

THE DAILY EXAMINER

APRIL 11, 1893.

Withholding Information.

The Government are very persistent in refusing information to the Opposition in regard to the various departments of the public service. Information has been repeatedly demanded in respect to several items of expenditure. But from the Government has been acting, suspicion has been aroused that their conduct in managing the public affairs of the Province will not bear investigation. Two or three little returns have been brought down; and these serve to confirm the suspicion. For instance, Mr. Shaw, some time ago, asked the Leader of the Government to table a statement showing the amount collected by the Government as matriculation fees from candidates for entrance to the Prince of Wales College and Normal School. This is a tax that no Government of the Province has hitherto imposed. But the Peters administration saw fit to make an order in council as follows: "A matriculation fee of fifty cents will be charged each candidate to cover cost of examining papers. This must be paid before the candidate is admitted to the examination; not necessarily, however, at the time of application." In the report of the Chief Superintendent of Education, the following statement appears: "The matriculation examination into the Prince of Wales College and Normal School was held in July last. There were 342 candidates present." It will be readily perceived that $171 were thus collected. But as no account of the revenue so obtained can be found in the report of any department of the public service, Mr. Shaw demanded from the Leader of the Government a statement relating to the manner in which the amount thus collected was expended. In the statement placed upon the table, instead of $171, it appears that only $156 14 are accounted for. Where is the balance gone? The public accounts contain no trace of it. Bad as it may seem for the Government to bring this tax from the candidates without the consent of the Legislature, and unprecedented as it is in the history of this Province, still greater is the offence of the Government in not being able to account for the amount thus collected. In view of this fact, we can readily understand why it is that the Opposition are so anxious in the interest of the country to have their several questions answered, and also the studied persistence of the Government in refusing secret details of the management of public affairs.

Mr. Alexander McKinnon, Water Commissioner, has directed attention to the importance of an additional large pipe extending from the pumping station to the city. It goes without saying that ratepayers will not stand a great increase of taxation. But in view of the fact that our water works are now self-sustaining, and that there is a good prospect that the proposed extension will pay for itself, besides affording an additional guarantee for safety from fire, we think that it is favorably considered. The proposed extension will involve an additional outlay of about six hundred dollars a year, which it is estimated will be met in the course of a few years by additions to the water rates.

Referring to the letter of "Elector" published yesterday, we are requested to state: (1) That the Souris West School has not been raised to a first class rank and is only raised to a graded school last April; (2) That the alleged discrepancy of $1,869.86 between the total cost of Education for 1891 and 1892 was owing to the fact that an expenditure for repairs to Prince of Wales College, etc., was incurred by the Public Works Department in 1891, and not brought under the notice of the Superintendent until after the report of that year has been published. We feel sure that our correspondent would not willingly misrepresent the Superintendent of Education, and we cheerfully give publicity to the statement.

St. Peter's Church Meeting.

The adjourned Easter meeting of St. Peter's Church congregation was held in the schoolroom last evening. The Priest Incumbent occupied the chair. The retiring Church Warden, Mr. L. W. Watson, Mr. F. R. Foster and Mr. G. R. Bagnall presented their report, which was read and adopted. The estimates for the present year were presented and created some discussion, inasmuch as an organist's salary had to be provided for. After some debating it was resolved that a salary be paid to the organist hereafter, and the position was offered to Mr. Watson, and accepted by him. A very hearty vote of thanks was unanimously accorded to Mr. Watson for his services in the past, both as organist and as Church treasurer. After discussing other matters, the appointing of Church Wardens for the year to come was taken up, and resulted in the election of Mr. Robert Hogg, Mr. B. F. Messervy and Mr. Edward Byfield. Mr. Watson was, upon motion, elected Treasurer. Votes of thanks were given to the retiring Church Wardens, to Mr. Harrison Carvell for the efficient work done by him as envelope clerk, and to Mr. Wm. C. Harris for improvements made by him in the roof of the Memorial Chapel. On motion, the meeting was adjourned for four weeks, in order then to receive the report of a committee appointed to secure extra funds to cover the increase in the estimates.

A forest fire near Hollidaysburg, Pa., burned over 32 square miles and destroyed six farm houses, 35 head of cattle and much grain.

