Bachelor Candidates addressed the people of Wood Islands. We learn that some of their fallacies were exploded by electors present.

PRINCE COUNTY.

Advices from Prince County are most satisfactory. Our friends are working well for Hackett and Howatt. At Tryon, Somerset, Centreville, Kensington, the meetings were overwhelmingly in their favor.

KING'S COUNTY.

The great speeches of Pope and Brecken at Souris, have given an impetus to the cause of Reciprocal Free Trade in Kings. McFayden is already ruled out of the race, the Grits admitting that the contest will be close between Muttart and the two doctors, while McDonald's triumph is beyond doubt.

What a Life Long Reformer in Ontario has to Say.

MR. CHRISTOPHER MACON, of the Township of Chatham, thus shows cause for abandoning the party with which he has hitherto worked and supporting Mr. Rufus Stephenson, the Liberal-Conservative candidate in the County of Kent, Ontario:—

"GENTLEMEN,—As I am supporting Mr. Rufus Stephenson in the present contest against Mr. McMahon, of London, and as I have worked and voted heretofore for the Reform party and against Mr. Stephenson, I deem it my duty as your old representative, in the Township and County Councils, to state briefly my reasons for so doing:—

"I find the leaders of the Reform party in power quite a different set of men to what they were in Opposition; I find that they have abandoned all the great principles so loudly boasted of since obtaining office; I find that they have increased the public debt unnecessarily, and that they are far more extravagant than the old Government; I find that that they are enriching many of their supporters at the expense of the country; I find that, instead of curtailing the expenditure of the Dominion during the present depression and hard times (when many good and true men are striving hard to make a scanty living for themselves and their families, they have increased their expenditure, increased the salaries; I find that the policy of the Government, in allowing wheat, oats, corn and garden produce to come into Canada from the States, free of duty, is an injury to every farmer in the land—the Americans have a free market with us, while we are kept out of their markets by heavy duties.

Cartwright's Insult to the Highlanders.

After, in one of his "pic nic speeches," charging Sir John McDonald with thieving, Mr. Cartwright said:—

Perhaps he (Sir John) could not help it, as coming from a race of thieves and plunderers, his hereditary instincts were too strong to be suppressed.

At Summerside, Mr. Cartwright said this was intended for a "goak"!

THE REVISED VOTERS' LISTS are not yet in the hands of the Sheriff; and neither Governments will pay for the printing of them.

Sir John in Kingston.

THE campaign in Kingston was formally opened on the 22nd inst, by the holding of a public meeting in the City Hall. Sir John's old supporters were all in their places. The young men, too, were on hand, ready to do battle for the veteran chieftain, and the utmost enthusiasm prevailed.

"Upon you and the policy of your party, the hopes of Canada are placed for a return of that prosperity which has been denied to our country since the advent to power of the present Ministry, whose inconsistency, incompetence and extravagance will, we hope, receive their due reward at the ensuing general election. We earnestly desire that, for many years yet to come, you may be spared to serve your country, in the interest of which you have spent the best years of your life, and that the day is not far distant when you and the party of which you are leader shall once again be called upon by her Majesty's representative to assume control of the affairs of the Dominion."

A special address, from the young men of Kingston, was one of the most pleasing and reassuring features of the meeting.

The young men say to Sir John:—

It must be conceded that your past career and your present political attitude are calculated to evoke the loyal attachment and zealous co-operation of the young men of this country. For many years the advocate, and then the principal agent in the consummation of Confederation, you, together with the party of which you are the acknowledged head, have given to Canadians a nationality of which they are justly proud.

Sir John addressed the electors for over two hours. He said he "had been in all parts of Ontario, and he had discovered that the farmers were beginning to find out that their interests were identical with those of the manufacturer. The Government was going to fall in consequence of its repudiation of the National Policy. (Cheers.) He referred to the state of feeling in the Provinces, and predicted that victory was certain for the Opposition, and then when he saw his policy carried out, he might say with Simeon of old, 'Let thy servant depart in peace.' He wanted the electors of Kingston to assist him in this great work. (Cheers.) He felt that they were going to return him by an increased majority. (Cheers.) He need not say that a man in his position could get many constituencies if he wanted them. He had been offered several, but he would be true to his first love. (Cheers.) He would not desert Kingston till Kingston deserted him. (Cheers.) He alluded to the non-resident cry that had been raised against him. Should they reject him and elect Mr. Gunn, he might be made Finance Minister—(laughter)—and he would be obliged to live out of Kingston. He would leave his case in their hands. He would not say a word against his opponent, Mr. Gunn, against whom he would fight an amicable battle at the polls.

The following resolution was then moved by the Mayor:—

"That having listened to the masterly address of the Right Hon. Sir John McDonald, this meeting regards the policy therein enunciated as founded on the wisest statesmanship, and as calculated to ensure the development of a prosperity denied to Canada under the present regime; that the course of the existing Administration has been signally characterized by extravagance, corruption and incapacity, resulting largely in the prevalent depression, and this meeting, further, as a tribute to the long and distinguished career of the right hon. gentleman, pledges itself to return him as member for the City of Kingston at the approaching general election, thus re-establishing him in a position which, for the past thirty-four years he has held with marked honour and credit to himself, to Kingston, and to the Dominion generally."
