Widening Educational

Within this tremendous space are jungles, towering mountains, frozen wastelands, sunbaked deserts, and fertile valleys. While northern Asia has some of the world's coldest winters, the weather is not all the year in parts of Southern Asia.

Seven of the world's 12 longest rivers are located on the Asiatic continent. Asia has the world's highest mountain, too. Mount Everest soars more than 29,000 feet into the sky. The earth's lowest spot is also in Asia. The Dead Sea is 1,250 feet below sea level.

Many of Asia's mineral deposits are located in out-of-the-way places, where it is hard to mine, however, it does produce many minerals and raw materials which the world needs—such as oil, tin, bauxite, manganese, and rubber. Asia's high mountains divide the continent into five main regions. Northern Asia is a frozen wasteland—too cold to be much use to man. Most of Northern Asia belongs to Russia.

Inner Asia including parts of Tibet, Mongolia, and Afghanistan is shut in by mountains and gets little rainfall, as a result, nearly all of the region is dry, desert land.

Eastern Asia has small, fertile plains among its many mountains. There is enough rainfall and warm weather for farmers to grow good crops. Among the countries in this region are parts of China, Formosa, the Philippines, Japan and Korea.

Southern Asia, south of the Himalaya Mountains, is the most fertile part of the Orient. In this area are great rivers with valleys where tea, spices, tobacco, rubber, coffee, sugar, cotton, and other crops are grown. Much of land is in southern India, Burma, Thailand, Pakistan, and Indonesia.

Western Asia touches the Mediterranean and the Red Sea. Here there are great plains and high plateaus. The region has some fertile areas with plenty of water, but most of the land is dry. The area takes in parts of Iraq, Arabia, and Iran.

As you can see, most of Asia is either too dry, too cold, or too mountainous for human beings. Two-thirds of the continent has almost no inhabitants at all. Asia's people live crowded together where the soil is fertile.

The peoples of Asia are of every race and colour, and many religions and tongues. But the people of Asia are alike in one respect, most of them are poor. The average Asian earns only $50 a year, and many get much less.

Asia has many beautiful buildings but they were not put up for people to live in. Large numbers of Asians live in miserable homes—mud huts, straw shelters, and tents. Most of the people go to bed hungry. Rice is their chief food and there is never enough to go around. Poor meals and lack of medical care cause Asians to die young. As a matter of fact, most people in Asia have never seen a doctor. In India and Indonesia, for example, the average person can expect to live only 30 years. Most of Asia's people never have a chance to go to school. Four-fifths of the people in India, Iran, and Pakistan can't read or write. Many youngsters who do go to school sit on the ground in outdoor classrooms or study in filthy buildings.

Asia is a continent of farmers. Most of them live in small villages and till the soil with crude tools. Japan is the only country we would call an industrial nation. It has factories which turn out machinery, cloth, ships, chemicals, and many other products. There are oil refineries in Iran, Iraq, and Indonesia, and tin smelters in Malaya. In most Asiatic lands there are only small products such as matches, shoes, paper, cloth. Other goods, such as carpets, jewelry, and pottery, are made by hand.

During the last 50 years, Asia has seen many wars, beginning with a conflict between Japan and Russia early in the century. In 1915, the Japanese attacked Manchuria. Six years later, China and Japan were engaged in an all-out war. During World War II, there was fighting in many Asiatic lands—China, the Philippines, Malaya, Burma, East Indies, Thailand, Singapore, and Hong Kong. After the war, China was torn with civil war, as were the Nationalists and the communists, battled for power. Between 1950 and 1953, Korea was the scene of a costly conflict. Indo-China was the scene of fighting in 1946-1953. Wars have been fought in all parts of the continent, and many have been long and bitter. So many Asians have seen misery and destruction in this century.

Since World War II, many Asiatic lands have won their freedom. India and Pakistan, while still members of the British Family of Nations, have had their own governments since 1947. Burma, too, is free. The United States gave the Philippines their independence in 1946. Israel was carved out of British-controlled Palestine in 1948. The people of Indonesia won their freedom from Dutch rule in 1949. In all places under foreign rule the people are struggling to be free.

There are two communists giants in Asia. Russia and China cover more than one-half of the continent. The communists control North Korea, Tibet, and northern Viet Nam.

What do the people of Asia want most? Of course, in addition they are striving for better medical care, housing, clothing, and educational opportunities. The masses of people are ready to turn to any system of government that will enable them to acquire these necessities of good living. Most of free Asia's leaders feel that such goals can be reached only through a program of industrial development and farm modernization. They feel that economic aid from the West would help them greatly in launching plans along this line.

Madame Pandit of India, former President of the United Nations General Assembly, and sister of Prime Minister Nehru, recently told a New York audience: "Your greatest weapon is not the

MISCOCUCHE ACADEMY NOTES

—On Friday, March 11th, Education Week, Squadron Leader Murray Shanks, Principal of the Air Marshall Johnson School, St. James, gave a very interesting and informative talk on the teaching profession to the students of Grades VII-XI, pointing out its disadvantages as well as its advantages and the responsibility of teachers and the priceless rewards of the teaching career. The keynote of his talk was that in no other profession can one serve his fellowman so worthily.

The chairman for the occasion was Erma Gallant. A vote of thanks to Mr. Shanks was moved, seconded and supported by Maurice Gaudet, Helen Ballum and Doreen DeCoste respectively.

In the afternoon the leaders of the local C. W. L. visited the classrooms where they saw the pupils at their respective levels of work. Pupils of Grade X presented a debate which was well prepared, well delivered and most interesting. Subject: Resolved that more young folk should enter the teaching profession.

