OTTAWA, June 9 — (Special) — "If the consuming public will average up what they have paid for potatoes over the past 10 years, they will see that this staple food has advanced less than almost any other commodity."

This was stated last today by T. J. Kickham, Liberal member for King's when asked to comment on complaints on the current high price of potatoes, made in the House of Commons this afternoon by Clarence Gillis, C.C.F. member for Cape Breton South.

"I wanted to reply to Mr. Gillis on the floor of the House," Mr. Kickham told The Guardian, "but I knew I would be called to order because the debate was on a Commonwealth conference and not on potatoes. I think Mr. Gillis would change his views if he talked to people in the trade."

Prisoners Yield After Yanks Force Showdown

By Robert Tuckman
KOJE ISLAND, Korea June 10 — (Tuesday) — (AP) — American paratroopers emptied compound 76 of its 6,000 fanatical North Korean prisoners of war today in 2 1/2 hours of bloody fighting.

An unofficial count listed 32 reds killed and 85 wounded.

One American soldier was killed and 13 were wounded in the wildcat fighting yet on this hate-filled island holding some 80,000 Chinese and Korean prisoners.

Eyewitnesses said the American was killed when his own grenade fell short and exploded.

It was understood only U.S. troops took part in the compound fighting. A company of the Royal Canadian Regiment is helping to guard compound 66. They reported Monday that six North Korean flags were displayed briefly but the prisoners promptly obeyed orders to put them away when the Canadians threatened to use tear gas.

Head Poultryman Retires At Experimental Station

Mr. F. A. Driscoll, Parkdale, head poultryman at the Dominion Experimental Farm, Charlottetown, retires today after thirty-two years service with the Dominion Department of Agriculture.

The date has added significance for Mr. Driscoll for it also marks his sixtieth birthday, and it is the anniversary of his enlistment with the Princess Patricia's in World War One.

Part of Mr. Driscoll's service with the Department of Agriculture was served at the Experimental Farm Branch at Kentville, Nova Scotia.

Mr. Driscoll, who rose to the rank of Lieutenant in the Army, was born at Kentville in June 1892. He was educated at Kings County Academy in that town. Mr. Gaffney As CNR Witness

"Not one man in the station service, a sectionman or a bridge and building department employee will be effected by the proposed change over to bus service," said Mr. Frank A. Gaffney, Chief of Transportation Research for the Canadian National Railways, Montreal, when he gave evidence before the Legislative Transportation Committee yesterday.

The hearings of the Committee opened in the Court House yesterday morning on the application of the C. N. R. for licenses to inaugurate bus services here.

Mr. Gaffney also brought out that there would be no stations abandoned in the Province and that there would be a daily freight service maintained. Both of these points he emphasized were contrary to rumors prevalent.

He said that the Railway was not asking for anything as he pointed out that the company was present in response to recommendations by the Provincial Government and private individuals to Turgeon Royal Commission on Transportation. Mr. Gaffney also said that briefs had been filed before the Royal Commission on behalf of the Associated Boards of Trade of the Province.

He added: "I think I should stress to you that our proposal is unique in this respect. We are offering a modern highway service with all the flexibility, comfort and speed made possible by the operation of the best type buses. In addition, we say to you that, during the periods of the year when it is impossible to give a service by highway, we will restore service by rail." He also stated that "despite weather and road conditions" all passenger services will be continuous.

Observes Her 100th Birthday At Lower Newtown

Messages from Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth and His Honour Lieutenant Governor Prowse, and a personal visit from Premier J. Walter Jones, were among the many tokens of felicitation received by Mrs. William Smith, of Lower Newtown, on the occasion of her 100th birthday anniversary last Sunday.

Mrs. Smith, who was formerly Miss Mary Elizabeth MacTavish, now lives at the home of her daughter, Katie (Mrs. D. A. MacTavish) at Lower Newtown, where she herself was born a century ago, son, William, resides in Denver, Col.

She was married in 1887 to Mr. William Smith, and after her husband's death in 1903 went to the United States, where she had previously spent some years, and later resided some time with her son in Western Canada. Since her return from the West in 1925 she has lived with her daughter in Lower town.

