

Tobacco Growers Name Committee

Douglas Rolson of Ocean View is heading a committee of tobacco growers which is to investigate the possibility of organizing an association of tobacco growers on Prince Edward Island.

Mr. Rolson was named chairman of the committee at the first meeting of growers held Friday night at Montague.

Other committee members include Alvin M. Gallant, Rustino, secretary; Marcel Mowatt, Upper Montague; John Power, Greenfield and Max Bohun, Glenwilliam.

The tobacco committee will conduct the study through the summer and fall months and is expected to make a report on its findings no later than Nov. 15.

Montague Legion Picnic Is Enjoyable

MONTAGUE—The most successful activity of the Montague Branch, Royal Canadian Legion, in many years took place on Sunday when members of the branch, their wives and families gathered for a picnic, under sunny skies. The picnic was held at the shore of the Stafford Gordon farm which is now a part of the Bundenfield Park.

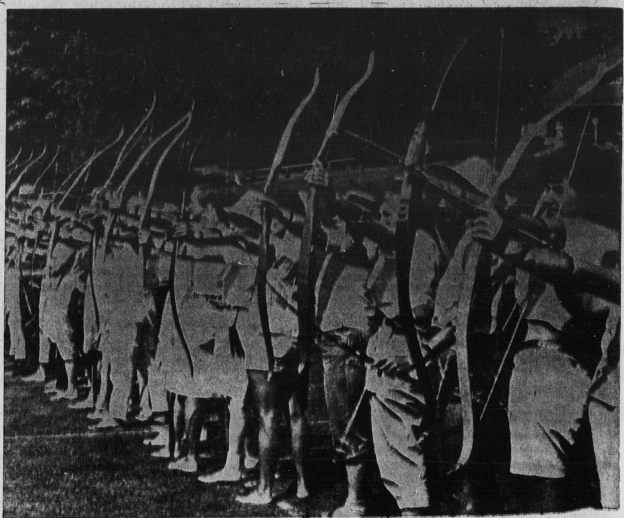

Tobacco Crop Looking Good

Agriculture Minister Andrew B. MacRae said yesterday the P.E.I. tobacco crop is "looking good" despite poor growing weather. He said there had been a few small losses but nothing serious.

The minister noted that serious crop damage in Ontario will not have much effect on local crop prices as the market prices are governed by a marketing board.

Aaron Disgusted With Imp's Call

BY JOE MOOSHI.
CHICAGO (AP)—Hank Aaron of Milwaukee Braves slammed his glove into his locker with disgust and said "I LAKE the ball and there was no two ways about it."

If anything could have been the turning point in the American League's 84 victory Monday over the National League in this year's second All-Star game, it would have to be the play involving Aaron and second base umpire Ken Burkhardt.

The American League had a 4-1 lead in the top of the seventh inning. With one out and one on, Billy Moran hit a looping ball into centre field.

Aaron came racing in and appeared to have caught the ball. With Brooks Robinson trapped between first and second, Aaron fired to first trying for what he thought was a routine - exiting double play. Burkhardt, however, ruled that Aaron trapped the ball and both runners were safe.

One out later Rocky Colavito of Detroit hit a three - run homer and that was the game for all practical purposes.

"If I had trapped the ball, I would have thrown to second and forced the other man," said Aaron, "but I caught it and was the most surprised man in the world when he signalled safe."

SAID LITTLE
Except for that play, the Nationals had little to say about the game. A few came over and congratulated Aaron on his "catch."

Some of the Nationals were wondering about the merits of the American League starting pitcher Dave Stenhouse of Washington.

"I'd like to hit against a guy like that all day long," said one player who asked not to be identified. Stenhouse got out of a bases-loaded jam in the first inning and yielded a run in the second and final innings he worked.

Fred Hutchison of Cincinnati, the National's manager, said he thought Aaron caught the ball and if it had been ruled an out "the outcome might have been different."

Asked who he started substituting as early as he did, Hutchison said "I wanted to get so many players as I could in. These guys are all good and it doesn't make too much difference who's in the game."

Look. Look. See the funny car.

Why don't you ever see a Volkswagen boiling? Simply because there's nothing to boil. The Volkswagen is cooled with air. And air can't boil (or freeze) so there's no need for a radiator. Not having a radiator really helps you keep cool when you run into a jam. On a hot day. Miles from anywhere.

But it's nice to know you haven't got one of other times too. You never have plumbing problems. Or water pump repairs. Or hoses to replace.

Apart from the troubles you don't have, there's the money you don't spend. And this applies to tires that quite often go better than 40,000 miles the wet. Gas that goes around 38 miles to the gallon.

And all that rarely needs topping up between changes. If you still think we're the ones with the funny car, cut this advertisement out, put it in the drawer where you keep your repair bills.
