

Electric Company Builds 65 Miles Of New Lines

The Maritime Electric Company plans to establish power lines on about 65 miles of island roads and highways during this season and bring electricity to 400 new homes. Already six miles of line have been laid in the Covehead area, an eleven mile line is being erected from Souris to South Lake and a 12 mile line on the Peters Road and another eleven mile line from Cornwall are being constructed.

The laying of the foundation for the new turbine at the Maritime Electric Plant is expected to be completed today. The new turbine will increase the output to 20,000 h.p.

Other lines to be laid this year include: Ten miles from Clyde River to Long Creek, Canoe Cove and New Dominion, a mile and a half on the Bannockburn Road, two miles in the Oyster Bed Bridge area, two miles in the Gambles' Corner area, six miles from Fredericton to Emerald, three miles from Rollo Bay to Rollo River and one mile in the North DeSable area.

Redecoration Of Library Completed

The Charlottetown Public Library opened its doors on Thursday, after being closed one week for redecoration.

While the library was closed the staff received many calls asking for information as to when it would re-open. Miss Jean Gill, chief librarian, compares this eagerness and enthusiasm to the days, not too long ago, when the library could remain closed for a month without any enquiries.

She states that not only has the circulation increased greatly, but also that on the whole, the type of book being read nowadays is superior to those formerly in demand.

Book reviews in various forms are apparently read quite avidly, as requests pour into the library long before the new books arrive.

Painters have not only redecorated the library proper, but have also painted up the stairs to the Art Gallery, and down the stairs to the basement. For the first time in many years the basement itself has been treated to a coat of paint. Previously a drab, dark brown, the basement is now shining with two shades of green, and bookcases and shelves have been scrubbed until they gleam.

The same shades of green have been carried on the walls upstairs to the library, and also up to the Gallery. Stairs have received a coat of rich dark maroon. In the library itself, the walls now glow with a soft apple green which reflects in the sparkling white ceiling.

A large collection of magazines is one of the feature services of the library, but one which few readers are as yet accustomed to using. Magazines cover many widely varied subjects, and include such well known periodicals as Dalhousie Review, National Geographic, Holiday, Canadian Historical Review, Atlantic, and School Arts.

MONTREAL, Aug. 1—(CP)—Results of a strike vote among 90,000 rail workers will "definitely" be announced at 10 A.M. tomorrow, says Frank H. Hall, general chairman of the Workers' Union, said tonight.

One report on Parliament Hill is that a reshuffled Cabinet will enter that session. The death of Labor Minister Mitchell has encouraged that belief.

The special Korean force would be recruited from civilians and from the ranks of the reserve army and probably would include some regulars. The pace of recruiting might well be the deciding factor in its size but the aim is believed to be to send a group of infantry and supporting arms running beyond 1,000 and possibly to 4,000 if enthusiasm warrants.

Its components would probably be special units and not linked with existing regiments. The army, in apparent anticipation, says its recruiting officers have been taking note of men who have said they want to serve in Korea but not in the regular army.

The length of the Korean war and the international situation may determine whether the special force would be kept in being as a formation Canada could use to back her U.N. commitments at any time. Such a step is a possibility.

Numerous details remain to be worked out, among them the question of whether the force would fight within a Commonwealth or as part of an American force.

The Cabinet, in its hours of deliberation, has had the benefit of a personal report by External Affairs Minister Pearson who quietly slipped away to Washington by air a few days ago to get background information for the series of meetings here.

With Norman Robertson, secretary of the Cabinet and former High Commissioner in London, he is believed to have gone down to discuss the sort of problems that would arise from dispatch of a Canadian force.

M.C.A. Flies Blood To Halifax

Through the kind co-operation of Captain Carl Burke, Maritime Central Airways flew all the blood collected at the Summerside Blood Donor Clinic on Tuesday evening to Halifax on Wednesday afternoon. During the last few visits of the Mobile Team from Halifax to this Province the R.C.A.F. at Summerside has generously flown the first two or three days' collections of blood to Halifax but were unable to do so this time. As only a certain amount of blood can be transported back to Halifax in the refrigerator car which is the third vehicle used by the Mobile Blood Donor Team it is imperative that the first two days' supply be sent to Halifax as quickly as possible.

This latest favour granted the Red Cross is just one more instance of the splendid co-operation received from Maritime Central Airways who fly blood to and from Halifax and Summerside almost daily at no cost to the Red Cross. Mr. Llewellyn Rogers who is the M.C.A. agent at Summerside and also operates the Airport Taxi to and from Summerside also very kindly gives his services gratis and transports the blood and samples from the Prince County Hospital to the Airport. All of this is of the greatest assistance to the Red Cross Blood Transfusion Service.

