Warren Spahn, ace lefthander of the Milwaukee Braves, is having his troubles getting win number 9.

Spahn has dropped three in a row making his record read 8-4 at the present time. He has been pounded hard, with Bob Scheffing's Chicago Cubs taking a special liking to Mr. Spahn's offerings.

The last two times that Warren has faced the Cubs they really have been in a home run mood. The Chicago boys have belted no less than nine four baggers off the veteran lefthander.

The Chicago lads collected 14 runs in those two games and every one was charged against Spahn. Haney elected to stay with the classy lefty and his decision in both these cases looked not too brilliant.

Spahn is a great pitcher but as we said after the Cubs pounded him the last time, every fellow is entitled to some bad days. Warren is having those days right now and it hardly seems necessary to have him around so long when he is exhibiting so little.

Perhaps Haney is trying to let Spahn get a win even though he has no license to be leaving him in there. It could be a deliberate attempt to break Warren's losing streak. After all Haney should know what he's doing.

However, we're still not convinced that he does.

Some high school graduates are getting some pretty fair bonus cheques these days for signing professional baseball contracts. It's fabulous the amounts that some clubs are offering to teenagers.

One estimate is that $3,000,000 will be handed out in bonus payments before the 1958 baseball campaign is over.

Until this year, major league clubs had to keep bonus players for at least two years or turn them loose. So now they can send them directly to the minors.

Baltimore Orioles finally nabbed Dave Nicholson for a reported $100,000. Indeed some say Dave actually got $125,000.

Only recently they dished out somewhere between $55,000 and $65,000 for an 18-year-old right-hander, named John Papa from Stratford, Conn. Right now Baltimore has 11 bonus boys in tow.

A very short time ago Milwaukee Braves forked over $100,000 for Denny Menke, a shortstop from Bancroft, Iowa.

A pitcher now with the Boston Red Sox, Frank Baumann, is supposed to have been paid $125,000 when he inked a Boston contract.

Anyway you look at these bonus contracts, you're bound to be awed by the amounts paid to mere youngsters. We are not kicking one little bit about the outlays. We are merely amazed at the size of the figures.

Let the young fellows get all they can get.

Bill Norman, new manager of the Detroit Tigers, has certainly got a lot of rave notices since taking over from Jack Tighe. Norman's outstanding success with the Detroit club, especially when playing against the New York Yankees has the baseball scribes really sounding off.

What kind of a fellow is Norman? Well, he's the talkative type, one who likes to let everyone know there's a ball game going on. He's surely letting the Yankees know they are in ball games.

The questions around his old stamping grounds are not whether he will make good as the new manager of the Detroit Tigers, but whether (1) he will be still long enough for anyone to find out and (2) whether the American League can show him anything he has not already seen.

Norman was an outfielder with the Milwaukee Brewers from 1942 to 1945. Some claim he owes his present position to a decision he made while with the Brewers. In 1944, a deal which would have sent Norman to Boston Braves fell through. Bill was dissatisfied and was talking of retiring from baseball. His wife talked him out of it and shortly afterward a managerial career started.

While he was with Milwaukee, Bill was noted for his talking and for his real devotion to baseball. His first manager's task came at Toronto where he insisted that his players show the same spirit towards baseball that he himself did. A near riot started when he tried to fine a player for taking an off day to visit his parents.

Norman was quite the wanderer and went from one minor league club to another. In his travels he had some weird baseball experience. But all the time he wasn't one to make life miserable for the umpires. In 16 years of play, the umpires had to chase Old Will only twice.

Norman has a pride in the fact that a number of minor league buddies went up to the big time and he claimed 2 hats in their rise. Three successive years he roomed with Eddie Stanky, who first went to the Chicago Cubs. Others were Tony York who also became a Cub and Hal Peck who was tapped by Brooklyn.

Bill delights in telling about the oddest play he has ever seen. It was a line drive by Ab Wright, later a Boston Brave, which bounced off the centerfielder's head at Independence, Kansas, and was caught by rightfielder Ival Goodman. The centerfielder got an assist—and a headache—on the play.

Norman also tells about playing on a team where the second baseman did not complete a double play in 22 games. That's how he became an outfielder.

Former heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano is not numbered among those who criticize his successor, world heavyweight boss, Floyd Patterson. Neither has Rocky any beefs about the way Cus D'Amato is handling his champion. D'Amato, in fighting his war with the International Boxing Club, has kept his fighter inactive since last August.

