It is a great misfortune for the young and middle-aged to be gray. To overcome this and appear young, use Hall's Hair Renewer, a reliable panacea.

A WORD IN SEASON.—Those who do not intend visiting the Paris Exhibition this year, could do better than take in the colossal tea at Tracadie, on 10th July next.
Look out for ad. next week.

SMART LITTLE GIRL.—A little girl named Hodgins, living on the Shediac road, has recently completed a quilt containing 2,702 pieces. The Moncton Times says she was engaged at the work two years.

FREAK OF NATURE.—Matthew Tait, living at Meadow Brook, parish of Dorchester, N. B., has a cat which recently gave birth to two pups. The Times says the accuracy of this statement is fully vouched for.

FOR A long time I had no appetite, was restless at night, and very much debilitated.
After taking two bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla my strength and appetite returned, and my health was completely restored."—D. M. Fisher, Oswego, N. Y.

END OF A STRIKE.—The strike in Fawcett's Foundry, at Sackville, N. B., is at an end, the men having resumed work last Monday.
The frame of the addition to the moulding shop was raised on Thursday. The proposed extension will about double the capacity of the foundry.

FOR THE SUFFERERS.—The Methodist Church at Windsor, N. S., of which Rev.
William Brown is pastor, took up a collection on Sunday for the Johnston sufferers. About $100 was contributed. The Halifax Herald says this is the only case of the kind yet heard of in Nova Scotia.

LOBSTER CATCH.—A late despatch reports that the lobster catch on the Nova Scotia coast is unusually good this year. The season opened earlier, and lobsters are, as a rule, of a larger size than formerly. Some fisheries have already put up more than double the number of cases they did last year.

MORE STRAWBERRIES.—The Star says: Native strawberries have been in Keutville a week past. They sell for 12 cents per pound.
E. M. Margeson sent a small dish of ripe cultivated strawberries to Halifax on the 8th inst. The sample of the fruit which he sent last year was forwarded on the 27th of June.

DIVINE SERVICE.—The Sacrament of the Lord's Supper, will be dispensed in the Presbyterian Church, West River, on Saturday, the 30th inst. The preparatory Service began on Saturday the 29th, at eleven o'clock a. m. Rev. Mr. Raulsten has been appointed by presbytery to dispense the Sacrament.

DROWNED WHILE BATHING.—Two cousins named Fraser and Arthur Benedict, of Belmont, Hants Co., N. S., while going to school went in the Kennetcook river to bathe. Fraser got beyond his depth and was drowned. Arthur was so frightened that he kept the knowledge of the fatality a secret and proceeded to school, but was so troubled that he couldn't work and finally divulged the trouble to the teacher.

WHAT ADVERTISING DOES.—The New York Bulletin says: Whatever you can make, or have on hand to sell, let the community know of it and you will be less apt to rust in your warehouses or become moth-eaten on your shelves. How advertising brings in orders may be judged by the experience of a dealer in bunting. He advertised liberally, and in response he had 3,000 customers at retail for flags, while his wholesale customers took all he would let them have.

TAKES THE BELT.—The biggest snake story of the season comes from the boundless Texan prairies. A French citizen near Gainesville digging a well came upon the remains which when unearthed proved to be those of an immense rattlesnake. After laying bare nineteen feet of the monster of other times, the people found the entire skeleton of a man of tremendous stature in the stomach of the skeleton of the snake. The remains of the man and the serpent, so far as the serpent has been exhumed, are as perfect as when first denuded of flesh, and were doubtless covered by lime and gravel soon after death.

THE SUMMER TIME TABLE.—For the convenience of the public we condense the hours

Obituary.

MR. POOLE, whose decease is announced in another column, came to Roseneath over forty years ago, and erected the mills now owned by his son-in-law, Mr. Dugald Munn; and for many years carried on the milling business with satisfactory success.

His wife and family, consisting of seven sons and five daughters, mourn the loss of an affectionate husband and kind father, and his hospitality will long be remembered by his friends and neighbors. In former years, when the country was thinly settled, many persons had to travel long distances to the grist mill, and in many cases a whole day was passed in the journey going and returning. In such cases Mr. Poole was invariably a kind host to those frequenting his mill; and many a poor man returned from the mill blessing the kind heart of the miller at Poole's, who, in many respects, was a true descendant of the "Miller of the Dee." On Thursday, the 13th inst., his remains were conveyed to the cemetery at Georgetown, by one of the largest funeral processions seen in King's County for years. To his sorrowing family we extend the condolence of THE EX-AMINER.