The Island Motor Transport also co-operates 100 per cent with the transporting of blood and samples to the different hospitals in response to charges and during the month of July, Mr. Pope Beer, has generously looked after the transporting of blood and samples from the Charlottetown Airport in the absence of the driver of the local Blood transfusion vehicle.

Toughest Imponderables In the Korean Struggle

(Special to The Guardian, by Ross Munro)

TOKYO.—(By Airmail)—Before I left for the Korean front, a senior Commonwealth diplomat asked me two questions.

He said: "When you get over there, I'd like you to find out what is the score on these points: What happens when the counter-offensive drives the North Koreans back to the 38th parallel? What happens if the Chinese Communists come in to assist the North Koreans?"

These are two of the toughest imponderables in this Korean war. And they are greatly concerning authorities here.

On the first point, an offensive will eventually be mounted to drive the North Koreans out of the southern area of the country. But what happens when the U. N. forces reach the border-line between North and South Korea on the 38th parallel?

If they push into North Korea, this could be a risky direct conflict with the Soviet Union. If they do not shove on, it could mean unlimited garrison duty along the border that would be completely unreal.

Still Long Way Off

Nobody here knows what will happen. Of course, the offensive is still a long way off—the one that will push the North Koreans out of the south. But no one doubts it will come. There will be no capitulation in the face of this aggression, despite all the political complications stemming from the facts that are now apparent—namely, that the South Korean government because of corruption did not, in its own right, warrant the support it has been given.

But the American action, and that of the U. N. was taken against Red aggression—open, blatant aggression. There will be no retreat from this position until the situation has been adequately countered.

But still the question in the minds of diplomats in Tokyo is: what happens at the 38th parallel? On the other point about the Chinese Reds, it is felt by some experts here that if the North Koreans begin to take a licking when the offensive gets going, the Chinese Communist forces will be committed to the campaign by the Russians who call the real shots.

Big Blowup Threatened

If this happens, the big blowup may come that will mean World War Three. It would hasten the active participation of Soviet Union troops and then the eruption would occur.

Until such countries as Britain, Australia, New Zealand and Turkey decided to send ground troops to assist the American in Korea, there was some anxiety here that if no such aid was forthcoming the Americans might have felt compelled to accept the Chinese Nationalists offer for troops now in Formosa.

"This probably would have meant immediate movements of the Chinese Communists to the front and a localized Korean campaign flaring into an all-Asiatic conflict or worse.

The situation creates a dilemma that has western people here extremely worried.

"Both these questions are $64 ones," said the Commonwealth diplomat. "If you get the answer in Korea you'll know more about prospects of World War Three than we do now."

Heavy Demand For New Farm Clearance Units

The Department of Industry and Natural Resources has undertaken an extensive farm improvement service scheme of clearing, draining, levelling land, improving lands, digging and filling cellars and other work necessary throughout the Province.

Two units at work in the central section of the island and one of these is expected to work westwards the first of the week. It was announced yesterday by Hon. Eugene Cullen, Minister of Industry and Natural Resources yesterday. The other unit will work in the Eastern section when work has been completed in the central area.

Each unit is self contained and is fully capable of doing the work outlined. A unit consists of a D. 6 Caterpillar tractor equipped with an hydraulic controlled bulldozer and a Hyster wheel loader. Each unit also has a Horsnell ditcher.

Considerable work has already been done by these units and all of it is proving satisfactory, stated the Minister. The machines have been busy in Cornwall, Wintour, Union Road, Bedford, Mount Herbert and Albert Plains.

There has been a heavy demand for the use of the units and the department has reserved the right to complete the work in one section before moving to another area in the Province.

Working rates for the units has been set at $300 an hour for working time. Considerable time is spent each day in moving and conditioning the machine, for which the farmer is not charged.

One unit is operated by Mr. J. M. Johnson of Peter's Road and the other by Mr. Peter Doyle of Mermald.

Extensive Street Program Under Way

Sections which have been paved for parking areas in the city now include both sides of Queen Street from Kent to Euston, both sides of Great George from Grafton to Euston, the north side of Kent from Queen to Pownall and the north side of Grafton from Queen to Pownall. Asphalt surfaces are also being laid on parking areas on the north side of Grafton between Queen and Pownall, and the east side of Great George between Sydney and Richmond, and in front of the Y.M.C.A. building.

Curbs at the Pownall and Spring Park intersections of Euston Street have been cut back to facilitate motor traffic, and in addition considerable street work has been done on Rochford Pownall and Grafton Streets. Clay roads in the city have been scraped and graded, and over 60 tons of calcium chloride have been spread to eliminate dust.

New sidewalks have been laid this year on sections of Crescent Drive, Greenfield Avenue, and Ambrose Street, and walks are scheduled to be laid on Laphorne