C. W. L. members had sponsored an essay competition, "Why I Should Like To Teach," in each grade VII to XI inclusive. During the visit they presented prizes to the winners in the contest: Grade VIII — Catherine McKenna; Grade IX — Emmelene DesRoches; Grades X — Patricia Poirier; Grade XI — Della Gaudet.

On Sunday, March 13th, students, boys and girls from Grade VII-XI were honoured by a short visit from His Excellency, the Most Rev. Bishop Turner S.F.M., expelled from Red China in 1954. His Excellency kept his hearers spellbound as he spoke of the Chinese language, customs, attitude toward European religion,

Red Ensign Status Defined

OTTAWA, (CP)—The red ensign will continue to be flown inside and outside Canada as the distinctive Canadian flag as long as a 1945 order-in-council authorizing this remains in force, Prime Minister St. Laurent said Monday.

The prime minister said he was aware that Immigration Minister Pickersgill was reported to have said in a speech that the red ensign has been the "official flag" of Canada since 1945 and would remain so until Parliament chose another.

The text of Mr. Pickersgill's speech in which he said, the minister summarized "the very words" of the 1945 order.

"I have found the words 'official flag' neither in the order-in-council nor in the minister's speech," Mr. St. Laurent said.

The order, dated Sept. 5, 1945, authorizes "use of the Canadian red ensign within and without Canada wherever it may be desirable to fly a distinctive Canadian flag," the prime minister said.

Mr. Edgar Gertoir has returned home from Summerside. While there he had his injured leg attended to at the Prince County Hospital.

Mrs. Melvin Chaisson, Harper Road, was visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Perry in St. Louis.

Passing Of John Lester Maynard

—The residents of Birch Hill and vicinity were shocked and saddened when they learned of the passing of John Lester Maynard in the Prince County Hospital on Monday, February 21st.

He was the second son of Daniel Maynard, born on March 9, 1887. He lived practically all his life in Birch Hill, Lot 14. In the early years of his life he was engaged in a fishing industry, and his ability in this respect was widely known.

On October 1, 1919 he married the former Minnie Sproule of Stellarton, N. S. After their marriage they lived for a few years in Millburn, later moving back to the homestead, where he spent his remaining years on the farm.

He was a staunch member of St. James Anglican Church, Port Hill and took a keen interest in all things pertaining to the betterment of his community.

He leaves to sadly mourn their loss his widow, two sons and two daughters, viz., Marjorie at home; (Audrey) Mrs. Leslie Waugh, Searlestown; Earl and Wendell of Birch Hill; two sisters and three brothers, (Florence) Mrs. Marshall Frye, Tignish, Mass.; Olive (Mrs. Hiram Nisbet), Cochrane, Mass.; Wilfred in Summerside; Harrison in Summerside; and Earl in Summerside to whom the heartfelt sympathy of the whole community is extended in this their time of sorrow.

He was an associate life member of Alexandra Lodge No. 5, A.F. and A.M. Port Hill, and held the office of treasurer for a great many years. He was a true and valued member and his passing at this comparatively early age, leaves a void which will be hard to fill.

The funeral service held from his late residence on Wednesday, Feb. 23, was largely attended, the services at the house and church were conducted by Rev. Melvin Findlay, assisted by Rev. A. J. MacDonaid.

After a short service and singing of hymn "Peace, Perfect Peace", the funeral cortege wended its way to St. James Church where the burial service was held. The hymns sung were, "O, For A Closer Walk With God", "Rock of Ages", "Breathe on Me, Breath of God". Interment was in the Church Cemetery. The solemn rites of the Masonic service were conducted, by Past Master Bro. Sydney Birch.

The pallbearers, members of Alexandra Lodge were, Reginald Birch, Joseph Veale, Leigh and Henry Maynard, Oswald Yeo and Maynard MacArthur.

R. C. A. F. Tests Guided Missiles

OTTAWA, (CP)—The RCAF has started tests of air-to-air guided missiles over a 30,000,000 weapons range at Cold Lake, Alta., it was learned today.

Tests are being conducted by scientists of the Defence Research Board and RCAF technical officers from the central experimental and proving establishment detachment at Cold Lake, 150 miles northwest of Edmonton.

An RCAF statement said earlier tests were carried out at Val Cartier, Que., where RCAF and DRB officers have been developing the missiles.

With the opening of the new range on 4,600 square miles of prairie, scrub and muskeg, the Val Cartier project was transferred to Cold Lake.

Canadian scientists have been working for some time on various types of guided missiles—air-to-air, ground-to-air and surface-to-surface. This winter the United States-developed Nike, a ground-to-air missile underwent cold-weather tests at Churchill, Man.

The cowbird, a type of blackbird, is so called because it lives close to herds of domestic cattle.

New Freedom from IRREGULARITY

Gentle, natural relief from common constipation — used by millions!

You've probably tried lots of laxatives. But do you know about Kellogg's All-Bran? It's the original natural laxative cereal pioneered by W. K. Kellogg nearly 60 years ago. All-Bran is a delicious dish that promotes comfortable elimination.

Relief from Constipation

The greatest advantage of All-Bran is that it corrects the cause of irregularity due to insufficient bulk. Chemical or drug-type laxatives, on the other hand, are intended only for overnight relief of a temporary stoppage. All-Bran, is made from the outer layers of the whole wheat kernel and supplies natural food bulk. Just eat daily a one ounce serving for breakfast and drink plenty of water. It will improve your "intestinal tone" so necessary to comfortable regularity.

Satisfaction Guaranteed or Double Your Money Back

All-Bran is a wholesome, good tasting cereal that has helped millions. We'll prove to you that Kellogg's All-Bran will give you gentle, effective relief from constipation within 10 days or give you double your money back. But be sure you get Kellogg's, the one and only All-Bran. Kellogg's, London, Ontario.