The Rifle.

FURTHER PARTICULARS OF THE INTER-PRO-VINCIAL MATCH—THE SCORES.

As already intimated in THE EXAMINER the fourth inter-provincial rifle match was held at Drury Range, St. John, on Thursday, and resulted in the Nova Scotia team coming off victorious. The three previous competitions took place at Moncton, Charlottetown and Halifax respectively, the winners being in 1886, Nova Brunswick, with 701 points; in 1887, Nova Scotia, with 654 points, and in 1888 New Brunswick, with 661 points. The weather throughout the day was very unfavorable for good shooting. The match was shot at 200, 500 and 600 yards; the position at the first range kneeling and at the others prone. Two sighting shots were allowed each marksman at the several ranges. At the 200 yards range the New Brunswick men were considerably left, the other teams making 230 points each, while the New Brunswickers secured only 223. The Nova Scotia men got in their work at the 500 yards range, rolling up 235 points.
The New Brunswick men managed to defect the Islanders, making 206 to 203 by the latter. When the riflemen retired to the last range Nova Scotia had a great lead, being 465. The Islanders were 433, or four points more than the New Brunswick team. It was generally conceded that the Nova Scotians would win, and so they did.
At the 600 yards range they increased their lead still more, making 193 to 164 by New Brunswick and 155 by P. E. Island. The scores will be found below:—

The Island team returned home last evening. They speak highly of the manner in which they were entertained during their stay in St. John. The dinner at the Dufferin was an exceedingly pleasant affair.
Major Parks presided, and on his right was seated Lt. Col. Dogberry, commandant of the Island team; and on his left Lt. Col.
Blaine, Lt. Col. Armstrong, Vice-President of the N. B. P. R. A., was in the vice chair, supported by Major Weston, captain of the Nova Scotia team, on the right, and Capt. J. A.
Longworth on the left. The usual standard and other toasts were duly honored.
Speeches by Lieut. Col. Dogberry, Captain Crockett and Captain Longworth on behalf of the Island contingent, and Sapper Anderson sung "The Whistling Thief" and "The Red, White and Blue."

After the Flood.

ADDITIONAL NEWS FROM JOHNSTOWN, PA.

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., June 13.—The general opinion among well posted people here is that the loss of life is between 3,000 and 4,000. It was generally given out that Johnstown and boroughs adjoining had a population of 35,000, but conservative people put the population at between 25, 000 and 28,000. Reports are conflicting, putting the number of bodies recovered anywhere from 1100 to 1800. There is no telling how many bodies are recovered.
To-day is the second day since the flood that no rain has fallen. Under the influence of the sun the sandy soil is rapidly drying and things in general are brightening wonderfully. A number of stores have started up again and large quantities of the flooded goods sold chiefly as relics.

Another Account.

The total number of bodies recovered today is 19, making a grand total of 1,999.
The mass at the stone bridge was fired this afternoon and is burning furiously. With it disappears all hope of recovering the bodies certainly there entombed.
WASHINGTON, D. C., June 13.—A young man entered a Washington hat store the other day, and asked to have a mourning band put around his hat. In reply to a question as to the nearness of the relatives for whom he mourned, he drew from his pocket a photograph of a group of 14 young ladies and gentlemen, of which he was a member, and said: "I am the only one left of our merry little club; all the others were at Johnstown."

At Roseneath, Lot 52, on Tuesday, the 11th inst., after a lingering illness borne with christian resignation, Edward Poole Sr., in the 80th year of his age.

The Cronin Murder.

WOODRUFF'S STATEMENT—HOW SULLIVAN TOOK HIS ARREST—THE VERDICT A SUR-PRISE.

