Big Hallowe'en Parties Tonight At Montague

There will be fun galore tonight for the children of Montague when the Home and School Association carry out their annual project of entertaining the children of the community on Hallowe'en. There will be three parties going at the same time, one for the smaller kiddies at MacKenzie Hall, another for the intermediates at the Legion Hall, and a third for the High School students at the Beaver Hall.

A mammoth parade is scheduled for 7 P.M. when the costumed children will leave the school and parade through Main Street to the MacKenzie Hall, headed by pipe and drum, and led by a clown.

There will be fun aplenty awaiting the youngsters on their arrival. The party is attempting to outdo one another to provide games, amusements, and above all treats generously supplied by the merchants and residents of the community. A real bang-up time is slated for the kiddies tonight, and perhaps for even the grown-ups.

The Home and School Association is to be commended for this splendid work each year, and parents who know that their children are at the parties will have no need to worry that they will become involved in any destructive work which has in the past marred for good clean fun as will be present tonight at the Home and School Hallowe'en parties.
