"Four Freedoms" Stressed In Address To Graduates

Following are excerpts from the address delivered yesterday by Mr. K. A. Parker, Superintendent of City Schools, at the closing exercises of the Vocational School:

"The Vocational School from which you have graduated is one of the most important educational agencies in our province. From it you have received skills which, I trust, will serve you well as you go into your chosen vocation. And I also trust that you will see fit to make your native province your permanent home in the future. Far too many of our Island youth are looking across the strait to what on the surface, seems greener pastures and brighter lights. With a province so abundantly supplied with natural resources of land and sea, there are opportunities unlimited right here at home for those with brains and brawn."

"The greatest illusion of the present age in our Western world is that of a good and rewarding life which will arise out of a 30-hour working week. A pertinent question is whether man is trained and educated to use in a constructive and wholesome manner the free time left in the week for so-called free time."

"Once a society loses sight of the dignity of labor and the satisfaction of honest toil, the process of disintegration sets in—at least every civilization has followed that path to date. Let us always keep in mind that it is the farmer, the fisherman, the skilled tradesman and labor groups who form the foundation of our country. Society needs the contribution of the intellectuals and the professional groups, but their talents and creative energies must be distributed amongst the mass to form a dynamic, wholesome amalgam."

"At the same time it would be foolish to ignore the necessity for evidence of security in our chosen vocations. That is a must if one is to retain his dignity and sense of well-being. However, you will likely discover that the high wages do not in themselves provide basic happiness—rather it is likely to be found in the sense of freedom which one possesses."

FOUR FREEDOMS

"For you young citizens of our Island of tomorrow, I would suggest four freedoms which should be accepted as goals or ends for individual growth and development; namely, freedom from ignorance, freedom from selfishness, freedom from prejudice, and freedom from unbelief."

"Surely no argument is needed to support the statement that the nation must provide sufficient facilities to allow its citizens freedom from ignorance. Yet, in this Canada of ours, a colossal price has been paid for just that failure. If this great country is to make its greatest contribution to the world, of which we form such an integral part, the citizens of tomorrow must have far greater equalization of educational opportunities than we have had heretofore."

"A boy living in a Province where the per capita expenditure for his education is $22 as compared to $70 in another province, is not being given the same freedom from ignorance. Knowledge of himself, his heredity, his immediate environment, knowledge of his nation and of his world, are necessary to all."

"Fortunately for our future, there is much encouragement in knowing that our various educational classes for the full school year and received instruction in sewing and textiles, foods and cookery, nutrition, home nursing, handicrafts, singing, and family living."

"The purpose of this course is to help young women perform their present duties in the home more efficiently to provide a background for those who anticipate earning a living in the fields related to Home Economics, and to prepare them as future homemakers."

ACADEMIC TRAINING

"In addition to courses already referred to, all male students in the day trades classes are required to take a general academic course. In the course of practical knowledge and Mathematics to dovetail into the work taught in the various trade courses."

"During the school year 1955-56 only one change took place in the school staff. Mrs. Dave MacLean who had been Registrar for the past five years resigned November 1955. During the time that she held this position, Mrs. MacLean rendered outstanding service. In November, 1955, Mr. P. O. Cameron was appointed Registrar and Mrs. Gloria Kirk was employed as clerk-stenographer and is doing very satisfactory work."

"Now a word to the highlights of the year's activities: "Handmade and placed on the front steps by the welding class. "Twenty tables made by the carpentry class and placed in the Academic classroom."

"A sink installed in the Academic classroom by the plumbing class. "The unveiling of the plaque in memory of the late Hon. J. Walter Jones."

"The visit of the members of the Legislature to the school on the evening of March 20. "The donation of $100, by the Women's Institutes of the Marshfield area as prizes in the Home Economics class."

"The organization of a fine hockey team and its participation in regular league. "The organization and conducting of the Vocational School Ice Sports at the Sports Arena on March 2.

"The gift from the students body of $75, to be used for the good of the school. "Official closings of the evening classes on April 23 and 24. "Drafting of the student graduates: Our relations with you have been very pleasant and we have always received your full co-operation."

"It is hoped that you have had a pleasant and profitable year with us, and that you take your places as leaders in your respective trades, you will remember us favourably and support our efforts in training more efficient and better qualified tradesmen. May you bear in mind, that in addition to the application of your intellect and skill of your hands to your trade, it is necessary that you be honest and fair with your employer, associates, and the general public as well as with yourself. Success in your occupation is our sincere wish."

