Strange But True

By F. H. MacArthur

One of the most intelligent acts I ever saw a dog perform occurred many times on the farm once owned by Goldie Smith, of Cornwall. I was watching Mr. and Mrs. Smith milking their cows, while nearby their dog lay dreaming about fresh milk for supper.

Smith finished milking his cow first so he called the dog and gave him a little of the fluid in a can. Prince drank it up, seized the empty tin in his teeth and trotted over and laid it down at Mrs. Smith's feet.

From that day on Prince got two helpings instead of one. You may call that instinct but I called it reasoning of a high order.

The Burmans used maggots to clean up gangrened wounds for centuries before the method was rediscovered in modern surgery. When their elephants suffered from tiger wounds the natives plugged the wounds with sugar, a treatment definitely superior to any in use in other parts of the world.

Baby elephants find perfect protection between the forelegs of their mothers. Here, too, the breasts of the female are located so that the calf suckles the mother from the teats between her forelegs!

One in every 20 persons bitten by the black widow spider dies from the effects of the poison.

While picking potatoes on his father's farm, Norris McCabe of Alexandria, Prince Edward Island, found a tuber growing inside a rubber band. The tuber was stretched to almost the breaking point.

It is interesting to note that one person in ten now enjoys some kind of social security throughout the world. It breaks down like this: 150 million receive old age, invalidity or survivor's insurance; 125 million are protected against loss of income resulting from illness; 90 million get or are entitled to get unemployment compensation and 20 million persons receive free medical care. Pretty soon it will be protection from the cradle to the grave and what then?

Women of the jungle will suckle baby fawns and indeed any young creature that inspires them with pity. Thus they have been known to adopt and bring up young tigers, bears, etc. There is a wonderful gentleness in these jungle people.

Believe it or not, but garroting and strangulation is the Spanish method of execution for capital offenses by civilians. Our method of execution (hanging) is a little more humane, yet far removed from the lethal gas chamber used in some states.

Every year when the sun reappears at Point Barrow, to end the long winter of the Northland, Eskimos of the district hold a "trouble burning."

After they've gone through their blizzards, brandishing knives and shouting to drive away evil spirits, they light bon fires and gather about them.

When the flames are at their best, they shoo the spirits right into the inferno. As a final gesture, they brush their clothes to shake off any demons hiding there, and all their troubles during the next year are supposed to perish in the fire. Wouldn't it be great if we could have such a Community brush-off?

It seems the longer Lucy Montgomery is dead, the more she lives in the hearts of those that have read her books.

Every year there are more tourists visiting the place of her birth, and these sight-seers tell their friends who in turn vacation in the Garden of the Gulf thus helping to spread the fame of the authoress and the place of her birth.

Once a neighbor saw young Lucy reading a book, while resting in the field where she worked stooking grain. The neighbor said to his family that night, "That girl will make footprints on the sands of time," she keeps busy all the time.

The man who made that prophecy is dead, so is the authoress of the Ann books but her good work lives on. She never wasted a minute!

Did you know that some fish lie down to sleep? Well, they do. As darkness falls these brilliant coral dwellers select their beds and stretch out on the sand for a snooze. Biggerfish of this species select the best beds, driving off all weaker rivals before they retire for the night. Having eyes wide open, all fish sleep with eyes wide open. And strange but true, the sea has its sea-hare, a strange shell-less creature with Jack-rabbit ears and a tight little mouth which squirts purple ink when it gets frightened.

The serpent star fish has a unique way of fooling its enemies when attacked: it can detach an arm or leg if seized; the part comes off pronto. Then the creature grows a replacement!

The Island of Bimini has no motor vehicles. Only pedestrians, bicycles, hand carts, and wheelbarrows are permitted to operate on its highways.

The Sparg lobster, with protruding eyes, is able to look in several directions at once.