Whose Skirts Are Clear?

CHARGES AND COUNTER CHARGES MADE AT THE COUNCIL MEETING YESTERDAY.

The regular monthly meeting of the City Council was held yesterday afternoon. There were present: Mayor Haviland, and Councillors Crabbe, Hogan, McKay, Beer, Hughes, Hooper, Robertson and Taylor. After the reading of the minutes of previous meetings and the transaction of some other routine business, Councillor Taylor rose to a question of privilege and read the following document: I, Thomas Taylor, Councillor for Ward 3 of the City of Charlottetown, state in my place at the City Council that I am credibly informed and believe that Councillor S. W. Crabbe, who represents Ward 4 in this Council, has become disqualified from holding such office of Councillor on the ground that since his election as such Councillor in February, A. D. 1892, he has made such contracts with the Water Commissioners of the City of Charlottetown for the supplying to them as such Water Commissioners of materials for the water works, or in connection therewith, such materials as such Water Commissioners and received payment therefor from them, in direct violation of the statutes in that behalf, by reason whereof his seat as such councillor has become vacant.

He thought there had been queer goings on in the Council during the past year, and that it was time a stop was put to this kind of work. There were others besides Councillor Crabbe trading with the city, and they would be attended to later on. If it was legal for one or two members to make money out of the city all should be allowed to do it.

Councillor Hooper moved the following resolution: Resolved, That a copy of the charges just submitted to the Council by Councillor Taylor against Councillor Crabbe be at once served upon Councillor Crabbe, and that he be required to make answer to such charges before the Council on Wednesday next, at 7.30 o'clock, p. m.

Councillor McKay moved that this matter stand over till the other business was disposed of. Mayor Haviland, at this stage, presented the correspondence between himself and Mr. F. L. Hazard, on the subject, which was read by the clerk. Mr. Hazard (who was acting in behalf of himself and others) in his letters, informed the Mayor that Councillor Crabbe's seat at the Board had become vacant by reason of his having sold certain articles to the Board of Water Commissioners, and called upon His Worship to investigate the facts and declare the seat vacant. His Worship's reply was, in substance, that the matter was beyond his jurisdiction, and that the proper course for Mr. Hazard and the other citizens associated with him in the affair was to take the case into the courts. He had consulted with the Recorder in this matter, and that was his opinion.

His Worship then read Section 55 of the Waterworks Act to show that there was no provision therein for unseating a councillor who contracted with the Board of Water Commissioners. The section reads as follows: "No Water Commissioner, City Councillor or Mayor shall personally hold any contract in connection with said work or the building thereof, or supply materials therefor, or be directly or indirectly interested in the same or any of them."

This section merely says the contract shall be void, and does not provide for disqualifying of the person or persons making the contract. If Councillor Crabbe had contracted with the Commissioners and they refused to pay him, under the law he could not have recovered. His Worship also read from the city law to show the difference between the two, and to show that under it provision was made for the disqualifying of a councillor who was interested in a contract with the city. Here is the section quoted: "If any councillor shall have any interest by himself or partner in contract of employment with or in behalf of the City Council, such person shall immediately become disqualified and shall cease to hold the office of Councillor."

Some cross-talking then took place between the Mayor and Councillor Taylor concerning an opinion given by His Worship in 1878, unseating three members of the City Council who had sold articles to the City. Councillor Taylor said he thought a good deal depended upon how a person looked at the matter now under consideration. He thought that Councillor Crabbe had vacated his seat by contracting with the Commissioners, and he was going to unseat him if possible. Councillor Crabbe said he felt sure that Councillor Taylor was not actuated by any personal motives in taking this action; he had nothing but the best interests of the city at heart. But perhaps he was not aware that there were other members of the Board who had drawn money directly from the city. Councillors Hughes and Hooper, had while members of the Street Committee, engaged men to work for the city, and had drawn the money due them for work performed, the former to the extent of $42.80 and the latter to the tune of $63.25. Councillor Hughes had also sold medicine for the city horses, and had been paid for it by the city. If the Mayor ruled that he (Crabbe) had done wrong he would willingly pay the fine and go out. But all must be treated alike. He admitted that he had sold goods to the Commissioners, but claimed that his case did not come under the city law. He was not afraid to submit the whole facts of the case to the electors of Ward Four, and abide by their decision. He hoped that Councillor Taylor would make use of the information given, and embody the suggestions thrown out in his report.

