Resolutions Adopted The following resolutions were adopted by the convention:

Whereas, rural electrification in this thickly settled Province has been carried out only to a very meagre extent and at a very high cost, possibly the highest in North America, while our much more sparsely settled neighboring Provinces have been electrified almost entirely and at reasonable rates;

Whereas, lack of electrification has proven a detriment to our efficient and profitable farm production and has made farm life less attractive than it should be with the result that too many young people are leaving our farms;

Whereas, the high cost of electricity is a detriment to industrial expansion in this Province; be it therefore resolved that the C.C.F. in Prince Edward Island reaffirm its policy of bringing all means of production and distribution of electricity in the Province under public ownership as the only means whereby the Province may be adequately served at reasonable costs.

Resolved that in the face of faulty election procedures, that we reiterate our stand on clean politics and we heartily endorse held this evening at The Charlottetown, when the usual good time will be had by all exhibitors and their guests. Dairy Council To Meet Dec. 4 and 5

OTTAWA, Nov. 20 (CP)—The National Dairy Council announced today that its board of directors will meet here next Dec. 4-5 to consider, among other things, now to reduce the cost of milk deliveries and how to boost production. Spokesmen for dairy men in all provinces will attend.

Dr. Pierre Gauthier (L-Portneuf) said Dr. Chisholm and other speakers had advocated birth control. They had advocated materialism at a time when Canadians were fighting Communism.

Mr. Dunton said the CBC felt that all main viewpoints should be heard if there was to be freedom on the air. Reactions to the broadcasts of Mr. Russell and Dr. Chisholm indicated that many people wanted to hear them. The CBC as a whole accepted responsibility for the broadcasts.

Leon Balcer (PC-Trois Rivières) asked if Communists in Canada also wouldn't like to hear their propaganda over the CBC. Mr. Dunton said he did not think there would be as many as wanted to hear about modern psychology.

The Communist viewpoint, said Mr. Dunton, was seldom outlined over the CBC. Some Communists, identified as such, did appear on citizens forums occasionally. They argued with non-Communists on the Communist viewpoint.

Island Seafoods Boosted In Montreal Restaurant

An exceptionally fine boost for Prince Edward Island seafoods—particularly the widely-known Malpeque oyster—is contained on an artistic place mat in current use in a large Montreal restaurant. One of these place mats has been passed along to Hon. Eugene Cullen, Provincial Minister of Industry and Natural Resources, who was pleased to see such good publicity being given to Island products.

"Malpeque Oysters from Prince Edward Island" was one of the captions in large letters on the mat and under it is the following poem headed "Unbearable Thought"—"An Oyster, sir, is one of the elements of social existence."

"Our social existence would suffer a blow if oysters were suddenly labelled 'de trop'; Censored and libeled and outcast and spurned, Banished from menus and never returned. Think what a terrible state we'd go through If no one could order a fine oyster stew. Or a dozen served raw on one half of their shells; Imagine no Oysters—imagine ten hells; God grant that our social existence does not On its grand old escutcheon receive such a blot."

The "Desjardins place mat displays a tasty looking plate of oysters on the half shell and states they "Are not only the greatest delicacy of the sea, they are rich in elements of importance to the human system."

Lobsters are also played up on the Desjardins place mat at the restaurant's palatial new quarters on MacKay Street. It is pointed out that Canadian lobsters from Atlantic waters "have more iodine content than any other source."

There is also a poem to the lobster entitled "Lines To A Lobster" which reads as follows: "The Lobster, you'll admit, is not A thing of beauty in the pot. You cannot call this weird crustacean, A charming, glamorous creation. Its movements lack all signs of grace. It doesn't even have a face. It looks as if it had been hurled Into the sea, from another world. But still the Lobster reigns supreme In every gourmet's sea-food dream, For epicures join in believing "Appearances are so deceiving."

Famous tournament courses shown in the picture include Niagara Falls, Canada; St. Paul Lake Placid, Hershey, Pa.; Phoenix, Arizona; Pasadena, Los Angeles and Oakland. Even Bing Crosby plays himself in a brief scene showing the pros at his annual invitational tournament at Pebble Beach, California, and Grantland Rice, dean of American sports writers, plays himself in a banquet scene (not an unfamiliar one for newspapermen) in which Hogan is honored as the golfer of the year.

—For duffers and pros alike. "Follow The Sun," the motion picture based on the life of Ben Hogan, will be a bonanza of golf lore, according to Samuel G. Engel, who produced the picture for Twentieth Century-Fox.

While Glenn Ford plays the Hog, Jimmy Haney plays the pivotal role in the picture's golf scenes are played by professional golfers.

Sammy Snead appears as himself in the episodes which cover the Los Angeles Open tournament in which Hogan tied to force a playoff, which Snead took—the golf match that captured the interest of millions of persons because of Hogan's valiant battle against near-impossible odds. The historic match was re-played for the picture at the Riviera Country Club where it was originally held. Other golf immortals who appear in the picture include Jimmy Demaret, Dr. Cary Middlecof, Lloyd Man-gum, Ralph Gudahl, Al Dumaret, Morti Dutra and Jimmy Thompson.
