NEW PUBLICATION.—We have received a copy of the Oakland Printer, a monthly journal just started at Oakland, Cal., in the interests of the Typographical Union at that place. It contains 16 pages, neatly stitched, and is well filled with interesting trade matter. It has THE EXAMINER'S best wishes.

SHOT HIMSELF.—George Anderson, widow, with two little children, blew his brains out in his bedroom at Cow Bay, C. B., one day last week. He procured a gunshot and discharged it through the back of his neck, passing through his skull and mangling his head in a frightful manner. The shot was heard by the inmates of the house, but they took no notice of it, supposing it was fired outside.

THE HORSE MARKET.—The well known horse dealer, W. S. McKie, of Charlottetown, left for home this morning. Mr. McKie says he never saw the horse market so dull in St. John, at least for many years. He has left some of his last lot unsold. He says good horses are very scarce on the island, and now that anyone selling horses in St. John has to pay $20 for a license it makes the business a poor one.—St. John Telegraph.

A MAGISTRATE FINES HIMSELF.—A most incident occurred at the Liverpool magistrates' court on Tuesday. In the course of the proceedings Mr. G. Behrend, presiding, some persons were summoned for allowing their chimneys to be on fire. Amongst those the magist's name appeared. He being the only magistrate present, he asked the clerk of the court if he could fine himself, to which that gentleman replied that he thought it would be double the usual penalty justice would be met. Mr. Behrend promptly fined himself 2s. and 2s. costs, and paid over the costs to the clerk. A minute later he advised the defendant to be more careful in future and get his chimney swept often.—Liverpool Gazette.

PHYSICIAN SOLD.—Councillor Geo. E. Hughes returned home from Toronto yesterday. He informs THE EXAMINER that he disposed of his stallion Physician to Mr. Hugh McDougall, of Fenelon Falls, Ont., for a handsome price. Mr. Hughes says he saw a number of thoroughbred stallions, but did not make a purchase, as he did not see one that he considered a suitable horse for this Province. Physician was exhibited at the Spring Stallion Show in Toronto and took fourth place in a class of seven. The horse was greatly admired by good judges, and if he had a record he would undoubtedly have carried off first prize, as individually he was conceded to be superior to any animal in the class.

A ROMANTIC MARRIAGE.—The days of romance have not departed, pessimists to the contrary notwithstanding. The following story comes from Perth County, Victoria County, and goes far to support the contention. Some time ago a young lady resident of that place had a young man in New York recommended to her as a fit and proper life partner by a friend who is also a resident of Victoria county. This friend also recommended the young lady to the young man. As a result of the recommendations, the young people began corresponding with each other, photographs were exchanged, and a proposal of marriage was sent and accepted. A few days ago the young gentlemen came on to Woodstock, where he was met by the young lady. Both persons must have been satisfied, for they were married and went on to New York, where they will in future reside. The young lady never met the young man prior to meeting him in Woodstock.—St. John Sun.

DEATH FROM STRONG DRINK.

Neil McNevin Drowned in West River. NEIL McNEVIN, of Canoe Cove, and Duncan McKinnon, of the same place, were in the city on Thursday last, and put their horse up at the stable of a man named Callan, who keeps a livery on the corner of Pownall and Sydney Streets. They left for home in the evening, both being under the influence of liquor. After reaching Farnham's Wharf, it is said they stopped their team in front of Farnham's and Stewart's store, and McKinnon went inside after some groceries, leaving McNevin outside in the sleigh. When McKinnon came out of the store, there was no sign of McNevin or the team, so he started to walk the remainder of the way home, about five miles. On his way he called in at McNevin's to see if he had arrived, only to find that he had not.

As McNevin did not turn up during the night or the next day, search was made for him, but no trace of him could be found. The search was continued on Saturday, with the result that his lifeless body was found in the open water at Long Creek. The horse was found drowned two or three miles from where McNevin's body was found.

Mr. Callan says the men came to his house about one o'clock on Thursday, and put up the team, which belonged to McNevin. About four o'clock in the afternoon the two men left his house, he thought to harness up the horse and go home. About half an hour later he saw them harnessing up, and upon his remarking that he thought they had gone before, and asking them where they had been, they said they had been up Richmond Street, he was not sure whether or not they mentioned any particular place on that street. They left at that time, as he thought "well able to take care of themselves." About half-past five they arrived at his place again, and he understood they stopped on the street in front of his yard gate. "They had no liquor at my place during the day," said he, "but they drank some beer." Mrs. Callan corroborated this statement.

Angus Darrach, who keeps a bar-room on Richmond Street, said the two men left his place for home on Thursday afternoon somewhere about half-past five, each having a "good drop in." He got on the sleigh and drove with them a short distance in the direction of the landing at the west end of the street. After he left them, however, they turned the horse about, and he thought proceeded in the direction of Callan's. That was the last he saw of them.

McNevin was a shoemaker by trade and was about fifty years of age. He leaves a wife and an adopted child to mourn. There was no inquest. The body was to be interred today.

16 Versus 12 Yard Roll of Paper.

Our competitors in the WALL PAPER BUSINESS must have struck some new rule in arithmetic. They tell us that a 12 Yard Roll of "English Paper" (which is 21 inches wide) is equal to a 16 Yard Roll of American Paper that is 18 1/2 inches wide. We are not scholars—do not pretend to be—but in order to get the problem solved correctly we will make the following offer:— To the first person sending in the correct answer to the following we will give a copy of WEBSTER'S UNABRIDGED DICTIONARY; to the second we will give enough of good Paper to do a room, and to the third one of our most popular Games.

In sending an answer the work must accompany it. In order to give our country customers a chance, none of the answers will be opened until MONDAY, April 9th.

EXERCISE.—State the difference, both in square feet and inches, between a roll of paper 12 yards long and 21 inches wide and one 16 yards long and 18 1/2 inches wide. Also state the amount of each it would take to paper a room 15x13 feet, 10 feet high (allowing nothing for windows and doors), and the difference in the entire cost, supposing both rolls to cost 60 cents each.
