—FAREWELL PARTY FOR WAR BRIDE. — A very enjoyable evening was spent at the home of Mrs. E. Brennan and Mrs. Elizabeth Brennan, Kensington, when neighbors and friends of Darnley, Spring Valley and Kensington, met to say farewell to one of their English war brides, Mrs. R. J. Hickey and her little daughter, Maureen. When a goodly crowd had assembled, Mr. Charles McLellan called the folks to order, and after explaining the purpose of the gathering, in his usual jovial style, called on Mrs. J. Pendergast to read a neatly worded address and Mrs. Clarence Hickey presented Rose with a beautiful gold locket and chain, and Maureen with a plastic toilet set (brush comb and mirror). Rose fittingly replied with a few remarks, saying how hard it was to say farewell, as she would always remember the kind friends and relatives in Canada, but her mother needed her in England. "and who knows, some day we may meet again. A beautiful lunch was served by the hostesses, assisted by Spring Valley and Darnley women. The remainder of the evening was spent in dancing the "light fantastic" until the "wee sma' hours," when all departed, wishing Rose and Maureen bon voyage to England. They sailed on September 26th, on the ocean liner "Scythia", in company with Mr. and Mrs. Leo McIsaac of Charlottetown.—Bur.

—NUPTIAL SHOWER — The dining-room of the Larkins' Restaurant, Kensington was the scene of a largely attended pre-nuptial shower, on Thursday evening, October 26, when the Misses Jean and Joan Larkins entertained in honor of their friend, Miss Gloria Inglis. Blue and white streamers radiated from a large wedding bell, which showered confetti on the bride-elect, who was attended by Miss Jean Larkins, and bouquets of Autumn flowers had been placed to good advantage about the room. A daintily trimmed basket, many times replenished with parcels, was carried in by the Misses Ina Larkins and Mildred Inglis, and the ribbons were cut by Miss Shirley McCarville and Mrs. Jean Bridges. The names of the donors and the good wishes were read by the Misses Geraldine MacLean and Erna Gill, and the gifts were arranged by Mrs. Leonard Kelly. Gloria gracefully thanked her friends for their good wishes and the lovely gifts, which included three sets of dishes, three all-wool blankets, table linens, bed linens, an electric table lamp, glassware, silverware, kitchenware, a chenille breadpan and money. A bountiful lunch was served by Miss Jean Larkins and other girl friends of the guest of honor and the remainder of the evening was spent pleasantly in social intercourse.—Bur.

heard him. "No," said he. "He has some cousins who are bigger, much bigger. Balaen, his biggest cousin, is almost twice as big."
"Not really?" cried a couple of the young Geese together. Honker looked at them severely. "Do you doubt what I say?" he demanded. There was a scrt of hiss in his voice.
"No!" cried the two hastily. "But it is so hard to believe, one added. "Is his cousin Balaen the biggest person in the world?" asked one. Honker nodded his head several times as he replied, "Balaen is not only the biggest person alive in all the Great World, but the biggest who ever has lived, and I am told that long, long ago when the world was young there were some very big folks, very big indeed, but none as big as Balaen, the cousin of Flinback over there."
By Balaen Honker meant the Blue Whale, sometimes called the Sulphur-bottom Whale, and what he told his young followers is true. The Blue Whale is the biggest animal the world has ever known. "It is hard to believe," repeated the young Goose who had said this before.