On the closing day of the recent enquiry in Chicago, Chief of Police Hubbard gave the jury the only authentic statement the prisoner Woodruff has yet made. This is the Chief's story: "Woodruff said that on the day before the murder two men came to him at Dean's barn and paid him $25 to have a wagon ready at 9 o'clock that night.
According to the agreement he had the wagon ready at 11.30 or 12 o'clock. The two men rapped on the door of the barn, and he let them in. They were King and Fairburn. He hitched the horse, and the three drove to the Carlson cottage. Woodruff described the cottage exactly. When the three got within 100 feet of the house the two men ordered Woodruff to stop. He did so, and the two men went up to the house. They entered, and in about five minutes came out. They carried a trunk, and it seemed very heavy. Another man followed. They beckoned to Woodruff, and he drove up in front of the house. They put the trunk in the wagon. 'Who was the third man?' I asked. 'P. O. Sullivan,' said Woodruff. 'I know it was P.
O. Sullivan, because some remark was dropped by the other two men that led me to believe that it was O. Sullivan. I don't know what the remark was. 'What did you do then?' I asked. 'The two men got into the wagon with me, and we drove south, on Ashland Avenue, to Fullerton Avenue. We turned east on Fullerton Avenue, and went to Lincoln Park. We drove into the park and stopped in a clump of bushes. The men took the trunk out of the wagon and set it on the grass. They then considered whether they would throw it into the lake.
They decided not to, and ordered me into the wagon. I then drove north and away out to Lake View on Evanson Avenue.
We met an officer and he scared us. We went for him but we expected. When we had gone a couple of miles King and Fair-burn got out and took the trunk out. They opened the catch basin at the corner of the street and attempted to force the trunk in.
It wouldn't go in, and they broke the trunk open, took the body out and dropped it into the basin. They then put the trunk back and we drove south about 500 yards. King and Fairburn got out and threw the trunk into the bushes, at the side of the road.
From there we drove back to the city.
King and Fairburn left me at Lincoln Park and I drove back to the barn."

Fifteen minutes after the verdict was rendered, Alexander Sullivan was a prisoner.
He was sleeping soundly when the officers called. It took three vigorous raps on the door to waken him. Then he leaped out of bed in a flowing nightshirt, and opened the door. "What do you want, sir?" exclaimed Sullivan. The mittimus was opened and handed to the Irish leader.
He hummed sarcastically, and then said, "I'll be ready in moment." The prisoner manifested no surprise. He was not nervous, and seemed to enjoy the situation much more keenly than the big officer who towered above him. It took Mr. Sullivan less than five minutes to dress. Then he bade his clerk good bye and followed the three officers into the carriage. It was but a short drive to the jail. The vehicle rolled along Dearborn avenue at a good speed and at eleven o'clock the prisoner passed into Jailer Foltz's office. He was registered, weighed and searched. Then he was let into cell 25, in Murderer's row, where he quickly undressed himself and lay down for the night. He refused to be interviewed. During all the ordeal Mr. Sullivan never flinched. His face was intensely pale, but he maintained his composure admirably. During the ride from his house to the jail he said nothing to the officers.

The verdict of the jury was a great surprise to the thousands of persons who had sat up all night to hear it read. Most people expected that the names of at least 15 suspects would be mentioned, while others had made out a list of at least 21 prisoners. The "and others" clause in the verdict, however, is supposed to cover Senior Guardian Beggs and the rest of the Clan-na-Gael who were so active in their hostility to Dr. Cronin.

Personal.

Lieut. Col. Worsley, D. A. G., of Nova Scotia, is attending a special course at the Royal School of Infantry at Fredericton.
Says the Truro Sun: Mrs. A. A. Bartlett and young daughter, of Charlottetown, are visiting for a few days with Mr. and Mrs.
John Smith, west Prince Street.
The Moncton Times of Friday says: Mr. M.
VanBuskirk leaves this morning for P. E.
Island, to purchase lambs and cattle for the Moncton market.
After Lord Dufferin had been presented with the freedom of the city of London a few days ago, the Lord Mayor gave a grand banquet in his honor at the Mansion house.
Amongst his guests were the High Commissioner for Canada. In the course of his reply to a toast to his health Lord Dufferin made the following graceful reference to his sojourn in this country: "During the period of my tenure of office in Canada—a country I shall never cease to regard with gratitude and affection—the affairs of the Dominion were conducted, as you are aware, through the instrumentality of responsible Ministers; and if my administration was successful it is due to the patriotism, the wisdom and the statesmanship of those eminent men—one of whom, Sir Charles Tupper, I am happy to see is here to-night—(cheers)—to whom the Parliament of Canada has confided the interests of the country." Later on the toast to the "House of Parliament" was proposed by Sir Charles Tupper, whose treatment on public occasions of this sort warrants the belief that Canadian importance is readily recognized in England in the person of its official representative.

A box of Ayer's Pills has saved many a fit of sickness. When a remedy does not happen to be within reach, people are liable to neglect slight ailments, and, of course, if serious illness follows they have to suffer the consequences. "A stitch in time saves nine."