Mrs. Smith was the daughter of John MacTavish and his wife Catherine Martin MacTavish, her mother having been born on the big "Polly" when that famous ship was on its way to Belfast with the original Selkirk settlers from the Isle of Skye in 1803. Her mother passed away in her 99th year.

Mrs. Smith's old home on the west side of Newtown River, where she went as a bride, was a second home to many travellers when on their way from Charlottetown in the old horse and buggy days. Her hospitality and kindness were proverbial, and these qualities endeared her to all with whom she came in contact.

Mrs. Smith enjoys excellent health, and her memory is still very keen. When any discussion comes up for settlement with regard to local history or tradition, she is the authority with facts and figures. When she met Premier Jones for the first time on her birthday anniversary, she at once remarked on the Premier's famous (Continued on page 5 col. 5)

To Hold Reception For Returning PEI Veterans On Arrival Here Tonight

Arrangements have been made by the Executive of the Charlottetown Branch, of the Canadian Legion, to hold a reception in their quarters for a number of Island men who are due to arrive home tonight on leave, after doing a tour of duty in Korea, where they landed a year ago last April. The men, who arrived at an American West Coast port early last week, were booked to leave Montreal yesterday, in time to make the Island connection, arriving in the city shortly after 8 p.m. tonight.

Mayor J. D. Stewart, whom it will be recalled made overtures to the Eastern Command last week to have information sent here regarding the arrival of homecoming veterans in order that they might be suitably welcomed, received a telegram from Major General Plov G.O.C. Eastern Command stating that the officer in charge of draft would advise Mayor Stewart of the movement of such men on arrival in Montreal en route to the Island.

Major Arthur Peake, President of the Provincial Canadian Legion Command, received the information from Eastern Command, at Halifax, and in turn passed it along to President C. M. Sinclair of the city branch, who advises that the men will be met at the station on arrival, by a delegation from the Legion, and after the reception will be conveyed to their destinations, in city or country, in cars provided by Mayor J. D. Stewart.

Invitations have been extended to relatives to attend the reception at the Clover Club, where provision has been made for a buffet lunch, provided by the Ladies Auxiliary of the Legion, under the Presidency of Mrs. J. T. Davies.

Among the returning men are: Gunner Harvey C. Dennis, son of Mrs. Bertha Dennis, who resides at 85 Weymouth Street, Gunner Dennis, with four brothers, served in the Second (Continued on page 5 col. 4)

Presbyterian Sessions Continue

TORONTO, June 9 — (CP) — Delegates to the 78th General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Canada today voted down a request for investigation of the General Board of Missions' policy in British Guiana.

The request came in the form of a memorial to last year's assembly from Rev. Thomas R. Maxwell of Toronto. Mr. Maxwell said that he and two other missionaries had resigned from their posts in British Guiana in December, 1950, after the board had made a public pronouncement in British Guiana that the purpose of the Canadian Presbyterian Missions Schools was "not to make Christians or to build up the church, but solely to educate."

The memorial was referred to the board at last year's assembly for study and today the board chairman, Deane Johnston, recommended that the request be rejected.

Rev. J. C. Robson of Huntsville, Ont., asked if it was true the three missionaries had been barred from any future foreign mission field. Mr. Johnston said it was, and Mr. Robson spoke in favour of the suggested investigation, charging that Rev. W. A. Cameron, secretary of the board, had made the public statement objected to, and that it placed the missionaries in an embarrassing position.

Dr. Cameron replied that his statement had actually been that the purpose of government schools in British Guiana was to educate, not to evangelize. He explained that many of the children attending the schools are Moslem, that the government allows 20 minutes each morning for religious instruction and "it would not be honorable to go further and use the schools for evangelism."

Mr. Johnston's motion was supported by the assembly.

The assembly also decided to send a deputation of two to Britain to deal with ministers and students wishing to serve in the Canadian church, and setting up a bureau to contribute towards transportation costs.