The cowfish and the cow have one thing in common, namely, a horned brow and large eyes. Cowfish are bottom feeders. The body is encased in plated bones—modified scales—only eyes, jaws, and fins have motion. Cowfish pasture in the underwater jungle around Bimini Island in the Bahamas.

FAMILY TRADITION

NEW GLASGOW, N. S. (CP)—Chesley D. Fraser was installed as president of the Rotary Club by his father, W. F. Fraser, a former president. He succeeds Newman MacDonald, whose father, the late D. W. MacDonald, was one of the club's early presidents.

Squandermania has infested every Government Department in Ottawa! Look at your tax bill... look at today's prices (which hidden taxes help to boost)... take a good look at the soaring cost of Government!

YOU pay the bills for this titanic spending spree—millions of dollars spent for administrative expenses, more millions every year, more taxes, more Government spending, more millions down the drain!

No wonder a Government Minister can say: "What's a million? A million dollars is not a very important matter!"

No wonder Government Ministers are saying now: "We can't cut your taxes!"

TRAVEL EXPENSES

The older this Government gets, the more it spends to "get around"—look what's happened to travel expenses:

Table with 2 columns: Year, Expense. 1938-39 - $ 4,725,000; 1949-50 - $23,052,346; 1953-54 - $53,558,588*

*—or just about $6,113 spent every hour of the day for travel expenses!

TELEPHONE, TELEGRAPH & POSTAGE

These items are steadily on the increase!

Table with 2 columns: Year, Expense. 1938-39 - $ 960,248; 1949-50 - $ 8,970,000; 1953-54 - $16,902,160*

*—$1,929 every hour of every day!

PROPERTY DEALS

The Government squandered $4,000,000 on 500 huts at a military camp. One year later, these were dismantled—they had never been used! The Government rented office space for $128,500—and never occupied the space! For one building designed to cover 21 acres, including surrounding grounds, the Government bought 281 1/2 acres of pasture-land at $824 an acre!

ADVERTISING & PUBLICITY

The cost of publicizing your Government and its services, increases by the millions every year. Here's what it costs you:

Table with 2 columns: Year, Expense. 1938-39 - $ 624,420; 1949-50 - $ 6,828,957; 1953-54 - $10,003,978*

*—$1,142 every hour of the day for publicity!

WASTE IN DEFENCE

Waste, inefficiency and extravagance in the Defence Department has been documented by the Currie Report, the McNab Report and the Auditor-General's Report... and this toll of waste and extravagance is one good reason why it costs Canada $1.1 BILLIONS MORE to put 100,000 men under arms ($22,035 per man) than it costs the United States ($10,756 per man) for a comparable number!

"WASTE" CURRIE REPORT

These quotations are from Col. G. S. Currie's Report on the shocking conditions in the Defence Department: "A general breakdown in the system of administration, supervision and accounting... Accounting records in a chaotic condition and of little use in determining the nature and extent of irregularities... Waste and inefficiency far more costly in loss than that covered by actual dishonesty."

"CHAOS" AUDITOR-GENERAL'S REPORT

The Auditor-General is responsible only to Parliament. His annual report is an impartial survey of Government financial operations. His Report presented this year stated: "There are chaotic accounting methods in the whole Department of National Defence... No civilian authority answerable to Parliament exercises direct control after procurement (of stock-piled defence materials)..." In addition, the Auditor-General reported ten specific irregularities created by slipshod administration in the Defence Department.

"EXTRAVAGANCE" McNAB REPORT

The McNab Report was made to the Defence Department four years before the Currie Report. His findings of waste, extravagance and inefficiency in administration were ignored. When the Progressive Conservative Party asked that the Report be made public, the Government DENIED THE REPORT HAD EVER BEEN MADE. But when Mr. McNab stated that he had made a report, the Government "discovered" it but STILL REFUSED TO MAKE IT PUBLIC!

A Government that can't stop waste can't cut taxes! WE CAN... WE WILL!
