FORGING IN HORSES.

An Annoying Fault that Can be Controlled by Right Methods.

Forging is an annoying fault, especially on country roads. David Roberge explains in his new book how to control this defective action. He recommends checking and shoeing: "The effect of checking is first that the vertebral column or backbone becomes more or less bent downward, according to the height of the checking, and further, the bending downward of the backbone gives a greater obliquity to the shoulders, causing the forefeet to point forward standing or in motion, and this causes an obliquity in the corresponding angle of the hind extremities. There is, therefore, under such circumstances, a greater distance between the hind and the forefeet, and consequently there will be the less chances of forging. Checking also causes the forefeet to be carried higher than before, while the hind feet will be carried less high; this also diminishes the chances of forging." If the feet cannot be separated to the extent desired by checking, then resort to shoeing: "This is done by raising the toes of the forefeet; it will cause them to point forward, whether standing or traveling. Next raise the heels of the hind feet, which will produce the opposite effect, namely, pointing backward. This will cause the feet to be kept farther apart while traveling.

"With many horses this last method will answer, when again, with some long and crooked hind legs and sprawling horses, the gait will have to be shortened, and this can only be accomplished by adding a toe piece to the hind shoes, sometimes set full at the toe with no heel, and by applying high quarter rolling-motion shoes to the forefeet. This rolling-motion shoe on the forefeet will cause them to rock over quicker than would a flat shoe, and thus enable them to be kept out of the way of the hind feet, and so prevent striking. The toe calks on the hind shoe will shorten the stride of the hind feet, and this circumstance will tend to shorten the stride of the forward feet also." In extreme cases both checking and shoeing are required to prevent forging. Mr. Roberge, it will be observed, states the principle and allows plenty of latitude for play of judgment on the part of the owner. How to apply the remedy each reader must discover for himself. In other words, the owner of the horse must experiment until he finds the right check hole and the proper elevation for toes and heels.

Condition Powders for Poultry.

The use of pulverized cayenne pepper or capsicum, so often advised and resorted to, is discouraged by the Fanciers' Gazette, on account of its strong, penetrating and almost poisonous nature. While it may prove efficacious for the moment, after its influence has been dispelled, it leaves the system more enfeebled than at the outset, says the Gazette, and in its stead recommends the following compound:

Carbonate of iron	1 ounce.
Anise seed	2 "
Powdered ginger	6 "
Mustard	1 "
Sulphur	2 "
Licorice	4 "
Powdered charcoal	14 "

These powdered and mixed thoroughly make two pounds of good condition powders, and if kept in a tight box will be serviceable for a long time. A teaspoonful in ten quarts of soft feed, or in that proportion, fed every day in warm weather, or every other day in stormy and cold weather, will prove of service. For growing chicks, one-half of the amount of powders, in the same quantity of feed, is sufficient. A teaspoonful of the tincture of iron to each gallon of drinking water should be provided in all bad seasons.

The Time to Spray.

Orchards should never be sprayed while in bloom. And indeed the same rule should hold in treating any plants. If the flowers receive the poison, the bees which are lured by the nectar which the bloom secretes will be poisoned. I know of several cases where great loss has resulted from disregard of this rule. Aside from the bees it is unwise to spray earlier, as the codling moth larva does not commence to eat till some days after the petals fall, and so an earlier application is not only unnecessary but very unwise, as a heavy rain might wash it off before the insects commence to eat into the apple, and so it would do no good at all.

There are some bud moths whose larvæ or caterpillars eat the opening leaf and flower buds. In case these are very destructive, which is rarely the case, we may well spray the trees just as the buds commence to open, and then again after the blossoms are all fallen from the trees, BUT NEVER WHILE THE TREES ARE STILL IN BLOOM. Unless very heavy rains occur, it will not pay to spray a second time. No wise orchardist will neglect to do this work. Its practice means fine, perfect apples, its neglect gnarled and wormy fruit; so that such spraying insures a tremendous profit.

Potato Planting.

In explanation of the reason why unripe potatoes are better to plant for early crops, a writer in Gardener's Magazine says: "The potato tuber is a perfect organized system in which the circulation regularly proceeds, and if suffered to ripen will then tend to decay; but if separated before ripe from the stem or stalk which furnishes it with blood or fruit descending from the leaves the circulation of the blood sap is suddenly arrested. The ripe potato, having performed all its operations, becomes more inert, but the circulation of the sap in the unripe tuber having been stopped it starts more readily and with greater vigor when planted; the one appears to die, worn out with age, the other seems accidentally to have fallen asleep and when awakened, posses an unspent vigor and energy."

The Value of Clover.

Few farmers, notwithstanding all that has been said and is known of clover, fully appreciate the value of this inestimable plant. It is the best green food, the most valuable natural fertilizer of the soil and the cheapest of all crops that can be grown. It holds a place in agriculture that no other plant will probably ever fill so as to displace it.

