

A Boy's Lunch.

A recent writer—and she writes as one whom any boy would love—tells how she saw a mother put up a lunch for her boy to take to school, and then she tells very prettily how daintily she would have put up that lunch, and I know she would do just as she said. Now, if I were going to put up a lunch for a boy 13 years old, I wouldn't take a little tin pail nor yet a neat little covered basket. I would just take the market basket, if the family wasn't going to use it that day, and I would cut up a loaf of bread, and trim off every bit of the crust to keep the boy from lying about it, and telling me that he ate it and didn't fire it over the fence, when he came home. I would cut that loaf of bread into slices and spread on butter until it began to fall off, then I would stack on the sugar as long as it would last. Then I would load in a couple of links of sausage and some slabs of ham; a dainty cluster of hard-boiled eggs—say half a dozen—all the cake there was in the house, and fill up the rest of the space with pie, and then stuff two of his pockets full of apples to eat during school hours, and fill the rest of his pockets with nuts, and give him five cents to buy "taffy." Then if that boy came home at 4 o'clock and said he didn't have enough lunch—and couldn't have a piece, I would give him the keys to the cupboard, pantry, cake chest and fruit closet, and yielding to dark despair, go out into the barn and hang myself. We were a boy ourselves, once.—Burdette.

I HAVE BEEN SICK—with pleurisy and pneumonia. It left me with a very hard, hacking cough. All the physicians and medicine did me no good. A friend advised me to try Adamson's Cough Balsam, one bottle of which did me more good than all the doctors and medicines I have tried; and I shall recommend it far and near. Mary A. Brockwell, Springfield, Mass. Trial bottles 10 cents.
