

Sixteen of these American Cessna L-19 light planes have been bought by the Canadian Army as artillery-spotter planes. With the increasing emphasis on mobility in the army it is possible the soldiery will get more planes to supplement trucks in the movement of personnel and equipment from railroad to corps. The new planes are being serviced by the RCAF at Trenton, Ont., before being handed over to the army. (CP from National Defence).

Another fire will break out...

That's what is happening right now and 'round the clock somewhere in Canada.

In the average year, the insurance business handles more than $75 million in fire losses—quite aside from other claims. It is the size of the loss figure which regulates the rates for every different type of fire, automobile and casualty insurance in various parts of Canada. If losses increase out of proportion to earnings, then insurance rates go up. On the other hand, if losses fall off, rates decrease.

In effect, Canadians collectively determine their insurance costs through their care or carelessness.