"He must be a good manager," Marciano said. "He made Patterson a champion at 21. It might be a bit different if he were a real challenger around. There isn't, so I can't criticize the man. He has Patterson's interests at heart and knows what he's doing."

Well, Marciano's opinion on the above subject should be worth a lot more than the opinions of some who are continually sounding off.

Activity At Memorial Field

Players interested in the formation of a junior and senior baseball league are asked to be at Memorial Field this evening at 6 o'clock. It is important that all players turn out as tonight's attendance may well determine whether a league operates or not.

This afternoon at 3:45 all young ladies interested in playing softball are asked to be at Memorial Field so that a league may be formed. Any organization that is interested in entering a team should contact "Spay" Ready.

Belle Texas, the three-year-old filly who won the opening dash in 2:16, was making her first public appearance; Murphy's Abbe, 2:15.3 mile was a new mark for Charlie O'Brien's speedster.

About 1,000 persons enjoyed the night's program under good weather conditions. Rain held off just long enough to get the entire racing card run off. Workers at the pari-mutuels had by far their busiest night of the season.

Another great card is slated for this evening.

2.10 Mile Marks Racing Program

Ann's Dream and Sir Joseph divided top honors in Saturday night's feature Free-For-All at Charlottetown Driving Park.

The Dream nosed out War Cry Ranger in a thrilling first dash and Sir Joseph provided a big surprise in the second trip, nipping Betty French at the wire.

Ann's Dream paced the mile in 2:10, the fastest time this season at the local raceway.

G. Ann C., and Taurida Bay took turns at leading the parade in the "A" pace. The Calbeck-owned gelding was the first winner after a thrilling stretch battle with Cooly Boy.

Taurida Bay, fifth in the first trip, finished with a real burst of speed the next time out to get the nod over G. Ann C.

Murphy's Abbe and Dunlop B., did likewise in their two battles. Dunlop showed too much class in the fourth dash, by the Calbeck-Budlong offspring.

Single dashes found Belle Texas, Jolly Bud and Lucky Logan romping home the winners.

Cooly Boy's runner-up position in the fifth dash was not expected by the bettors. Cooly paid $24.10 to place and $11.70 to show. Other double figure payouts were: Belle Texas ($10.10 to win), Murphy's Abbe ($13.00 to win) and Sir Joseph $18.70 to win.

Yankees Shutout Tigers; Dodgers Win Twin Bill

By THE CANADIAN PRESS New York Yankees finally found the right combination to beat Detroit Tigers.

The American League leaders had lost seven straight to Detroit this year, including a 1-0 decision Saturday. But Sunday they got hitting to go with their good pitching and slaughtered the Tigers 15-0.

In other American League contests Sunday, Kansas City edged Boston 2-1; Cleveland shaded Washington in both games of a double bill, 4-3 and 1-0 and Chicago was shut out 2-0 by Baltimore.

In the National League, Sal Maglie made his first start for St. Louis Cardinals since being sold by New York a week ago, and defeated league-leading Milwaukee 2-1.

In other Sunday games, Chicago Cubs split with Cincinnati, losing 6-2 and winning 8-6; Los Angeles Dodgers swept two from Pittsburgh, 4-1 and 3-2, and San Francisco downed Philadelphia 5-4, in the first game of a doubleheader. The Giants led 1-0 in the sixth inning of the second game when it was halted because of the Philadelphia curfew.

It will be the first time since 1946 that the Philadelphia curfew, and meanwhile doesn't count in the standings. FIVE PITCHERS POUNDED Don Larsen held Detroit to two hits while the Yankees pounded five Tiger pitchers for 16 hits. Gil McDougald had two doubles and a pair of singles. Tony Kubek singled three times and Elston Howard had a two-run homer and a double. It was the Yankees' biggest run production of the season.

The Yankees had scored only one run in 37 innings and seven in six games off Tiger pitching before Sunday. But they put Detroit starter Billy Hoef to rout in the first inning before 46,300 Detroit fans. The Tiger defence fell apart with three errors in the first frame.

The win was Larsen's sixth in seven decisions. Hoef now is 6-6. Hector Lopez made a sensational one-handed catch of a Jackie Jensen drive to stop a Boston scoring threat, then singled in the winning tally for Kansas City.