Councillor Hooper thought that Councillor Crabbe should make his charges in the proper way. If he thought he had done anything wrong he would resign at once. He admitted that he had given credit to some of the workmen employed by the city on the streets and drawn their money on account of what they owed him. He did not think his being a councillor prevented him from doing this. The city workman who earned his money had a right to spend it where he pleased. He also charged Councillor Crabbe with the making use of his position as chairman of the Finance Committee to prevent the paying of an amount due a certain person whom he named until an old bill due him (Crabbe) by the same person was paid. He said further that when he was chairman of the Public Property Committee a certain painter was given work to do for the city which he (Hooper) never ordered. The money was paid $59 for the work which could be done for $30. How much money did Councillor Crabbe make out of the transaction? Councillor Crabbe denied the charges made by Councillor Hooper. The painter who did the work referred to by Councillor Hooper never bought $25 worth of goods from him in his life; and in the other case he had garnished the money due the man as he had a perfect right to do. The money was collected through the court. The vouchers in the cases in which Councillor Hooper was interested would show that he (Hooper) had drawn the money he said he had. Councillor Hughes did not think his drawing a man's pay, when the man gave him an order to draw it, would disqualify him. With reference to the bill for medicine furnished by the Apothecaries Hall Councillor Taylor said he had explained the medicine had been ordered by a veterinary surgeon who dealt at the store and who had performed an operation on one of the city horses. He said it was his intention to present the city with the medicine to avoid trouble, but the bill was sent out with the others, and the amount was paid and the bill receipted in his absence. Councillor Hogan did not think that any members of the Board were disqualified by reason of what they had done. He was surprised that Councillor Taylor did not include him in his charges. At a former meeting he had made charges against him and he now wished these charges pressed or taken back. Councillor Taylor said Mr. Egan had told him that the plank he said the city were Councillor Hogan's. Councillor Hogan said Mr. Egan told him that he never told Taylor any such thing. Councillor Taylor said Egan did tell him the plank sold the city were Hogan's, but subsequently denied that he were. Councillor Hogan said he would give Taylor a chance to prove what he said, and declared that he had not contracted with the city in any way. After some further discussion and the voting down of a motion to adjourn, Councillors Taylor, Robertson and Hughes left the Board, Councillor Taylor claiming that they were not being fairly dealt with and that the charges against Councillor Crabbe should be disposed of before any further business was transacted. The Clerk read a letter from the Water Commissioners, informing the Board that it would not be necessary to levy an assessment for waterworks purposes this year; also a letter from the cashier of the Merchants Bank of P. E. Island in reference to the passing of a resolution authorizing the same overdraft. Councillor Crabbe moved the following resolution, which was seconded by Councillor Hogan: Resolved, That the Finance Committee be authorized to make the necessary arrangements with the Merchants Bank of P. E. I. or other bank for such overdraft as is now in existence, and may hereafter be required for the redemption of debentures falling due this year, and also for all other expenses of the city.

Councillor Hooper thought that before transacting any further business it would be well to ascertain for certain what Councillors were legally entitled to sit at the Board, and asked leave to retire. Mayor Haviland said that if Councillor Hooper choose to withdraw he could do so; but he thought he might be patriot enough to stay and pass the resolution. For his own part he would decline to draw any more checks unless it were passed. Councillor Hooper said that as the drawing of checks without the passing of the resolution would involve the Mayor personally, he would resign and pass the resolution. The resolution was then put and carried. Councillor Hooper then retired, and the Council was left with a quorum.

A few minutes later, however, Councillors Hooper, Taylor and Hughes returned, and a motion of adjournment was put and carried. Mr. Laurier has decided to invite all the proprietors and editors of all the Liberal papers in the country to attend the great Liberal convention.

The resolution was then put and carried. Councillor Hooper then retired, and the Council was left with a quorum.