"In closing, may I extend thanks to all who have cooperated in the work of the past year, and particularly to those who are extended as members of the school staff who have treated the Principal with the utmost kindness, courtesy and consideration. In the short time that I have been associated with this school I have found out that each of the instructors is an expert in his own field and that the office staff always gives competent and faithful service."

"This year we again have several Home Economics students in our graduating list. These girls at-tion agencies are quite alert to his need. Yet, much of their concerted efforts and plans will prove futile unless there is an enlightened public opinion which will give sanction and support to their proposals.

"Again, freedom from selfishness must also be a goal for our youth."

"On every hand, whether in the home, in the community, or in the world beyond, one can see the price which is paid because of the existence of selfish people. There are too many men and women and children alike who will insist on having their own way, regardless of its effect on others. One could look for a long time before finding a greater cause for so much human unhappiness, so care will have to be taken that this important freedom from selfishness is accepted by youth."

UNBELIEF

"Lastly freedom from ignorance, from selfishness, from prejudice, will be of little avail unless they are grounded and rooted in the most significant freedom of all—freedom from unbelief. The young person who has no belief in himself or his God, and in his responsibility to his fellow men, is the source out of which all that is evil will develop all too rapidly. The cynics, scoffing at those things relating to the spiritual and reducing human actions to a mechanistic level, are only holding their contemporaries to the animal struggle for existence. No, young people must have a belief in your destiny. You must believe that you have a contribution that you and you alone can make. Upon you depends whether the forces of right will ever be triumphant over the forces of evil."

W.C.T.U. NOTES

THE ORDER OF THE SONS OF TEMPERANCE

Although it works with closed doors, the Order has never claimed to be a secret society. It retains enough of a lodge basis to ensure privacy and has a beautiful ritual, which emphasises its total abstinence principles and the spirit of fraternity.

It has three branches. The Subordinate Division, which initiates members into the Order, trains its members in temperance, and promotes such work in the community. Its order of business is all based on parliamentary usages, and it gives splendid training in the conduct of public business.

The Grand Division, is composed of those who have presided over their subordinate Division, and has charge of the work of the Order in their own State or Province.

The National Division, which will meet in Summerside in July is the legislative branch of the Order. Its annual session is not a convention in the usual sense of the word, but is composed of those who have held certain offices in their various State or Provincial Grand Divisions.

It includes both the U.S.A. and Canada, and unifies the work of the Order, which has three colors, red, white and blue, expressive of Love, Purity and Fidelity.

Its emblem is the Star of Temperance set in a triangle, representing Truth.

The Order was originally a great rescue society, and took in tens of thousands of drinking men, but of recent years its work has been educational and preventive rather than reformative, but the drinker is ever given a welcome to change his habits.

Its founders laid down two statements on which its work has been done.

"The evils of Intemperance have one cause—moderate drinking. They have one remedy—total abstinence."

This is the key note of all temperance work.

AYPA Council Met In N. Sydney

The Nova Scotia Diocesan Council of the A.Y.P.A. held its May meeting in North Sydney. About 25 delegates from various parts of the province were in attendance.

On Saturday afternoon the members of St. John's A.Y.P.A. served a very delicious supper to the group. The business sessions began on Saturday evening and concluded on Sunday and were very efficiently conducted by the President, Joseph Skerry, Halifax.

Among the highlights of these meetings was a report of the Diocesan Drama Festival held in Windsor, N.S. on May 12th. This report was one of the best and demonstrated fine organization and planning. Much credit is due Norman Hines, Windsor who so capably fulfilled his duties as convener. Plans for the annual week-

Southport Garageman Has Narrow Escape From Injury

Mr. Harold MacKie of Southport, an employee of the County Council, was injured when he was struck by a truck while working on a road near the Prince Edward Island Hospital where he is recovering from injuries he received when he was squeezed between the hoist and the frame of a truck on which he was working.

It is reported that Mr. MacKie was alone at the time, and was working on the truck when the box came down on him pinning him across the chest. Some of the employees returning from lunch discovered Mr. MacKie's predicament. Their first efforts to release him by lifting on the box proved unsuccessful and it became necessary to attach a set of chain falls to the box before the injured man was extricated.

Mr. MacKie was taken to hospital where immediate treatment was given to restore normal breathing. X-rays taken failed to reveal any broken bones. He will remain under observation for a few days.

Entertained After Concert

The children of Spring Park School, who recently took part in a highly successful school concert, along with their teachers were guests of Spring Park Community Club yesterday when ice cream and cake was provided for all in appreciation of their splendid co-operative production.