Rev. Frank Lawson of Halifax said the church was "gassy-footing" on the subject of war if it adopted the suggestion: "That the church accept a declaration of faith that Christ commissioned the civil authorities with the (Continued on page 15 col. 3)

Trade Board Brief Highlights Advantages Of Bus Service As Outlined In C.N.R. Assurances

Assurances received from C.N.R. officials by the Council of the Charlottetown Board of Trade with respect to the proposed bus services are outlined in a brief sent to the Board with the Legislative Committee on Transportation which opened its inquiry into the matter yesterday.

"The Charlottetown Board of Trade, being a body organized to advance the commercial, industrial and civic interests of the City of Charlottetown in particular, and of the Province of Prince Edward Island generally, is like the majority of the citizens of this Province, keenly interested in the various transportation services operating in this Province, and thus finds particular interest in the present proposals of the Canadian National Railway Company for substitution of bus services here in lieu of present mixed train passenger services."

"Accordingly the Council of the Charlottetown Board of Trade received a delegation of C.N.R. officials at its Council meeting of April 29th last and was presented with the various proposals of the Company re the bus services. Following such presentation our members queried the Railway officials in detail on various aspects of the proposed bus operations and received replies from those Railway officials enlarging on these proposals."

"The minutes of that meeting, adopted unanimously by the Council (Continued on page 9 col. 5)

Queen Expresses Thanks For Greetings

By The Canadian Press

The Queen has expressed her thanks for greetings sent by Canadians celebrating her official birthday.

As banks, schools, stock exchanges and government offices closed Monday for the holiday and guns boomed in salute in provincial capitals across Canada, the Governor-General, Vincent Massey, released the text of this message from Her Majesty:

"Canada my sincere thanks for the kind and loyal message which you have sent to me on their behalf on the celebration of my birthday."

The Queen was 26 April 21 but the public celebration of her birthday in Canada was delayed to provide an early-summer holiday week-end.

A Canadian Press survey showed that for most Canadians, even parliamentarians, it was business as usual. Few stores and industries closed.

The traditional 21-gun salute was heard in provincial capitals and other large cities but in some places there was little more celebration.

Haligonians saw the most colorful display as the navy paraded the Queen's colors and fired the salute from historic Citadel Hill. The navy, although formed in 1910, had never before paraded any colors but those of a king.

Salutes of 21 guns will crash out again Tuesday in honor of the birthday of the Duke of Edinburgh, who will be 31.

Lift Blockade Of Radio Berlin

BERLIN, June 10 — (Tuesday) — (AP) — Britain today lifted the seven-day armed blockade of Russia's Radio Berlin headquarters.

Western commandants of Berlin approved the action at a meeting yesterday. The decision, which came on the heels of some minor Russian gestures of conciliation, disappointed anti-soviet Germans who had hoped the Russians would be expelled from the station in the British sector of Berlin.

But the Western commandants took the view that the blockade was a weapon that might boomerang if continued much longer. They agreed the blockade was a limited operation which had achieved most of its aims in easing Soviet pressure on the Berlin border, and could be used again if the situation grew worse.

Major-Gen. C.F.C. Coleman, British commandant, ordered the Royal Scots infantrymen and military police to remove the barbed wire which sealed off the "50-room Soviet island" in West Berlin since last Tuesday.

Whether the bomb will be dropped from a plane or set off at the top of a steel tower has not been disclosed.

Toronto Doctors Describe Heart-Lung Machine

By ALTON L. BLAKEBEE
CHICAGO, June 9 — (AP) — A monkey's lung has done the breathing for eight bus babies connected to an artificial heart, three Toronto scientists reported today.

For as long as four hours, the monkey lung put oxygen into the infants' blood.

The heart machine detoured the blood from each baby's body just before the blood reached the heart. Then it pumped the blood through the little monkey lung, resting in a glass chamber.

Oxygen was blown into the chamber, and the monkey lung purified the baby's blood. The refreshed blood then was pumped back into an artery in the baby's leg. All eight babies, doomed by heart defects, died. But one lived for 15 days after successfully using the heart pump and monkey lung for 10 minutes.

These new experiments augur ultimate success for heart-lung machines that will save many lives. The human heart and lungs can be kept free of blood for new operations inside the living organs. The heart work is described in
