IT'S TRUE! I honestly know a way to beat the high cost of food. In a word, it's imagination. Yes, with enough imagination, it's actually easy to fix low-cost meals that your family will love. Such as my Corn and Sausage Casserole! You'll be honestly amazed that such a thrifty main-dish can taste so good. What makes this casserole so creamy-rich and delicious, is Carnation Evaporated Milk. For Carnation — among all brands — is "tops" for extra-cream flavor. Try Carnation in my —

CORN AND SAUSAGE CASSEROLE
(4 to 6 servings)

- 1/2 lb. pork sausages
- 1/4 cup chopped green pepper
- 2 cups drained canned kernel corn
- 2 tablespoons flour
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1 large can undiluted Carnation Milk
- 1/2 cup grated Canadian cheese
- 6 tomato slices (may be omitted)

Cook sausages with green pepper, over medium heat, until sausages are done through. Add to corn, in buttered baking dish. Blend 2 tbsps. of the meat drippings with flour and salt, over medium heat. Slowly stir in Carnation milk and cook until sauce thickens. Pour over corn and sausages. Top with grated cheese and seasoned tomato slices. Bake in moderate oven (350° F.) about 25 minutes.

DOCTORS WILL TELL YOU that there's no safer, more digestible milk for bottle-fed babies than Carnation. If there's a baby in your house ask your doctor about Carnation Milk for him.