USE POND'S EXTRACT

FOR PILES BURNS SORE EYES WOUNDS SORES Headache AND ALL PAIN

Have the early frosts or too late a lingering by the garden gate again aroused that RHEUMATISM so peacefully slumbering the summer long? Well, if it's very bad you must change your diet and perhaps take some distasteful drug—the doctor will tell you what—but first rub thoroughly the part afflicted with POND'S EXTRACT, then wrap it warmly with flannel, and the rheumatism may wholly disappear. It will certainly be much relieved. Now that you have the POND'S EXTRACT try it for any of the many things its buff wrapper mentions. It's a wonderful curative. But don't accept substitutes.

What is CASTORIA

Castoria is Dr. Samuel Pitcher's prescription for Infants and Children. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other Narcotic substance. It is a harmless substitute for Paregoric, Drops, Soothing Syrups, and Castor Oil. It is Pleasant. Its guarantee is thirty years' use by Millions of Mothers. Castoria destroys Worms and allays feverishness. Castoria prevents vomiting Sour Curd, cures Diarrhœa and Wind Colic. Castoria relieves teething troubles, cures constipation and flatulency. Castoria assimilates the food, regulates the stomach and bowels, giving healthy and natural sleep. Castoria is the Children's Panacea—the Mother's Friend.

Castoria.

"Castoria is an excellent medicine for children. Mothers have repeatedly told me of its good effect upon their children."
Dr. G. C. Osgood, Lowell, Mass.

"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quack nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing opium, morphine, soothing syrup and other hurtful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves."
Dr. J. F. Kincheloe, Conway, Ark.

Castoria.

"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me."
H. A. Archer, M. D., 111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Our physicians in the children's department have spoken highly of their experience in their outside practice with Castoria, and although we only have among our medical supplies what is known as regular products, yet we are free to confess that the merits of Castoria has won us to look with favor upon it."
United Hospital and Dispensary, Boston, Mass.

ST. PAUL'S CATHEDRAL.

St. Paul's Cathedral has long been the centre of church life for the enormous population which surrounds it. The subject is too far away to be dealt with here, but it is interesting to note how even two such hostile organs of the press as the Echo and the Methodist Times have come to speak of its work. "There can be no doubt of one thing," says the Echo "and that is, that the authorities of the cathedral have succeeded in making it the great metropolitan parish church into which London pours its living tide, and not a huge, empty shell, furtively visited by the stranger and the sightseer." And the Methodist Times, in the same stran, writes:

"Those purblind individuals who imagine that Christianity is losing its hold upon this country should have have been in St. Paul's Church last Tuesday night, when the annual rendering of Bach's Passion music took place. The vast Cathedral was crowded in every part. It is absurd to say that the attraction was purely musical, because Bach's music does not appeal to the man of the world, or the listener whose sole desire is to gratify the nerve of hearing. Bach's music is intensely spiritual and devotional. Moreover, anyone who watched those crowding thousands would notice how devout they were, how reverently they kneeled at the appropriate times, and how heartily many of them joined in the chorales which were intended to be sung by the congregation. When we remember what St. Paul's was fifty years ago, and what it has become now, we have an impressive illustration of the ever-advancing power of the Christian religion in this country."

THE BUCHANAN CASE

Equal to a Resurrection—Almos Helpless from Kidney Disease—a Burden to Himselfaad his Friends Dodd's Kidney Pill Cured him

CHATHAM, April 30—The story of Sherman Buchanan, living near Leamington, is worthy of notice. He says he was almost helpless, bloated and a wreck powerless and he was rapidly becoming a burden to himself and his friends. Naturally he lost all hopes of recovery, but a happy thought suggested Dodd's Kidney Pills, and these cured him. Dodd's was the first kidney remedy in pills form ever offered the public. Its wonderful success in curing all forms of kidney disease has left to the introduction of numerous cheap and worthless imitations. Purchasers, for their own safety, should insist on getting Dodd's Kidney Pills. Sold in large boxes; price, fifty cents or six boxes for $2.50. To be had of all dealers.

Some surprising effects have been recorded from the use of Miller's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil in the most desperate cases of consumption. Miller's Emulsion is "the kind that cures" colds, coughs, bronchitis and lung diseases generally. Every bottle warranted. No oily taste like others. In big bottles, 50c. and $1.00, at druggists.

Despair makes a despicable figure, and is descended from a mean original. It is the off-spring of fear, laziness and impatience. It argues a defect of spirit and resolution, and often of honesty, too.—Jeremy Collier.

A Perfect Cure for Cold in the Head.

"It cured me of a severe cold in the head," is what Mr. A. D. McDonald of Framboise, C. B., says of Hawker's Cattarh Cure. Sold everewhere, only 25 cents.

It appears that Mr. Osborne, Secretary of State out in Kansas, is not the only individual in America who expects or dreads a revolution next general elections. Ex-President Harrison has given the information that he will be a candidate in 1896, should some great emergency arise "like that which induces the patriot to take up arms for his country."

Priestley's Cravenettes may be had in all the newest fabrics. Absolutely rain-repelling they are not to be distinguished from the same goods not waterproofed. This is their great merit. Cravenette includes serges and all dress fabrics. They are perfectly porous, non-odorous, and they never change in appearance. These are merits which no other waterproofing process has been able to demonstrate. They are rolled on "The Varnished Board" like all Priestley's dress goods.
